It is an undoubted fact that in teaching, not only languages, but any other science or art, there neither is, nor can be, any other method than that of uniting theory with practice; and the various modes of applying the one to the other, the extent of the application, and the time at which it should be commenced, have produced the great number of methods hitherto published.

This fact is now universally acknowledged, and each new author proclaims himself to be the only one who has put it into execution. The most insignificant little phrase-book does not fail to announce, in its introduction, that it combines theory and practice; and grammars containing nothing more than confused masses of rules, heaped one upon another, are entitled "Theoretical and Practical." It is admitted on all hands that much progress has been made within the last few years in the art of teaching languages; and, in testimony of this, we have only to mention the excellent oral and practical methods of Jacotot, Manesca, Ollendorff, Boulet, Robertson, and others who have followed in their footsteps, all of which are ably treated, and have done much good in their way. But each one of the grammarians referred to, satisfied with his own invention, looked with disdain upon that of his predecessor. Hence the enmity and the almost unaccountable diversity of opinion which we observe amongst them. Had they studied each other with impartiality, and endeavored to profit by the experience and even the defects of the several systems, their labors would certainly have been attended with still more favorable results, and of course more considerable benefit would have accrued thereby to the art in general. Numberless points of excellence are to be found, scattered here and there, throughout the various ancient and modern systems, and chiefly those already alluded to; and it has been thought that, if carefully sifted out and judiciously combined, they would form a new method which would be in details essentially superior to any of the old ones.

This conviction, joined to twenty years' experience in teaching the Spanish language, sometimes through the medium of one, sometimes of another of the before-mentioned systems, has led the author to prepare and publish the COMBINED METHOD, which he now offers to those desiring to learn the noble language of Cervantes.

Whether he has successfully attained his object, the public will decide.

OBSERVATIONS

ON

SOME OF THE ADVANTAGEOUS FEATURES OF THE "DE TORNOS'S COMBINED METHOD."

---

1st. THE advantage of presenting the verb as the first and principal part of speech, which serves as the axis upon which all the other parts revolve. These, too, have been introduced in their turn, not in grammatical order, nor by mere chance, but in the logical and natural order in which they occur in discourse, whether written or spoken.

2d. That of explaining these parts of speech in the order just mentioned, not in an isolated manner, but united to form a homogeneous whole, and in such a way that the learner will have no difficulty in finding the explanation relative to the use of each one of them respectively, as often as occasion may require.

3d. These explanations, which embrace the whole theory, and form a complete grammar of the language, are separate from and independent of the exercises; the latter being composed in strict accordance with the examples accompanying each lesson, in such a manner that those unacquainted with grammar in general, and those who have no desire to enter into the theory of the language, or, finally, those who are too young or too old to learn grammar, may acquire a thorough conversational knowledge of Spanish, by merely committing to memory the Vocabulary, studying the Compositions, and carefully writing the Exercises.

4th. From the arrangement alluded to, arises another great advantage, namely, all the elements are found in the vocabulary of each lesson, separated and detached from the examples and rules given in the explanation; thus enabling the student to see at one glance all that he has to commit to memory for each recitation.

5th. And this division of the lessons into Elements, Composition, Explanation, Version, and Exercise, enables the teacher to divide each lesson into two, three, or even four parts, according to the age and capacity of the learner.

6th. Repetition, and constant repetition, is indispensable for acquiring any language; but by repetition should not be understood the simple reiteration of single words and easy phrases; but repetition of the idioms, and of those forms of expression differing most widely from the idiomatical construction of the learner's native tongue. It is true, that though this is the proper plan for acquiring a thorough knowledge of a language, that feature might tend to make the present work appear, at first sight, more difficult than the books hitherto used; but such will not be found the case; for when there is frequent change of matter there cannot be monotony; and variety renders study at the same time easy and agreeable. This repetition, then, of useful forms of expression, and contrast of idiom, will be found in every page of our "COMBINED METHOD," in which it has been our endeavor to introduce gradually and with the necessary explanations of each, the most important idioms of the Spanish language.

7th. Although we are of opinion that to learn a language, and, above all, to learn to pronounce it, it is always preferable to have the assistance of a skilful teacher, and one who speaks his native tongue with purity and correctness; yet, as it is not always possible to procure such, we have placed at the end a Vocabulary, containing all the words used in the course of the work, and the pronunciation of each, so that nothing may be wanting to second the efforts of those who, from choice or necessity, may be their own instructors.

8th. The Vocabulary, besides giving the pronunciation and meaning of the words, indicates the lesson in which the explanation of each has been given in the Grammar. By this means the learner can with ease refer to the explanation of all those words of which it has been deemed essential to give one.

PRELIMINARY LESSON

ON

ORTHOGRAPHY AND PRONUNCIATION.

THE ALPHABET.

THE SPANISH ALPHABET contains twenty-seven letters, exclusive of K and W, which are used in foreign words only, and are pronounced as in English. The W appears in a very few historical names, like Wamba, Witiza. The letters are all of the feminine gender, and their names and pronunciation are as follows :

A,	a,	ah.	N,	n,	aynay.
B,	b,	bay.	Ñ,	ñ,	ain-yay.
C,	c,	ay thay.	O,	o,	o.
CH,	ch,	chay.	P,	p,	pay.
D,	d,	day.	Q,	q,	koo.
E,	e,	ay.	R,	r,	air-ray.
F,	f,	ay-fay.	S,	s,	aysay.
G,	g,	hay.	T,	t,	tay.
H,	h,	at-chay.	U,	u,	oo.
I,	i,	e.	V,	v,	vay.
J,	j,	hotah.	X,	x,	aykiss.
L,	l,	a-lay.	Y,	y,	e-gree-ay'-gah.
LL,	ll,	ail-yay.	Z,	z,	th thay-tah.
M,	m,	āymay.

All the letters are invariable in sound, except c and g, which have each two sounds, as will be seen in the proper place; and every letter is pronounced in all positions, except the h, which is always silent, and the u, which is not sounded in the syllables gue, gui, and que, qui.

So that, with a few exceptions, the Spanish language is pronounced exactly as it is written, and does not present those difficulties met with in the orthography and pronunciation of most other languages. The system of representing, in each lesson, the pronunciation of each word by an incorrect orthography only augments the doubts and labor of the learner, besides increasing unnecessarily the size of the work; one lesson of an hour's duration with a native Spanish teacher will do more toward the acquisition of a pure Castilian pronunciation, than all the works that could be written on the subject.

As the English vowels differ in sound from those of all other languages, great care ought to be taken to learn the true sound of the Spanish vowels; they are:

a,	e,	i,	o,	u.
ah,	ay,	e,	o,	oo.

Y is sometimes a vowel. (See the letter Y.)

A has an invariable sound, as heard in the words art, father; as, arte, padre (not varying as in the English words fare, fat, far, fall, swallow, many, courage, mustard).

E has the sound of ā in made; as, hecho.

I sounds like the first e in even; as, inglés. (See letter Y.)

O is pronounced like the English o in the word ode; as, amo.

U sounds as the English u in bull; as, bula: it is silent in the syllables gue, gui, guerra, except it has a diæresis marked over it, agüero. In the syllables que, qui, it is always silent.

SOUNDS OF THE CONSONANTS.

B has the same sound as in English; but in Castile and Aragon (where in other respects the Castilian language is most purely spoken and pronounced), they do not press the lips quite so close as the English do, which causes it very frequently to be confounded with the v, although they are distinct letters, and should be pronounced as in English.

C, when followed by a, o, u, or any consonant, sounds like k; before e and i, it sounds like th in thanks; as, gracias, leccion, caballero. (See letter Z.)

CH is not a double consonant, but a letter which, although of a double form, has by itself a particular denomination and sound; it is pronounced like ch in chess; as, chico, chocolate. Formerly, in words of Hebrew and Greek origin, it had the sound of k, when the vowel following it was marked with the circumflex accent; as, archángel, chímica: but this practice is obsolete, and such words are now written arcángel, química.

D is pronounced like the English d, except when found between two vowels or at the end of words, when it sounds softer than the English d, like th in the article the, but not like th lisped, as in thin, as Madrid (like the), not Madriz (like thin); Usted (like the), not Ustéz (like thin). This lisped pronunciation on the d is considered vulgar.

F is always pronounced like the English f, and is now used instead of ph; as, Filosofía, Filadelfia, instead of Philosophía, Philadelphia.

G has two distinct sounds: one, before a, o, u, or a consonant, is the same sound as in English go, good; as, gato, gracias: before e and i it has another strong, guttural, aspirated sound, for which the English has no equivalent, and which even a very strongly aspirated h, as in the words hot, holy, does not represent; as, gente, people; gesto, gesture; gigante, giant.

H is never pronounced in the Spanish language; as, hace, higo, pronounced as if no such h were there. It is, properly speaking, only a sign used to mark the etymology of words, and is now omitted in many words in which it was formerly used; as, Cristo, Filosofía, Teatro, Pitágoras, Filadelfia.

This letter is always written before the words that begin by ue and ie, and here it has a very soft, almost imperceptible, aspiration; as, huevo, egg; hueso, bone; huésped, guest; hierro, iron; hielo, ice: but great care must be taken not to pronounce it too strong, as the lower classes of certain provinces do, pronouncing juevo, or guevo; jueso, or güeso, which is considered vulgar.

J has always an aspirated guttural sound, like that which the g has before e and i, and is written before the vowels a, o, u, instead of the letter x, which formerly represented the same aspirated sound; as, Alejandro, Alexander; Don Quijote, Don Quixote.

L always sounds as in English.

LL is, like the ch, a single letter, although of double form, which therefore cannot be divided at the end of a line. It has a liquid sound, resembling that of the English ll in William, brilliant; as, Guillermo, brillante.

M, N, and P have the English sound.

Ñ is always pronounced like ni in the English word pinion.

Q is pronounced like the English k before ue and ui, in which combination alone it is now used; in all other positions it has been replaced by c; as, cuando, cama, comer, quien, querer.

R, when single, is sounded soft, as in English; as, querido, oro: and when double, or at the beginning of a word, and when it comes after l, n, or s, or in compound words, in which the second begins by r, it is pronounced with a very strong rolling sound; as, reloj, malrotar, enriquecer, Israel, prerogativa, maniroto, cariredondo, &c.

S is pronounced like the English s in say; as, sabio, wise; solo, alone; señor, sir.

T is pronounced as in English.

V has the sound of the English v. (See letter B.)

X has the sound of the x in the English word tax; as, exámen, extrangero. It no longer represents its former guttural sound, as has been observed. (See letter J.) Some replace it by the letter s, when it comes before a consonant, and write estrangero instead of extrangero. The grammar of the Spanish Academy does not authorize this practice.

Y is a consonant letter, but use makes it serve as a vowel when it stands alone, used as a copulative conjunction (meaning and); it is also used instead of the vowel i, in the combinations ai, ei, ui at the end of a word; as, verdegay, rey, ley, convoy, muy.

When used in its proper place, that is to say, as a consonant, it has the same sound in Spanish as in the English words young, year.

Z has always the sound of th, as heard in thank, bath.

EXPLANATION.

1. REGULAR VERBS.—All the verbs of the Spanish language have their endings, in the infinitive mood, either in ar, er, or ir; hence their classification in three conjugations: 1st, those ending in ar; 2d, those ending in er; and 3d, in ir; as, hablar, aprender, escribir.

2. ROOTS.—The letters before the terminations ar, er, ir, in the preceding verbs, are habl, aprend, escrib, and are called the roots.

3. TERMINATIONS.—All regular verbs of the first conjugation vary the endings in their respective tenses, so as to correspond with those of the verb hablar; all those of the second conjugation correspond to the terminations of aprender; and all those of the third correspond to escribir.

Consequently, when the student has learned how to conjugate one of the regular verbs of each conjugation, he can conjugate all the regular verbs of the Spanish language (about 8,000). For this reason we recommend the scholars to devote their attention, in the first place, to committing to memory the different moods and tenses of these three model verbs. They will be found complete at the end of the book.

The terminations of the verbs being different for each person, as well in the plural as in the singular number, the nominative pronouns are ordinarily dispensed with, and are only used to give emphasis; except the pronoun Usted, which must always be expressed.—Usted, meaning You, is a contraction from vuestra merced, Your Honor; and, being a title, its omission would be considered impolite.

4. YOU.—In addressing an individual in Spanish, the third person is used with the pronoun Usted: as, Usted habla, you speak; the second person is employed only in speaking to relatives or intimate friends.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Hablan ellas? Sí, señor, ellas hablan.
2. ¿Hablais vosotros? No, señor; ellos hablan.
3. ¿Hablamos nosotras? No, señor; ella habla.
4. ¿Hablais vosotros? No, señor; él habla.
5. ¿Habla ella? Sí, señor, habla.
6. ¿Habla él? No, señor, no habla.
7. ¿Hablas tú? Sí, señor, yo hablo.
8. ¿Hablais vosotras? Sí, señor, nosotras hablamos.
9. ¿Hablo yo? Sí, señor, V. habla.
10. ¿Habla él? No, señor, no habla.
11. ¿No hablan ellos? Sí, señor, ellos hablan.
12. ¿Habla V.? No, señor, yo no hablo.
13. ¿No habla V.? No, señor, yo no hablo.
14. ¿No hablan ellas? Sí, señor, hablan.
15. ¿No hablais vosotras? No, señor, nosotras no hablamos.

Miss Louisa, do you speak French ?

EXPLANATION.

5. SEÑOR.—This word, used alone, i. e., in the vocative case, implies inferiority on the part of the speaker, and answers to the word Lord in English. It is used in addressing God, or the King; or by servants when speaking to their masters. With an equal, the proper term is caballero, gentleman; nevertheless, Señor may also be used among equals: in the affirmative, Sí, señor, or in the negative, no, señor, in which cases it means sir; or together with the name of the person; as, Señor Kemp, which means Mr. Kemp.

Señora, Señorita.—In addressing ladies, the word Señora, Madam, and Señorita, Young Lady, or Miss, may be used alone; as, Señora, or Señorita, ¿habla V. español? Madam, or Young Lady, or Miss, do you speak Spanish?

Señorito, like Señor, implies inferiority on the part of the speaker, for which reason it is seldom used, except by servants.

6. Don, Mr., applies to gentlemen, and Doña, Mrs., to ladies. These terms are only used in conjunction with the Christian names; as, Don Manuel, Doña Luisa, and, still more respectfully, Señor Don Manuel, Señora Doña Luisa. This title, conferred, in old times, only upon members of noble families, is now used in addressing all persons, except those of very humble station, and is written in abbreviation thus, Dn., Da.

7. The negative no, is always placed immediately before the verb.

COMPOSITION.

¿Estudia V. español?	Do you study Spanish?
No, señor, el Frances estudia español; pero yo estudio inglés.	No, sir, the Frenchman studies Spanish; but I study English.
¿Qué estudia el Americano?	What does the American study?
Estudia español y frances.	He studies Spanish and French.
Alejandro, ¿estudias frances y aleman?	Alexander, do you study French and German?
No, señor, estudio español é inglés.	No, sir, I study Spanish and English.
Manuel no estudia sino frances.	Emanuel studies but (only) French.
¿Qué hablan ellos sino español?	What do they speak but Spanish?
¿Habla bien inglés el Español?	Does the Spaniard speak English well?
No, señor, él habla el inglés mal, pero habla bien el español.	No, sir, he speaks English badly, but speaks Spanish well.

EXPLANATION.

8. Y.—The conjunction y is changed into é when the following word begins with i or hi; as, español é inglés, Spanish and English; algodon é hilo, cotton and thread.

9. QUÉ, interrogative pronoun, is written with an accent, to distinguish it from que, relative pronoun, or conjunction.

10. SINO.—When we translate but into Spanish, we must first ascertain its meaning; because this conjunction is used in English to express many very different things. In Spanish it is translated sino, when it is used in antithesis, that is, when it means except; and also after an interrogation, or a negation. The verb is not repeated with this conjunction; as, Él no habla sino inglés. He speaks but (only) English. ¿Qué habla sino español? What (else) does he speak but Spanish?

11. PERO is used when it is not preceded by a negative, and the verb is repeated; as, hablo español, pero no hablo frances. I speak Spanish, but do not speak French.

N. B.—We will see hereafter that but, according to its different meanings in English, must be translated by different words in Spanish.

12. We have again introduced the words español, inglés, frances, and aleman into this lesson, because, while they were given before as substantives, they are now employed as adjectives. The pupil will observe that, in Spanish, as in English, some words are, at different times, different parts of speech; as,

El Español habla bien frances. The Spaniard speaks French well. Here the word Español is used as an adjective, meaning Spaniard; and the word frances as a substantive, meaning the French language; bien is employed as an adverb, meaning well, and it will appear hereafter as a substantive, meaning good. Consequently, the learner, before translating a word, must first ascertain the part of speech to which it belongs.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

No, sir, we do not buy paper, we buy a copy-book.

I look for the American.

He looks for the book.

The Frenchman's horse.

The wooden inkstand.

EXPLANATION.

13. Á.—The preposition á, to. Active verbs govern their objectives with the aid of the preposition á, if that objective be a person; as, Busco al Americano, I look for the American; Busco el papel, I look for the paper.

14. DE.—The preposition de, of, or from, is used to express possession, being always placed before the possessor; as, El caballo del Frances: The Frenchman's horse. It is also used to denote the material of which any thing consists, or is made; as, El tintero de madera, The wooden inkstand.

15. EL.—The article el, the, is used to determine a noun masculine singular; as, el libro, the book.

N. B.—When the article el comes after the preposition á (to), or de (of, or from), the e is suppressed, and the two words compounded into one; thus, al, del, instead of á el, de el.

16. UN.—The indefinite pronoun un is used before masculine nouns; as, un inglés, an Englishman; un caballo, a horse.

N. B.—Uno is only used as a numeral adjective.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

EXPLANATION.

17. GENDER.—In Spanish all nouns are either masculine or feminine; the neuter gender is only applied to those things so indefinitely used that their gender cannot be discovered.

The gender of nouns may be ascertained either by their signification or their termination.

Nouns which signify males, or which denote dignities or professions, &c., applicable to men, are masculine; and those which signify females, or professions, &c., applicable to women, are feminine, without regard to their terminations: so that, hombre, man; caballero, gentleman; pollo, chicken; zapatero, shoemaker; abogado, lawyer, are masculine; and mujer, woman; señora, lady; gallina, hen; lavandera, washerwoman, are feminine.

Nouns ending in a, d, or ion, are generally feminine, and those ending in other letters are masculine; as,

Papel.	Paper.	Leccion.	Lesson.
Tintero.	Inkstand.	Pluma.	Pen.
Billete.	Billet.	Ciudad.	City.

N. B.—Una (indefinite article) is used before feminine nouns.

To facilitate the pupils in the distinction of gender, the left-hand side, in the vocabulary, is reserved for masculine, the right for feminine nouns.

18. When your is preceded by you, it is sometimes translated by Su; otherwise, it is generally rendered by el—de V., or su—de V.; as,

V. necesita su carta.	You need your letter.
¿Qué necesita el papá de V.?	What does your father need?
Necesita su libro de V.	He needs your book.

Aprend-e.		He learns.
Aprend-emos.		We learn.
Aprend-eis.		You learn.
Aprend-en.		They learn.
 Vender.		 To sell.

Muy. moo'-ē	Very.
Mucho.	Much, a great deal.
Poco.	Little.
Aprisa. ah-prē'-sa	Quickly.
Despacio. dais-phē-thē-o.	Slowly.
Estudioso. <sup>thō</sup>	Studious.
Holgazan. ole-gah-thau'	Idle.

ni'-brai Hombre. Man.	Mujer. moo-hai' Woman.
Muchacho. Boy.	Muchacha. Girl.
Padre. Father.	Madre. Mother.
Hijo. ē'-ho. Son.	Hija. Daughter.
Hermano. Brother.	Hermana. Sister.
air-mah'-no.

COMPOSITION.

¿Aprende muy aprisa el muchacho?	Does the boy learn very fast?
El muchacho estudioso aprende muy aprisa; pero el muchacho holgazan aprende muy despacio.	The studious boy learns very fast; but the idle one learns very slowly.
¿Aprenden inglés su padre y su hermano de V.?	Do your father and brother learn English?
¿Sí, señor, y mi madre y mi hermana aprenden frances.	Yes, sir, and my mother and sister learn French.
¿Aprende mucho la muchacha?	Does the girl learn much?
No, señor, aprende poco.	No, sir, she learns little.
¿Aprenden aprisa su hijo y su hija de V.?	Do your son and daughter learn fast?
No, señor, aprenden despacio.	No, sir, they learn slowly.

EXPLANATION.

19. THE TERMINATION of the first person in the present indicative is always o in all the verbs of the Spanish language, to whatever conjugation they may belong, except six irregular verbs, as we shall see in future; so that the only difference between the termination of the second and first conjugations is the changing the a into e in the second and third persons singular, and in all the plural.

20. MUY is generally translated by very or very much; as muy bien, very well; muy bueno, very good, &c.; but it can never qualify a verb nor stand alone in discourse; as, Does he speak very well? Yes, very. ¿Habla él muy bien? Sí, mucho.

21. Many masculine nouns ending in o, change this letter into a for the feminine; as,

Hermano.	Brother.		Hermana.	Sister.
Hijo.	Son.		Hija.	Daughter.
Muchacho.	Boy.		Muchacha.	Girl.

EXPLANATION.

22. ADJECTIVES terminating in o, an, or on, form their feminine termination in a. Those terminating otherwise are common to both genders; as,

El muchacho holgazan.	The idle boy.
La muchacha holgazana.	The idle girl.
El hombre comilon.	The gluttonous man.
La mujer comilona.	The gluttonous woman.
El hombre feliz.	The happy man.
La mujer feliz.	The happy woman.
La gallina buena.	The good hen.

Adjectives signifying nationality, and ending in a consonant, take an a to form their feminine terminations; as,

Español.	Spaniard.
Española.	Spanish.
Libro inglés.	English book.
Gramática inglesa.	English grammar.

Those ending in o change this letter into a; as,

Americano.	American.
Americana.	American.

Adjectives are generally placed after their nouns; but in poetry, or in an elevated style, and even in conversation, we place many before the noun. Reading and practice will form the ear of the scholar so as to use them properly.

Adjectives used metaphorically, or in a signification different from their proper one, are always placed before; as,

Un gran caballo.	A great horse.
------------------	----------------

Some adjectives lose their last letter, or syllable, when prefixed to the singular masculine noun; as,

Mal muchacho.	Bad boy.
Buen libro.	Good book.
Gran caballo.	Great horse, &c.

¿Escribe V. la carta en inglés?	Do you write the letter in English?
Sí, señor, escribo la carta en inglés.	Yes, sir, I write the letter in English.

EXPLANATION.

23. THE ENDINGS of the third conjugation and those of the second are the same, except in the first and second persons of the plural; in which the e of the second conjugation is changed into i in the third, as the learner must have observed.

24. THE CONJUNCTION ó is changed into ú when the following word begins with ó or ho; as,

Plata ú oro. | Silver or gold.

25. NI.—Neither and nor are rendered by ni; as,

Él no necesita ni la carne ni el pescado. | He wants neither the meat nor the fish.

26. THE PLURAL OF NOUNS is formed by adding an s to those terminating in a vowel not accented; as,

Ejercicio. Exercise. | Ejercicios. Exercises.

And adding es—

1st. To those ending in an accented vowel; as,

Alelí.	Gilliflower.		Alelfes.	Gilliflowers.
--------	--------------	--	----------	---------------

2d. To those ending in a consonant; as,

Leccion.	Lesson.		Lecciones.	Lessons.
----------	---------	--	------------	----------

3d. To those ending in y; as,

Ley.	Law.		Leyes.	Laws.
------	------	--	--------	-------

27. AN ADJECTIVE agrees with its noun in gender, number and case, and forms the plural according to the rules laid down for nouns; as,

Buen hombre.		Good man.
Buenos hombres.		Good men.
Buena mujer.		Good woman.
Buenas mujeres.		Good women.

28. THE ARTICLE must agree also with the noun to which it refers, in number, gender and case; as,

El libro.		The book.
Los libros.		The books.
La pluma.		The pen.
Las plumas.		The pens.
Lo bueno.		What is good.

Feminine nouns beginning with á accented, take the masculine article el in the singular number, instead of the feminine la, in order to avoid the disagreeable meeting of two a's; as,

El alma.		The soul.
El agua.		The water.
El alba.		The dawn of day.
El hambre.		The hunger, &c.

29. THE NEUTER ARTICLE lo has no plural number, and is placed only before adjectives used as substantives, in an absolute indeterminate case; as,

Lo bueno.		What is good.
Lo malo.		What is bad.

¿ Y en dónde come V. los lunes, miércoles, viérnes y sábados ?	And where do you dine on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays ?
Como en casa.	I dine at home.

EXPLANATION.

30. Papá, papa; mamá, mamma; pié, foot; are exceptions to the general rule, and form the plural by the addition of s; as, papás, papas; mamás, mammas; piés, feet.

* All of the masculine gender.

31. Nouns which are not monosyllables, and end in s, the last syllable not being accented, do not change their termination in the plural number; as, Lunes, Monday or Mondays; Martes, Tuesday or Tuesdays, etc. Words ending in z take es, and change the z into c in the plural; as, lápiz, lápices, pencil, pencils; juez, jueces, judge, judges.

32. Words which are compounds of two nouns differ so variously that it is not possible to give rules for the formation of their plurals; but compounds of a verb and a noun in the singular number form the plural in the same manner as simple nouns; and compound words of a verb and a noun in the plural will be used the same in both numbers; as, cortaplumas, penknife, or penknives.

33. The days of the week always take the article when they are employed to mark, or express time; as,
Estudio español el lunes y el viernes. | I study Spanish on Monday and Friday.

34. Donde, where (without motion); adonde, where (with motion); cuando, when. These adverbs are placed always before the verb; as,

¿Dónde reside V.?		Where do you reside?
¿Cuándo escribe V.?		When do you write?

35. Donde, adonde, and cuando, when used interrogatively require an accent; thus, ¿Dónde vive? Where does he live? ¿Cuándo lee V.? When do you read?

EXPLANATION.

36. IRREGULAR VERBS are those which do not retain intact the radical letters and the terminations designated for each tense and person.

The verb tener, to have, is the first of the irregular verbs here introduced; and, like all the auxiliary verbs, is not included in the seven groups in which the irregular Spanish verbs are classified, on account of their multifarious irregularities. The auxiliaries require, therefore, to be learned separately, or each one by itself.

A complete list of the irregular conjugations will be found at the end of the book.

When the objective case of the third person is the object of the English verb, it is translated by le, los, for the masculine; la, las, for the feminine; and lo for the neuter; as,

El le busca.	He looks for him .
Ella los compra.	She buys them .
Ellos lo necesitan.	They want it .

37. Lo and LE.—It must be observed, however, with regard to the objective forms le and lo, that their use is very doubtful in Spanish, since many correct writers employ the neuter lo, instead of the masculine le. Consequently, while custom or general use does not give the preference to either, the learner may use them according to his own discretion or taste, in the accusative case, masculine gender; as,

Manuel tiene un buen libro y lo (le) vende.	Emanuel has a good book and sells it.
--	---------------------------------------

Lo is sometimes employed to avoid the repetition of a whole or part of a sentence, and then it is equivalent to so, or it. Of this, however, more will be said when treating of the regimen of verbs.

38. THE INTERROGATIVE PRONOUNS quién, cuál, qué, de quién, who, which, what, and whose, do not require the article; as,

¿ Quién habla ?	Who speaks ?
¿Cuál tengo yo ?	Which one have I ?
¿Qué escribe V. ?	What do you write ?
¿De quién son los caballos ?	Whose are the horses ?

39. When, in a question, the interrogative pronoun is governed by a preposition, that preposition must also be repeated in the answer; as,

¿ Con quién vive V. ?	With whom do you live ?
Con mi amigo.	With my friend.
¿ De quién es el caballo ?	Whose is the horse ?
De mi amigo.	My friend's.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Qué tiene V. ? Tengo un hermoso baston.
2. ¿Tienes tú un buen sombrero? Sí, señor, lo (le) tengo.
3. ¿Qué pañuelo tiene ella? Tiene el de seda.
4. ¿Cuál tiene V. ? Tengo mi pañuelo.
5. ¿Tencis vosotros buenos chalecos? Sí, señor, los tenemos.
6. ¿De quién hablan ellos? Hablan de las Americanas.
7. ¿Tiene V. las corbatas? Sí, señor, las tengo.
8. ¿Tienen ellos los hermosos pañuelos de seda? Sí, señor, los tienen.
9. ¿Quién tiene las medias? Yo las tengo.
10. ¿Tiene V. mí chaleco? Sí, señor, lo (le) tengo.

11. ¿Quién tiene mi baston? Su hermano lo (le) tiene.

Sí, señor.	Yes, sir.
¿Quién tiene papel?	Who has paper?
Nadie lo (le) tiene.	Nobody has (it).

EXPLANATION.

40. ALGUIEN, ALGUNO.—Alguien refers only to persons, and always in the singular number; as,

Vivo con alguien.	I live with some one.
Escribo á alguien.	I write to somebody.

When some one, any one is followed by the preposition of, we must use alguno in Spanish, and not alguien; as, alguno de ellos escribe en el periódico, some one of them writes in the newspaper.

Any one, or anybody, not used interrogatively, is translated by cualquiera, as will be seen when we introduce the indefinite pronoun.

Alguien is used only in the affirmative. Alguno may, on the contrary, be employed either in affirmative or negative sentences; in the affirmative it always precedes the noun to which it refers, and in the negative it invariably comes after it; as,

No estudian lección alguna.	They study no lesson (or do not study any lesson).

41. NADIE, NINGUNO.—Ninguno relates to persons and things, and is used in the negative in the same manner as alguno in the affirmative; nadie relates to persons only, and is used in the negative in the same way as the pronoun alguien in the affirmative. In a word, nadie and ninguno are merely the negative forms of alguien and alguno.

42. ALGUNO and NINGUNO lose the o when they come immediately before the noun.

Como algo , or alguna cosa .		I eat something.
¿Recibe V. algo , or alguna cosa ?		Do you receive anything?

Anything, when not used interrogatively, is translated cualquiera cosa, as will be seen in its proper place.

44. NADA, NINGUNA COSA are used in the negative form.

45. NADA, NINGUNO, NADIE, the adverb no, as well as any other words expressing negation, are placed before the verb; but when no precedes the verb, another negative may be placed after it, and the two negatives serve to strengthen each other, contrary to the practice of the English language; as,

No estudio nada .		I study nothing.
No hablo á nadie .		I speak to nobody, or no one.
No recibo ninguno		I receive none.

But in omitting the negative no, the words which express the negation must be placed before the verb; as,

Nada estudio.		I study nothing.
A nadie hablo.		I speak to nobody.
Ninguno recibo.		I receive none.

The two negatives are always preferable.

46. The indefinite article a or an, is not translated into Spanish when accompanied by a noun which expresses nationality, profession, &c.; as,

¿Es V. Inglés?		Are you an Englishman?
No, señor, soy Español.		No, sir, I am a Spaniard.
¿Es él sastre?		Is he a tailor?
No, señor, es zapatero.		No, sir, he is a shoemaker.

EXPLANATION.

47. TENER AND HABER. To have, used as an active verb, is translated by tener, as an auxiliary, by haber; as,

Tener caballos,

Tengo oro.

Haber hablado.

Hemos hablado.

To have horses.

I have gold.

To have spoken.

We have spoken.

When the auxiliaries to have and to be, followed by an infinitive, denote some future action, to have is rendered by tener que, and to be by haber de; as,

Tenemos que escribir.

Hemos de recibir dinero.

We have to write.

We are to receive money.

48. PRETERIT INDEFINITE.—This tense not only refers to what is past, but also conveys an allusion to the present time; as,

Alejandro ha estudiado el español.

| Alexander has studied Spanish.

It must also be used when we speak indefinitely of any thing past, as happening or not happening in the day, year, or age, in which we mention it; as,

He escrito hoy muchas cartas.

| I have written many letters to-day.

EXPLANATION.

49. MIO, TUYO, SUYO, NUESTRO, VUESTRO, change the final o into a, to form the feminine termination.

50. In Spanish, the possessive pronouns always agree with the name of the thing possessed, in gender, number, and case; as,

Nuestra gramática.	Our grammar.
Nuestros libros.	Our books.

51. When used as pronominal adjectives, they precede the noun with which they agree; and it is to be observed that, in this case, mio, tuyo and suyo drop their final syllable; as,

Nuestros caballos.	Our horses.
Mi pluma.	My pen.
Tu papel.	Thy paper.
Su cuaderno.	His copy-book.

Mis plumas.	My pens.
Tus papeles.	Thy papers.
Sus cuadernos.	His copy-books.

52. MIO, when used in the vocative case—that is, in addressing persons—is placed after the noun governing it; as,

Escribe, hijo mio.	Write, my son.
--------------------	----------------

53. When possessives are used as pronouns, they agree in gender, number and case with the noun which they represent, and are preceded by the definite article; as,

Tu gramática y la mia .	Thy grammar and mine .
De mis muchachos y los tuyos .	Of my boys and thine .
Su hermano y el nuestro .	His brother and ours .
Sus zapatos y los nuestros .	His shoes and ours .
Tus caballos y los suyos .	Thy horses and theirs , &c.

54. POSSESSIVES are preceded by the neuter article, when they are indefinitely used; as,

Lo mio, lo tuyo, lo suyo.	What is mine, what is thine, what is his.
---------------------------	---

55. When the possessive pronoun is connected with the noun by the verb to be, the article is omitted; as,

Este billete es mio.	This note is mine.
Esa carta es tuya.	That letter is thine.
El caballo es suyo.	The horse is his.
Muchachos, ¿ es este nuestro libro ?	Boys, is this your book ?
Niños, ¿ es este el vuestro ?	Children, is this yours ?

56. VUESTRO, VUESTRA, is chiefly used in addressing persons in very high positions; as,

Señor, vuestra patria lo exige.	Sir, your country demands it.
--	--------------------------------------

EXPLANATION.

NUMERAL ADJECTIVES.

57. In the formation of compound numbers, the same order is observed in Spanish as in English, except as to the place of the conjunction; as,

Mil ochocientos sesenta y seis. | 1866.

58. All these numbers, except uno, one, and the compounds of ciento, one hundred, are indeclinable.

59. Uno agrees in gender with the noun to which it refers, but drops the o when it comes immediately before a masculine noun; as,

Uno de los hombres.	One of the men.
Una mujer.	A woman.
Un hombre.	A man.
Un gran caballo.	A great horse.

60. CIENTO drops the last syllable when it comes immediately before a noun. Its compounds agree in number and gender with the nouns to which they refer; as,

Cien hombres y cien mujeres.	One hundred men and one hundred women.
Ciento veinte y tres caballos.	One hundred and twenty-three horses.
Doscientos libros.	Two hundred books.
Trescientas cajas.	Three hundred boxes.

No, señor, he leído el cuarto.	No, sir, I have read the fourth.
¿Cuántos años tiene V.?	How old are you?

EXPLANATION.

61. The ordinals always agree in gender and number with the noun, expressed or understood, to which they refer, and may be placed either before or after that noun; as,

El primer tomo (or el tomo primero).	The first volume.
El primer buen libro.	The first good book.
Los primeros cuadernos.	The first copy-books.
Las primeras lecciones.	The first lessons.
El segundo tomo.	The second volume.
Las segundas intenciones.	The second intentions.

It has been seen, in the list of ordinal numbers at the opening of the present lesson, that primero and tercero lose the final letter when they immediately precede their noun, or are separated from it only by an adjective. We may observe here, that tercero is by some written entire; the contracted form, however, is much to be preferred; as,

El tercer tomo.	The third volume.
-----------------	-------------------

62. The ordinals are not so frequently used in Spanish as in English; and, except primero, first, their place is generally supplied by the cardinal numbers; as, for instance, in speaking of the days of the month, which are expressed by el dos, tres, cuatro, etc., the second, third, fourth, &c. The following are the principal cases in which the ordinals are employed: 1st, with the names of sovereigns, popes, &c.; 2d, in the enumeration of books, chapters, lessons, &c., and a few others; but, even in these cases, after décimo, tenth, they are, by reason of their great length, generally replaced by the numerals; as,

Cárlos Quinto.	Charles the Fifth.
Pio Nono.	Pius the Ninth.
Capítulo décimo.	Chapter tenth.
Calle Veinte y tres.	Twenty-third street.
Luis Catorce.	Louis the Fourteenth.

N. B.—The definite article is not required in the above examples.

EXPLANATION.

63. The PRETERITE DEFINITE refers to a time past, and generally specified in the sentence, and denotes the thing or action past in such a manner that nothing remains of that time in which it was done ; as,

Escribí á mi padre en el año 1864.	I wrote to my father in the year 1864.
Aprendí el frances el año pasado.	I learned French last year.

In colloquial language, the preterite indefinite (which has been treated of in Lesson xii.), is sometimes, though incorrectly, substituted for the preterite definite. The following example will show the impropriety of such a substitution :

He escrito á mi padre ayer. | I have written to my father yesterday.

Nothing remains of yesterday ; it is time past, and has no connection with the present ; and, as it has been already seen that the preterite indefinite conveys an allusion to the present time, the incorrectness of the foregoing example is at once apparent.

We may, however, say with propriety :

Escribí la carta á las tres, á las cuatro, etc. | I wrote the letter at three o'clock, at four o'clock, &c.

for the time specified is completely past.

64. ANTE.—This preposition means before, or in the presence of ; as,

Habló ante el juez. | He spoke before the judge.

And it sometimes denotes priority, antecedence, &c. ; as,
Ante todas cosas. | Before all things.

65. MAS, more ; MÉNOS, less, fewer.—These two adverbs are used to form the comparative degree of several adjectives, which last they always precede in the sentence ; as,

El vino es mas caro que la cerveza. | Wine is dearer than beer.
Yo soy mas rico que V. | I am richer than you.

When used to express some quality or circumstance respecting verbs, their usual place in the sentence is immediately after these last ; as,

Yo escribo mas. | I write more.
Tú hablas ménos. | Thou speakest less.

It is needless to observe here, that mas and ménos are themselves the comparatives of mucho and poco, respectively.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

John!

Sir! what do you wish?

I wish my dinner.

Where do the workmen work to-day?

They work in the street.

EXPLANATION.

66. QUIEN.—The relative pronoun quien refers to persons only, and is always preceded by the preposition á, when governed by a verb; as,

El hombre á quien V. quiere. | The man whom you love.

67. WHO, coming immediately after its antecedent, is translated by que; when it stands alone, or is governed by a preposition, it is rendered by quien; as,

El muchacho que estudia. | The boy who studies.
La muchacha con quien hablas. | The girl with whom you speak.

68. CUAL and QUE relate to persons and things; as,

El muchacho que lee, y al cual V. | The boy that reads, and whom you
mandó trabajar, es mi hermano. | commanded to work, is my brother.
La gramática que él tiene, y en la | The grammar which he has, and in
cual estudia, es mía. | which he studies, is mine.

69. CUYO also refers to persons and things, but agrees with the word by which it is immediately followed; as,

El caballero cuya casa V. compró es | The gentleman whose house you bought amigo mio. | is my friend.
El comerciante cuyo vino V. compró | The merchant whose wine you bought vende muy barato. | sells very cheap.

This pronoun partakes of the nature, both of the relatives and the possessives.

70. In English the preposition does not always precede the relative pronoun; but in Spanish it is indispensable to place the preposition before the relative; as,

El libro en que leemos. | The book which we read in (or, in which we read).

71. The relative pronoun can never be suppressed in Spanish; so that we cannot say, as in English, the lady I spoke to, but, in full; as,

La señora á quien hablé, es mi | The lady to whom I spoke is my madre. | mother.

Este caballo y el de mi amigo.	This horse and my friend's (that of my friend).

EXPLANATION.

72. The demonstrative pronouns este, this, ese, aquel, that, are thus declined :

Este, ese, aquel (masc. sing.).

Esta, esa, aquella (fem. sing.).

Estos, esos, aquellos (masc. plural).

Estas, esas, aquellas (fem. plural).

Esto, eso, aquello (neuter).

73. ESTE is used to point out what is near to us, and corresponds to the meaning of the adverb here; ese points out that which is at some distance, and corresponds to the adverb there; and aquel denotes remoteness, and corresponds to the adverb yonder; as,

Este libro que tengo aquí .		This book which I have here .
Ese que tiene V. ahí .		That one which you have there .
Aquel que llevó V. allá .		That one which you took there .

74. When the pronouns este, ese precede the adjective otro, another, they may sometimes be written together, so as to form but one word with it, in the following manner:

Estotro. }	} This other.	Estotros. }	} These others.
Estotra. }		Estotras. }
Esotro. }		Esotros. }		Those others.
Esotra. }		Esotras. }

These forms, however, are now rarely used.

75. The demonstrative pronouns, in their quality of adjectives, are used also as neuter. Eso, that, is the most used of the three, and almost as much as the personal pronoun lo, and in the same manner; as,

Eso se hará.		That will be done.
¡ Eso es!		That is it!

76. The former and the latter is translated in Spanish by aquel and este; thus,

La aplicacion y la pereza hacen al hombre muy diferente; aquella le eleva y esta le rebaja.		Industry and slothfulness have a very different effect upon man; the former elevates him, the latter lowers him.

77. When in English the demonstrative pronoun that is followed by the preposition of, or either of the relatives who, which, expressed or understood, referring to a noun already mentioned, the definite article, in the corresponding number and gender, is employed in Spanish; as,

En mi casa y en la de su hermano de V.		In my house and in your brother's.
El jardín de esta casa y el de la que V. compró.		The garden of this house and that of the one (which) you bought.
Este caballo y el de mi amigo.		This horse and my friend's ( i. e. , that of my friend).

78. English personal pronouns, followed by a relative not agreeing in case, are generally rendered in Spanish by the demonstrative; as,

Quiero comprar á aquellos que venden barato.		I want to buy from them who sell cheap.
---	--	--

79. AQUÍ, ALLÍ, ACÁ, ALLÁ.—Although the adverbs aquí, here, allí, yonder, are employed as synonyms of acá, here, and allá, yonder, respectively, we must observe that aquí and allí refer to a place more circumscribed or determinate than acá, allá; for the same reason we can say, mas acá, mas allá, nearer, farther; and we cannot say, mas aquí, more here, mas allí, more there.

4. Which of the two works the more? Both have to work much.
5. Which of the two horses is the older, this one here or that one there? This one here is the younger.
6. Have you that letter which you received last Monday? I have not that one; but I have here the one* I received the day before yesterday.
7. Who has written these two histories, that of France and that of America? Rollin has written the former, and Robertson the latter.
8. Does the piano teacher live far from here? The piano teacher does not live far from here; but the French professor lives very far.
9. Is that all (lo que) your brother has studied? Yes, sir, that is all.
10. Which lesson have you studied? I have studied the one (la que) we read the other day.
11. Which did we read, the fifteenth or the sixteenth? We read both.
12. Which one do you wish to read first? I require to read the former,
13. Why do you require to read the former? Because I have not studied it well.
14. Which exercise have you there? I have mine and my brother's.
15. Is your brother not coming to take his lesson to-day? No, sir, he has to take his music lesson to-day.
16. John! Sir!

* La que.

17. Have you taken my coat to the tailor's? Yes, sir, I took it last night.

18. Have you paid that man? Yes, sir, I have paid him to-day.

19. How much have you paid him? I have paid him three dollars and seventy-five cents.

20. Why did you pay him three dollars and seventy-five cents? Because he worked one day in this garden, and two in that of the Twenty-third street house.

21. How many pupils have you? I have thirty: seventeen learn Spanish and the thirteen others French.

22. Do they study well? Some of them study very well; but none write their exercises well.

23. When do you sing and play on the piano? I study my lessons before singing and playing.

24. Who is that gentleman that came from Vienna last month? That gentleman is the one to whom I spoke last week at the concert.

Lo haré para tu hermano.

I shall do it for thy brother.

WITH POR.

Escribo por mi hermano.

I write for my brother.

Cambié mi sombrero por el suyo.

I changed my hat for his.

Pasa por docto.

He passes for a man of learning.

Venderá la casa por diez mil pesos.

He will sell the house for ten thousand dollars.

Trabajo por ganar la vida.

I work to (endeavor to) earn my living.

Hablé por tú amigo.

I spoke for (in favor of) thy friend.

Envío por pan.

I send for bread.

Lo haré por tu hermano.

I will do it for thy brother (for thy brother's sake).

81. ENTRE.—The general meaning of this preposition is between and amongst; as,

Entre los dos.	Between the two.
Entre V. y yo.	Between you and me.
Entre todos.	Amongst all.

82. HASTA signifies till, until, even, to, as many as, as far as; as,

Hasta el domingo.	Till (or until) Sunday.
Pasaron hasta mil.	As many as a thousand passed.

Él habla ménos que V.	He speaks less than you.

EXPLANATION.

DEGREES OF COMPARISON.

83. The adverbs tanto and cuan lose the last syllable, to, before an adjective or another adverb.

84. The comparative of equality is formed by placing the adverb tan, so or as, before, and como, as, after the adjective; as,

Alejandro es tan prudente como su hermana.	Alexander is as prudent as his sister.

85. CUAN may be employed, if the comparative is followed by an adjective instead of a noun; as,

Es tan hablador cuan imprudente.	He is as talkative as imprudent.
--	----------------------------------

But como is more frequently used.

86. The comparative of superiority is formed by placing the word mas, more, before the adjective, and que, than, after it; as,

Él es mas rico que V.	He is richer than you.
-------------------------------------	------------------------

87. The comparative of inferiority is formed by placing the word ménos, less, before, and que after; as,

Él es ménos rico que V.	He is less rich than you.
---------------------------------------	----------------------------------

88. MAYOR, greater or larger; MENOR, smaller; MEJOR, better, and PEOR, worse, are already in the comparative degree, and do not require mas or ménos before them; as,

Esta casa es mayor ó menor que esa. | This house is larger or smaller than that one.

Este caballo es mejor ó peor que el mio. | This horse is better or worse than mine.

89. Than, after comparatives coming before numeral adjectives, is also generally translated by de in the affirmative, and que in the negative; as,

Tengo mas de cincuenta libros. | I have more than fifty books.
No tengo mas que veinte pesos. | I have not more than twenty dollars.

90. Comparison may also take place with relation to nouns, verbs, and adverbs; but its form is so similar to that laid down for the adjectives that the learner will not require any other explanation than the examples given in the Composition.

EXPLANATION.

91. English superlatives ending in est, or formed by most, are rendered by placing the definite article before the Spanish comparative; as,

El mas sabio.		The wisest.
La mas amable.		The most amiable.

92. Most, or most of, when followed by a noun (singular), is translated by la mayor parte; as,

La mayor parte del regimiento.		Most of the regiment.
--------------------------------	--	-----------------------

But if the noun is in the plural, most may also be translated by mas, with the corresponding article; as,

La mayor parte, ó los mas , de los soldados.		Most of the soldiers.
--	--	-----------------------

93. The preposition in, after the English superlative, is translated by de in Spanish; as,

La mejor casa de la calle.		The best house in the street.
-----------------------------------	--	-------------------------------

94. Those superlatives which in English are formed with the aid of very, most, &c., may in Spanish be formed either with the help of muy before the adjective, or by adding to the latter the termination ísimo; as,

Muy hábil, or habilísimo .		Very clever.
Muy fácil, or facilísimo .		Very, or most easy.

The termination ísimo is, however, more expressive of the positive superlative degree than is the adverb muy.

95. Observe that adjectives ending in a vowel drop that vowel on taking the termination ísimo; as,

Corto, cortísimo .		Short, very short.
Alegre, alegrísimo .		Cheerful, most cheerful.
Triste, tristísimo .		Sad, very sad.

96. There are other superlatives ending in érrimo; as,

Célebre, celebérrimo .		Celebrated, most celebrated.
Salubre, salubérrimo .		Salubrious, very salubrious.

But these forms are not the most used.

97. Adjectives ending in the following letters change them before admitting the termination ísimo:

Co	becomes	qu ; as, rico, riquísimo .
Go	“	gu ; as, largo, larguísimo .
Ble	“	bil ; as, amable, amabilísimo .
Z	“	c ; as, feliz, felicísimo .

98. Superlatives in ísimo irregularly formed :

- Bueno*, good, makes bonísimo, very good.
Fuerte, strong, makes fortísimo, very strong.
Nuevo, new, makes novísimo, very new.
Sabio, wise, makes sapientísimo, very wise.
Sacro, sacred, makes sacratísimo, very sacred.
Fiel, faithful, makes fidelísimo, very faithful.

99. Irregular comparatives and superlatives :

Bueno,	mejor,	óptimo.
Malo,	peor,	pésimo.
Grande,	mayor,	máximo.
Pequeño,	menor,	mínimo.
Alto,	superior,	supremo.
Bajo,	inferior,	ínfimo.
Mucho,	mas,	lo mas.
Poco,	ménos,	lo ménos.

All these adjectives form also a superlative in ísimo, according to the rules already given; as, malísimo, poquísimo, muchísimo.

They admit also a comparative formed with mas or ménos; and a superlative with muy; as,

Ménos malo.	Less bad.   The greatest.   Very small.
Los mas grandes.
Muy pequeños.

100. Substantives used adjectively admit the degrees of comparison; as,

Es mas caballero que tú.	He is more gentlemanly than thou.   He is very much of a man, or very   manly.   This man is very childish.
Es muy hombre.
Este hombre es muy niño.

Is Peter tired ?

He is tired, and he is tiresome.

Why is Alexander so silent ?

Because he is taciturn.

EXPLANATION.

101. SER and ESTAR.—These two verbs have in English but one equivalent—TO BE; but their respective significations and uses are so materially different as to constitute one of the chief difficulties of the Spanish language. By careful observation, however, of the following simple rule, the learner will, we are assured, be enabled to overcome that difficulty, and know exactly when to use the one and when the other of these two verbs.

102. Whenever we wish to express what persons or things are, and their mode of being, in an absolute manner, SER is the verb to be employed; but if we desire to express the state or condition of persons or things, and the mode of that state or condition in a relative manner, then ESTAR must be used.

The following examples will serve to render the application of this rule more clear :

1st. Esta casa es grande.

2d. Esta casa está limpia.

3d. Esta casa está en Broadway.

4th. Luisa es bonita.

5th. Luisa es feliz.

6th. Luisa está contenta.

7th. Luisa está enferma.

8th. Luisa es enfermiza.

This house is large.

This house is clean.

This house is in Broadway.

Louisa is pretty.

Louisa is happy.

Louisa is content.

Louisa is sick.

Louisa is sickly.

In the first example we use SER to express what kind of a house the one referred to is—i. e. large; in the second, ESTAR, inasmuch as we desire to express how, or in what state the house is, i. e. in a clean state; ESTAR is also employed in the third, sixth and seventh examples, the object being to make known respectively where the house is, and in what state or condition Louisa is or finds herself; while in the fourth, fifth and eighth SER again comes into play, seeing we wish to designate Louisa's mode of being in an absolute manner.

From the above general rule may be deduced the following observations :

1st. That SER must be used whenever we wish to express possession, use, purpose or destination; to point out the nationality, profession or calling of persons; the place of production of things or the materials of which they are composed; the simple fact of existence, the occurrence of events; and, finally, as an auxiliary in forming the passive voice of verbs.

2d. That ESTAR is to be employed in speaking of situation or position, place, state or condition, in making the progressive form in ndo (corresponding to the English ing) of other verbs; and, lastly, to govern verbs in the infinitive mood with the aid of a preposition, or past participles without such aid.

N. B.—The verb ESTAR can never be used with the present participles of ir and venir.

Examples of the uses of SER and ESTAR :

SER.

La casaca es de mi hermano.
The coat is my brother's.
La carta es para Margarita.
The letter is for Margaret.
El señor Walker es pintor.
Mr. Walker is a painter.
Este vino es de España.
This wine is from Spain.
La mesa es de madera.
The table is of wood.
Has sido prudente en hacerlo así.
Thou hast been prudent in so doing.
Hoy es la celebracion.
The celebracion is to-day.
Son las diez.
It is ten o'clock.
Fué el caso como yo escribí á V.
The case was as I wrote to you.
Soy amado.
I am loved.

ESTAR.

Esta casa está bien situada.
This house is well situated.
Nueva York está entre el rio del Norte y el del Este.
New York is between the North and East rivers.
Estuve en casa hasta que llegó.
I was at home until he arrived.
El está escribiendo.
He is writing.
Mi amigo está para partir.
My friend is about to set out.
Estoy por no hacerlo.
I am inclined not to do it.
Estamos sin comer.
We have not dined (or eaten).
Esta carta está fechada en Madrid.
This letter is dated from Madrid.

N. B.—As it frequently occurs that, in perfect accordance with the rules of grammar, the same sentence may be construed with either SER or ESTAR, though conveying entirely different ideas, it is essential to inquire thoroughly into the respective value of these two verbs, in order to avoid the confusion which must necessarily arise from their misapplication. The important nature of this remark may be seen from the following examples :

WITH SER.

Manuel es bueno.
 Emanuel is good.
 Juan es malo.
 John is bad (or wicked).
 Pedro es cansado.
 Peter is tiresome.
 Juana es viva.
 Jane is lively.
 Alejandro es callado.
 Alexander is taciturn.
 Este niño es limpio.
 This child is cleanly.
 Esta naranja es agria.
 This is a sour orange (i. e. of the sour species).

WITH ESTAR.

Manuel está bueno.
 Emanuel is well.
 Juan está malo.
 John is sick.
 Pedro está cansado.
 Peter is tired.
 Juana está viva.
 Jane is alive.
 Alejandro está callado.
 Alexander is silent.
 Este niño está limpio.
 This child is clean.
 Esta naranja está agria.
 This orange is sour (i. e. unripe).

What is said in the course of the present lesson relative to SER and ESTAR, being all that is requisite to enable the student to determine which of the two is to be used in any ordinary case, his attention shall not again be called to them until we come to treat of their idiomatic uses.

EXPLANATION.

103. FUTURE SIMPLE.—This tense affirms what is yet to be or to take place at a future time (mentioned or not); as,

Seré comerciante.

I shall be a merchant.

Juan estudiará mañana.

John will study to-morrow.

This tense is also used as imperative, as will be seen when that mood is introduced.

104. The DEFINITE ARTICLE is to be used before numerals indicating the hour of the day, and the word o'clock is never translated into Spanish; as,

A las tres de la tarde.

| At three o'clock in (of) the afternoon.

105. NOCHE (evening or night), commences at sundown; so that evening and night both are translated into Spanish by noche.

106. The conjunction SI, when conditional, does not govern the subjunctive in Spanish as it does in English, unless the latter be followed by should, as will be seen in the proper place; in all other cases, si is followed by the present of the indicative; as,

Si V. tiene papel, ¿escribirá?

| If you have paper, will you write?

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

15. Did you practise much with him? No; his cousin speaks French very well, and so we spoke that language all the evening.

16. Where shall you spend this evening? I do not know; but the day after to-morrow we shall go to your house.

17. Thank you! then I shall be more than happy; I shall be most happy.

18. How many seconds make a minute? Sixty.

19. How many minutes make an hour? Sixty minutes.

20. And how many hours has a day? A day has twenty-four hours, a week seven days, a month four weeks, and a year twelve months.

21. Peter, what o'clock is it? It is half-past two.

22. Then I am going to take my lesson: will you come? No, thank you; I wish to read this morning's paper.

23. Until what o'clock shall you be? I shall finish at one.

* How is not translated when it does not refer to the manner of doing anything.

24. Peter! Sir?

25. Has the tailor finished my vest? Yes, sir, here he is with the vest and the coat.

26. When will the shoemaker make my boots? He will make them for next Tuesday.

27. Have you any business in Philadelphia? Yes, sir, I am writing the history of Louis XVI., for a gentleman of that city.

28. Mr. Henry, are you happy? Yes, sir, thank you, I am very happy; but I am not very contented this evening.

29. Why are you not contented? Because my father has not written to me this week.

EXPLANATION.

107. The COMPOUND FUTURE affirms something future that will have taken place before or at the time of some other future action or event expressed in the sentence; and is composed of the simple future of the verb haber, to have, and the past participle of another verb; as,

Habré escrito mi ejercicio ántes de ir á casa del profesor.	I will have written my exercise before going to the professor's.
Habré acabado á las diez.	I will have finished at ten o'clock.

108. ACABAR DE is employed before an infinitive in the sense of to have just, and the infinitive is translated in English as a past participle ; as,

Acaba de hablar.		He has just spoken.
Acabo de estudiar.		I have just studied.

N. B.—In order to facilitate the acquisition of words, we shall give now and then a few rules, with the help of which the learner will be enabled to convert several thousand English words into Spanish. And, although we have proposed not to introduce many new words or elements at one time, these observations will enable the pupil to learn a greater number of words with little or no difficulty at all, from the striking resemblance that those words bear to the English ones.

109. The greater part of English nouns ending in tion are rendered into Spanish by changing the letter t into c; as, approbation, aprobacion. It is to be observed that the only consonants that can be doubled in Spanish are c, n and r. All nouns of the above termination are feminine.

110. The days of the month are all counted in Spanish by the cardinal numbers, preceded by the article, except the first day; and there are several forms of asking the day of the month; e. g.,

¿ Qué día del mes tenemos ?	}		What day of the month is it ?
¿ Qué día es hoy ?
¿ A cuántos estamos del mes ?

There is no preference between these; but the answer must be made in the same form as the question; as,

¿ Qué día tenemos ?		What day of the month is it ?
Tenemos el seis.		It is the sixth.
¿ A cuántos estamos ?		What day of the month is it ?
Estamos á dos.		It is the second.
¿ Qué día es hoy ?		What day of the month is to-day ?
Es el primero.		It is the first.

EXPLANATION.

111. SABER, to know, and CONOCER, to be acquainted with.—It must be observed, in order not to confound these two verbs, that saber is employed to signify the act of knowing, being informed of, having learned, or having a knowledge of something; whereas conocer is used to express the fact of being acquainted with, perceiving, or being able to distinguish persons or things; as,

¿ Sabe V. quién conoce á este hombre ? | Do you know who knows that man ?

112. AUN, YA, TODAVÍA.—The adverb aun indicates that the subject of the sentence continues in the same state as before; quite the reverse with the adverb ya, which always signifies discontinuance of a former state (expressed or understood); e. g., ¿ Escribe V. aun ?	Do you write yet ?

No escribo ya.	I do not write any longer.

Todavía, yet, still, is synonymous with aun; as,

Está trabajando todavía (or aun). | He is still working.

Once, twice, &c., are rendered in Spanish by una vez, dos veces, &c.

Miedo, valor, vergüenza, lástima, tiempo, take the preposition de after them; as,

Tengo miedo de salir.	I am afraid to go out.
Tengo vergüenza de ese hombre.	I am ashamed of that man.

113. When in English the verb to be precedes the adjectives hungry, thirsty, afraid, ashamed, right, wrong, warm, cold, sleepy, it is changed into the Spanish verb tener, and the adjective into a corresponding substantive; as,

¿ Tiene V. miedo ?	Are you afraid ?
¿ Tiene V. sed ?	Are you thirsty ?
¿ Tiene V. calor.	Are you warm ?
¿ Tiene V. frío ?	Are you cold ?

114. JAMÁS and NUNCA may be used indiscriminately, or one for the other; as,

Jamás (or nunca) le he conocido. | I have never been acquainted with him.

Sometimes they are used together, to give more energy to the expression; as,

Nunca jamás lo haré.

| Never, no never, shall I do so.

But jamás has the peculiarity of being used after the words por siempre and para siempre, for ever; where, instead of being a negative, it affirms, meaning eternally; as,

Le amaré por siempre jamás.

| I will love him forever.

Sometimes it is used alone interrogatively, meaning ever; as,

¿Ha leído V. jamás ese libro?

| Have you ever read that book?

Ella les dió un libro.	She gave them a book.

EXPLANATION.

115. SUBJECT OF NOMINATIVE.—To what has already been said, in Lesson X., relative to pronouns as subjects or nominative cases to verbs, we shall here simply add, that they may at all times precede their verbs, unless the latter be in the imperative mood, or be used interrogatively; examples:

Yo estudio.	I study.
Tú escribes.	Thou writest.
Vengan ellos.	Let them come.
¿Lee ella ?	Does she read.

116. PERSONAL PRONOUNS.—In Spanish there is a peculiarity to be observed amongst the personal pronouns: that is, that they have two objective cases; one of which can never be used with prepositions, and the other never without one.

117. THE OBJECTIVE CASE, when not preceded by a preposition, is affixed to infinitives, imperatives and gerunds; as,

Amarla.		To love her.
Amémosle.		Let us love him.
Amándolos.		Loving them.
Habiéndola amado.		Having loved her.
Cómprales algo.		Buy them something.
Habiéndolos hallado.		Having found them.

118. In some tenses the verb drops the final letter in the first and second persons plural, when they are followed by nos or os; as,

Amámonos instead of amámosnos.		We loved each other.
Amaos instead of amados.		Love each other.

In the first case, the reason of this is perhaps to soften the pronunciation of the first word; and in the second the d is dropped, in order that the imperative be not confounded with the past participle. Nevertheless, we say idos, go, and not ios; but this is the only exception to the rule.

119. The objective case may sometimes elegantly follow the verb, but rarely when the sentence does not begin by the verb; as,

Llévome al teatro.		He took me to the theatre.
---------------------------	--	----------------------------

120. When one verb governs another in the infinitive mood, the objective case referring to the second verb may be placed either before the governing verb, or after the governed one; as,

Quiero llevarle, or le quiero llevar.		I wish to take him.
---------------------------------------	--	---------------------

121. PREPOSITIONS, when expressed, always govern the second objective case; as,

Para mí.		For me.
Sin tí.		Without thee.
Hacia ellos.		Towards them.

122. Mí, tí, sí, when preceded by con, take go after them, and are joined to the preposition ; as,

Conmigo.		With me.
Contigo.		With thee.
Consigo.		With him, her, them, it.

123. ENTRE is used with the nominative case of the first person singular, in this expression,

Entre tú y yo.		Between thee and me ;
-----------------------	--	-----------------------

but in every other instance it governs the second objective case ; as,

Entre sí.		Between themselves.
Entre nosotros.		Between us.

124. The second objective case is always used after comparatives ; as,

Te quiero mas que á él.		I love thee better than him.
--------------------------------	--	------------------------------

125. When in English the objective case of the first or second person is the object of the verb, or of the preposition to, expressed or understood, we use the first case ; as,

Yo te necesito.		I want thee.
Ella nos habló.		She spoke to us.
El me amar�.		He will love me.

126. In Lesson X. we explained the objective case of the third person when it is the object of the English verb ; but if the third person in English be governed by the preposition to, expressed or understood, we render it by le, les, for both genders ; as,

Nosotros le hablamos.		We spoke to him.
Yo le escrib�.		I wrote to her.
Ella les di�.		She gave them.

Tengo esperanza de que me perdonará.	I have hopes he will pardon me.

EXPLANATION.

127. OBJECTIVE PRONOUNS, *continued.—The third person being governed by to in English, either expressed or understood, is in Spanish rendered by se, if the object of the verb be a pronoun in the third person ; as,

Le compró un ramillete, y se lo mandó.	He bought her a bouquet, and sent it to her.
Les escribiré tres cartas, y se las mandaré.	I shall write them three letters, and send them to them.
Mi criado se lo dará.	My servant will give it to him.

This is done for the sake of euphony, changing the first of the two pronouns, whatever its full form may be (le, la or les), into se. This rule applies to all pronouns, after as well as before the verb ; as,

Ella se lo ha prometido (instead of ella le lo ).	She has promised it to her.
Prometiéndosela (instead of prometiéndolelo ).	Promising it to him.
¿ Le leiste la carta ?	Did you read the letter to him ?
Ya se la leí , instead of ya le la leí .	I read it to him (already).

128. When two first objective cases occur in the sentence, one of which is the object of the verb, and the other is governed, in English, by the preposition to, either expressed or understood, the object of the verb is to be placed last ; as,

Ella me lo dijo.	She told it to me.
Yo se lo dí.	I gave it to him.

129. But if the object of the verb be the reflexive pronoun, it must be placed first; as,

Luego se me excusó.

| He excused himself immediately to me.

130. Both the objective cases belonging to the same person are sometimes used together in Spanish, in order to give more energy to the expression, and then the second must always be preceded by á; as,

Mi madre me ama á mí.

Tu amigo te busca á tí.

Él se lo dijo á ellas.

Yo les dí las noticias á ellos.

Yo se las daré á Vds. ?

| My mother loves me.

| Thy friend seeks thee.

| He told it to them.

| I told them the news.

| I will tell them to you.

131. The second objective case of any of the persons should never be used in the sentence, preceded by á, as the object of the verb, without being accompanied by the first (except after comparatives); therefore, such expressions as these: á él quiero, á tí amo, are incorrect, and should be thus: á él le quiero, á tí te amo. The place of the second objective case in sentences of this kind is restricted to the following rules:

1st. If the first objective case precede the verb, the second may be placed either before the first, or after the verb; as,

Á tí te amo, or te amo á tí.

| I love thee.

2d. If the first objective case follows the verb, the second must be placed after the first; as,

Amándole á él.

| Loving him.

132. It may appear that the personal pronouns él, la, lo, los and las might be confounded with the articles el, la, lo, los, las, having the same form; but they are easily distinguished, since the articles must always be accompanied by and precede nouns; as, el tiempo, la salud, los soldados, las obras, lo bueno; while, on the other hand, the personal pronouns are only employed with verbs, and placed before or after them; as,

La llevaron, or lleváronla.

Lo buscaron, or buscáronlo.

| They carried it.

| They looked for it.

133. Whenever emphasis is required to be laid on any noun or pronoun, the adjective mismo is used in Spanish for that purpose ; as,

El no ama á nadie mas que á sí mismo .	He loves no one but himself.
Este mismo hombre lo hará.	This very man will do it.
Yo mismo lo haré.	I will do it myself.

Debía hacerlo, pero no lo hacía.	He should have done so, but did not.
Debemos amar al prójimo tanto como á nosotros mismos ; pero mi vecino no me ama á mí ni yo le amo á él.	We should love our neighbor as ourselves ; but my neighbor does not love me, nor do I love him.
No dudo lo que V. dice.	I do not doubt what you say.

EXPLANATION.

134. THE IMPERFECT is used to express what is past, and, at the same time present, with regard to something else which is past ; that is, it is a past tense which was still present at the time spoken of. It may always be employed in Spanish when in English the word was can be used with the present participle, or used to with the infinitive, or when we speak of habitual actions; as,

Yo escribía cuando V. vino.

El estudiaba sus lecciones todos los días.

I was writing when you came.

He used to study his lessons every day.

135. The PLUPERFECT is used to express what is past, and took place before some other past action or event, expressed or understood; as,

Yo había leído ya los periódicos cuando V. me los dió.

I had already read the newspapers when you gave them to me.

136. ACABAR DE.—The English expressions, to have just, and to be just, before a past participle, are translated into Spanish by acabar de, preceding an infinitive; as,

Acabo de entrar.

El acaba de abrir la ventana.

I have just come in.

He has just opened the window.

EXPLANATION.

137. The PRETERIT ANTERIOR is used to express a past action or event that took place immediately before another action or event also past. It is never used except after some of the adverbs of time ; cuando, when ; así que, as soon as ; no bien, no sooner ; apénas, scarcely ; luego que, immediately after ; después que, soon after ; as,

Cuando le hube conocido.	When I had made his acquaintance.
Apénas hubo salido cuando yo vine.	Scarcely had he gone out when I came.
No bien le hube visto cuando le conocí.	No sooner had I seen him than I knew him.

This tense is very little used, not only for the reason already mentioned, of its being preceded by an adverb of time, but also because its place may be elegantly supplied by the PRETERIT DEFINITE ; as,

Cuando le conocí.

Apénas salió cuando yo vine.

No bien le vi cuando le conocí.

When I had known him.

Scarcely had he gone out when I came.

No sooner had I seen him than I knew him.

138. The adverbs of manner and quality, in Spanish as well as in English, are generally derived from adjectives.

139. To form an adverb from an adjective, it is sufficient to add mente to the adjective, if the latter has the same termination in both genders ; as,

Frecuente, frecuentemente.

Gramatical, gramaticalmente.

If the adjective has a different termination for each gender, then mente is added to the feminine ; as,

Incómoda, incómodamente.

Perfecta, perfectamente.

When two or more of these adverbs follow each other, only the last one takes mente, the others taking the feminine termination a ; as,

Ciceron habló sabia y elocuentemente. | Cicero spoke learnedly and eloquently.

140. These adverbs terminating in mente, being derived from adjectives, admit like these the degrees of comparison ; as, Fácilmente.

Mas fácilmente.

Ménos fácilmente.

Tan fácilmente.

Muy fácilmente, or fácilísimamente.

Easily.

More easily.

Less easily.

As, or so easily.

Very easily, or most easily.

141. Those adverbs may, without any change in the sense, be substituted by a substantive governed by the preposition con ; as,

Él vive cómodamente, or con comodidad.

He lives comfortably.

COMPOSITION.

¿Es necesario estudiar mucho para aprender el español?	Is it necessary to study much to learn Spanish?
Es menester estudiar mucho, pero no tanto como para aprender el inglés.	It is necessary to study a great deal, but not so much as to learn English.
En Nueva York llueve y llovizna mucho, pero no diluvia como en la Habana.	In New York it rains and drizzles a great deal, but it does not rain in torrents as in Havana.
En Madrid amanece muy temprano y anochece muy tarde en el verano.	In Madrid day breaks very early and night falls very late in summer.
En la Habana amanece y anochece siempre á la misma hora, en todos los días del año.	In Havana day breaks and night falls at the same hours every day in the year.
En el Brasil no nieva; pero truena y relampaguea mucho siempre que llueve.	In Brazil it does not snow; but it thunders and lightens much whenever it rains.
En la Habana no hay hielo, porque no hace bastante frío para helar; y por eso lo llevan de Nueva York.	In Havana there is no ice, because it is not cold enough to freeze; and for that reason they take it from New York.
En Nueva York ha helado y nevado mucho este año; pero en el pasado nevó y heló muy poco.	In New York it has frozen and snowed much this year; but last year it snowed and froze very little.
¿Hace mucho calor en este país?	Is it very warm in this country?
En los meses de Noviembre, Diciembre y Enero hace mucho frío; pero en Junio, Julio y Agosto hace mucho calor.	In the months of November, December and January it is very cold; but in June, July and August it is very warm.
¿Qué tiempo hace?	What kind of weather is it?
Parece que va á llover, porque hay mucho viento y hace calor.	It appears it is going to rain, because it is very windy and hot.
Cuatro años há, or hay cuatro años, que no veo á mi padre.	I have not seen my father for four years.
Pero V. tiene esperanza de verle pronto, porque llegará hoy á Nueva York en el vapor "Etna" que viene de Europa.	But you (have) hope to see him soon; for he will arrive to-day in New York by the steamer "Etna" (that is) coming from Europe.
En verano voy á pasear todos los días al amanecer.	In summer I go to walk every morning at daybreak.

¿ Va V. á la cama temprano ?	Do you go to bed early ?
No, señor, tarde ; á la media noche.	No, sir, late ; at midnight.
¿ Come V. al medio dia ?	Do you dine at noon ?
No, señor, como al anocheecer.	No, sir, I dine at nightfall.
¿ Va V. á la Habana ?	Are you going to Havana ?
No, señor, voy á Francia.	No, sir, I am going to France.
La Francia es mas alegre que la Inglaterra.	France is more pleasant than England.
El muchacho estudia mucho.	The boy studies much.
El estudio de la gramática es necesario.	The study of grammar is necessary.
El hombre necesita trabajar.	Man requires to work.
La conversacion es muy útil para aprender una lengua.	Conversation is very useful for learning a language.

EXPLANATION.

142. IMPERSONAL VERBS are those which are used only in the infinitive mood and in the third person singular of all the tenses, and have no definite subject ; as,

Llueve.	It rains.
Tronará.	It will thunder.
Nevaba.	It was snowing.

143. The verbs amanecer and anocheecer are sometimes used in the three persons, both numbers ; but then they are not impersonal, but neuter ; as,

Yo amanecí en Nueva York, y anocheceí en Filadelfia.	I was in New York at daybreak, and in Philadelphia at nightfall.

144. HABER and HACER are often used impersonally, and are in such cases to be rendered into English by the corresponding tenses of the verb to be.

The verb haber, when conjugated impersonally, has the peculiarity of taking a y in the third person of the present indicative ; as,

Hay mucha fruta.	There is much fruit.
Habrán muchos hombres.	There will be many men.
Hizo frío.	It was cold.
Hace muchos años.	Many years ago.

N. B.—Há is sometimes elegantly used for hay ; as,

Doce años há, or hay doce años.	Twelve years ago ;
---------------------------------	--------------------

but it is to be observed that há always follows the time, while hay precedes it.

There are many other verbs which, although not impersonal, are sometimes used as such; as,

Es muy tarde.	It is very late.
Es preciso.	It is necessary.
Es menester.	There is necessity.
Parece.	It seems, it appears.
Conviene.	It suits, it is proper.
Basta.	It is sufficient, it will do.

145. As it may have been observed, the pronoun it, which accompanies impersonal verbs in English, is not translated into Spanish.

Nouns taken in a definite sense require the article; as,

El muchacho estudia.	The boy studies.
El estudio de la gramática es útil.	The study of grammar is useful.

Nouns used in their most general sense are preceded by the article; as,

El hombre necesita trabajar.	Man requires to work.
La conversacion es muy útil para aprender una lengua.	Conversation is very useful for learning a language.

146. Names of nations, countries, provinces, mountains, rivers and seasons, generally take the article; as,

La España.	Spain.
La Inglaterra.	England.
El invierno.	Winter.

147. Nations, countries and provinces, when preceded by a preposition, do not take the article unless they are personified; as,

Las provincias de España.	The provinces of Spain.
El valor de la España.	The courage of Spain.

Nevertheless, the article is employed under all circumstances with the names of some places; as,

El Brasil.	Brazil.
La Habana.	Havana.
El Ferrol.	Ferrol.
La China.	China.
El Japon.	Japan.
El Perú.	Peru.

¿ Le pesa á V. de no haber estado en el concierto ?	Do you regret not having been at the concert ?
Me pesa mucho de no haber estado, porque no tuve el placer de ver á su amigo de V.	I deeply (very much) regret not having been there, for I had not the pleasure of seeing your friend.
A mí me pesa de ello tambien.	I regret it too (also).

EXPLANATION.

148. GUSTAR, derived from the noun gusto, pleasure, and signifying literally to give pleasure to, is the verb by which we translate to like; but in passing from English to Spanish, the nominative case or subject becomes the objective, and the latter is preceded by the preposition á; as,

¿ Le gusta á V. la poesía ?		Do you like poetry ?
Me gusta (or á mí me gusta) mucho.		I like it very much.

149. GUSTAR, followed by the preposition de, means to be fond of, and sentences in which it is used are constructed as in English; as,

Yo gusto de la música.		I am fond of music.
El gusta de la poesía.		He is fond of poetry.

150. GUSTAR, used as an active verb, means to taste, and governs the objective, without the aid of any preposition whatever; as,

¿ Gusta V. la sopa ?		Do you taste the soup ?
No, señor, gusto la carne.		No, sir, I taste the meat.

151. The verbs pesar, to regret; faltar, in the sense of to want, or hacer falta, to have need of; acomodar, to suit; convenir, to suit; importar, to be important; placer, to please, and some others, require the same idiomatic construction of the sentence as that explained in the case of gustar; as,

Nos falta (or nos hace falta) dinero.		We want (or are in want of) money.
A V. le importa ese negocio.		That business is important to you.
Mucho me place.		It pleases me much.

This last verb is defective, and is very little used, except in the present and imperfect of the subjunctive mood, as will be seen in the proper place.

152. The verb pesar, when meaning to regret, generally takes the preposition de after it; as,

Me pesa de ello.		I am sorry for it.
------------------	--	--------------------

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

EXPLANATION.

153. PASSIVE VOICE.—This voice is formed by the different tenses of the auxiliary ser added to the past participle of the verb, care being taken that the participle agree with the subject, in gender and number, like an adjective ; as,

Soy amado.	I am loved.
Hemos sido amados.	We have been loved.
Habéis sido amadas.	You have been loved.
Serás amada.	Thou wilt be loved.

(a). The passive voice is, however, formed in Spanish, by estar, instead of ser, when the past participle is used adjectively, that is to say, when the state or condition of the subject is described without any reference to an action ; as,

Esta casa está bien situada .	This house is well located .
La carta estaba mal escrita.	The letter was badly written.

154. The passive verb formed by ser is used in Spanish in the present and imperfect of the indicative mood, only when it is designed to express a mental act ; as,

Manuel es amado de Margarita.	Emanuel is loved by Margaret.
--------------------------------------	--------------------------------------

When a mental act is not expressed, the passive verb being in the present or imperfect of the indicative mood, estar is the auxiliary to be used, and not ser ; as,

El libro ha sido escrito por un Frances, or el libro está escrito por un Frances (instead of es escrito ).	The book was written by a Frenchman.
---	--------------------------------------

155. When the action of the verb refers to the mind, the preposition de or por may be used after the passive verb, before the agent, and por only, when otherwise; as,

Manuel es amado de (or por ) Margari- ta.	Emanuel is loved by Margaret.
--	-------------------------------

156. The passive voice in English is very frequently turned into Spanish by putting the verb which is in the participle past in English, in the same person and number as the auxiliary to be in the English sentence, and placing the pronoun se before it.

157. The latter form is preferred when the object, or receiver, of the action is an inanimate thing, or when the subject, or agent, remains undetermined; as,

Se quemó la casa. Esta casa se hizo en seis meses.	The house was burnt. This house was built (made) in six months.

EXPLANATION.

158. REFLECTIVE VERBS.—Almost all active verbs may become reflective in Spanish, and be used as pronominal. The pronoun object must be of the same person as that of the subject, and each person is conjugated with a double personal pronoun. However, the pronoun subject is almost always understood in Spanish, while in English it is expressed; as,

Infinitive. Amarse.		To love one's self.
Part. Pres. Amándose.		Loving one's self.

INDICATIVE PRESENT.

Me amo.		I love myself.
Te amas.		Thou lovest thyself.
Se ama.		He loves himself.
Nos amamos.		We love ourselves.
Os amais.		You love yourselves.
Se aman.		They love themselves.

And in the same manner in all the other tenses.

159. When an agent performs an action upon a part of himself, the verb is made reflexive; and the possessive pronouns, my, his, etc., are translated into Spanish by the article el, la, los, las; as,

Me corto el cabello.		I cut my hair.
Se corta las uñas.		He cuts his nails.

160. When the verb denotes a reciprocity of action between two or more individuals, it is formed, in Spanish, in the same manner as the plural of reflective verbs; as,

Nos amamos.		We love one another.
Os engañasteis.		You deceived each other.
Se temerán.		They will fear each other.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

EXPLANATION.

161. IRREGULAR VERBS.—All verbs that are not conjugated throughout according to the model verbs already given (hablar, aprender, escribir), are called irregular.

162. It is, however, to be observed, that although some verbs undergo slight changes in their radical letters, they are not to be considered as irregular on that account, inasmuch as those mutations take place in order to preserve throughout the whole conjugation the pronunciation of the root as sounded in the infinitive. This observation should be carefully borne in mind, so as not to take for irregular verbs those which are really not so.

Many verbs ending in car, cer, cir, gar, for instance, undergo respectively such mutations as above alluded to: those in car change the c into qu before e; as,

Tocar.		To touch.
Toqué (instead of tocé).		I touched;

in those in cer and cir, the c is changed into z before a and o; as,

Vencer.		To vanquish.
Venzo (instead of venco).		I vanquish.
Resarcir.		To indemnify.
Resarzo (instead of resarco).		I indemnify;

and lastly, those in gar take a u after the g and before e; as,

Pagar.		To pay.
Pagué (instead of pagé).		I paid.

For the same reason delinquir changes qu into c, before a and o; as, delinco, delinca, delincamos; and escoger, to choose, changes the g into j before a and o; as, escojo, escoja.

163. The verbs which terminate in eer, as creer, to believe; leer, to read; poseer, to possess; proveer, to provide, in those terminations which contain an i, change it into y whenever it is to be joined with another vowel; as, creí, creyó; léi, leyeron; poseí, poseyere; provéi, proveyeremos, &c.

164. The same change is made in the verbs ending in uir, when the u and the i make a part of two different syllables. Thus huir, to fly, makes, in the third person of the preterit definite, huyó; argüir, to argue, makes arguyó, &c.

165. The irregular verbs, about five hundred and fifty in number, may be divided into seven classes, presenting each a certain regularity in their irregularity; that is to say, whose irregularities occur in the same persons and tenses, so that when the pupil has learned seven verbs, or one of each of those groups, he will be able to conjugate almost all the Spanish irregular verbs, save a few that confine their irregularities to themselves and their compounds, and of which the majority have been already introduced in previous lessons, such as haber, tener, &c.; but the learner can find them all conjugated at the end of the book.

Acertar may serve as a model for the conjugation of the first of these seven classes of irregular verbs, just as hablar does for the first conjugation of the regular verbs. The irregularity of acertar, and of all those conjugated like it, consists in taking an i before the last e of the root, in the first, second and third persons singular, and the third person plural of the present of the indicative mood, in the present of the subjunctive, and in the imperative. (See list of the irregular verbs at the end of the book.) In all the other tenses and moods those verbs are regular, and the learner can easily form them according to their respective conjugations.

166. PAGAR may take for its direct object either the value paid or the thing paid for, while the person paid is the indirect object. Por may be used before the thing paid for; as,

Pago los caballos, or pago por los caballos.	I pay for the horses.
Pago mil pesos por los caballos.	I pay a thousand dollars for the horses.
Pago al comerciante mil pesos por los caballos.	I pay the merchant a thousand dollars for the horses.

EXPLANATION.

167. The verb acostar changes the radical o into ue in the same tenses and persons as those in which the verb acertar is irregular; i. e., in the present indicative, the imperative and the present subjunctive. (See this verb and those conjugated like it at the end of the book).

168. THE IMPERATIVE MOOD is not used in the first person singular; nor is it used in Spanish for forbidding; that is, it is not employed in the negative form; but the persons of the present subjunctive are used when a negative command or a prohibition is expressed; as,

No lo hagas. }		Do not do so.
No lo hagais. }

169. As has already been said, the s of the first person plural, and the d of the second, are suppressed before nos and os; as,

Amémonos.		Let us love each other.
Amaos.		Love one another.

170. When the imperative is negative in English, as the subjunctive is employed in Spanish, the objective pronouns are placed before it; as,

No lo digas.		Do not tell it.
No los ofendamos.		Let us not offend them.

171. The future of the indicative is often used for the imperative; as,

No tomarás en vano el Nombre del Señor tu Dios.		Thou shalt not take the Name of the Lord thy God in vain.

172. Many adjectives ending in ous are rendered into Spanish by changing this termination into oso; as,

Delicioso.		Delicious.
Espacioso.		Spacious, &c.

173. Many nouns and adjectives ending in English in ic or ical have in Spanish the termination ico; as,

Fanático.

Fanatic, fanatical.

Poético.

Poetic, poetical.

2. Where did you walk? I went first to the Central Park, and then to Harlem.

3. What is the first thing we read in Telemachus? We read that Calypso could not console herself for the departure (partida) of Ulysses.

4. Where have you been all this time, sir? it is more than a week since you last came to see us; that is not right (estar bien). I confess I am rather negligent (negligente) sometimes.

5. You have doubtless already gone to see your old friend? Yes, and he wanted to make me spend a month with him at his country house.

6. What part of the country does he live in? On Long Island, about ten miles from the city.

7. Was he not glad to see you? We looked at each other for about ten minutes without being able to say a word; at last (en fin) he broke the silence (rompió el silencio), and said to me: "What! is it you, my dear friend? After seven years' absence (ausencia)! How glad I am!

8. Did he know you as soon as he saw you? Yes, and I knew him, though I met him at some distance from his father's house.

9. Doubtless he asked you about your travels (voyages)? Of course. "Where have you been?" said he. "What have you done? what have you seen? are you rich? are you happy? Tell me all you have done since you went away (irse); all your adventures. I wish it; I desire it; I beg of you; it will give (you will do) me the greatest pleasure."

10. All that proves his joy at seeing you. Yes, I know that; but how many questions!

11. Did he want an answer to each one of them? Of course; and I answered them as well as I could.

12. What did you tell him? I told him that after having left France,

I went to Spain, and from there into Portugal (Portugal), and that after a few months passed in Lisbon (Lisboa) I went on to Italy, where I remained four years.

13. What are the hours for breakfast and dinner amongst the Italians? The Italians, like the French, usually (generally) breakfast at eleven o'clock, and dine from five to seven in the evening.

14. And do they never eat anything before the breakfast hour? Almost everybody takes a cup of coffee or chocolate in the morning soon after rising.

15. What kind of governments are there in Europe? In Europe we find almost every form (forma) of government, republican and monarchical.

Lo mismo que en inglés.	The same as in English.

EXPLANATION.

174. MOVER, to move, changes the radical o into ue, in the same tenses and persons as the verb acostar; i. e., in the first, second and third persons singular, and the third plural of the present indicative, and present subjunctive, and in the imperative. (See this verb, and those conjugated like it, at the end of the book).

175. SE is the indefinite personal pronoun of the Spanish, referring to a personal agency in such a manner as to leave undetermined both the sex and the number of the persons represented. It corresponds, in this respect, with the English we, they, people or one; in fact, with all expressions which mention persons thus vaguely and indefinitely. It is used with the third person singular of the verb; as,

Se dice.

Se cree.

No se hará.

Aquí se vende vino bueno.

Aquí se habla español.

It is said, or they say.

It is believed, or they believe.

They (people) will not do it, or it will not be done.

Good wine is sold here.

Spanish is spoken here.

176. The pronoun se has now been seen used in the four functions in which it can be found; it may be well to mention them all again, in order that these different offices of the pronoun se may be well distinguished, and to avoid all confusion. They are the following:

1st. As an indefinite subject, as has been seen in the present lesson; as,

Se dice.

| They say.

2d. To form the passive voice of verbs (see Lesson XXXII.); as,

Se perdona algunas veces á los delin-
cuentes.

| Transgressors are sometimes pardoned.

3d. As a reflexive pronoun; as,

Manuel se engaña.

| Emanuel deceives himself.

4th, and lastly, the objective pronoun se, for the sake of euphony, takes the place of the objectives le, la, lo, les (see Lesson XXVII.); as,

Se lo pagaré á V. mañana.

| I will pay it to you to-morrow.

177. Many nouns ending in English in ty, are rendered in Spanish by changing these letters into dad; as,

Actividad.

Capacidad.

| Capacity.

N. B.—All nouns of this termination are feminine. Many nouns ending in English in ist, are rendered into Spanish by adding to these letters an a; as,

Artista.

| Artist.

Organista.

| Organist, &c.

178. DOLER.—This verb is used in the same manner as the verb gustar, to like (see Lesson XXXI.); as,

¿Le duele á V. la cabeza? | Does your head ache?

The same may be expressed in the following manner:

¿Tiene V. dolor de cabeza? | Have you a headache?

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Se vende buen vino en Nueva York? Se vende bueno y malo; pero muy caro.

2. ¿Qué noticias hay? Se dice que la Alemania y la Italia estan en guerra.

3. ¿Se cree eso? No solamente se cree, sino que se sabe que la guerra ha principiado ya.

4. ¿Se habla español en Nueva York? En Nueva York se hablan todas las lenguas, pero principalmente el inglés, el aleman, el frances y el español.

5. ¿Se aman los Franceses y los Ingleses? Creo que no se aman como hermanos; pero se respetan.

6. ¿A quién se ama mas en este país, á los Franceses ó á los Ingleses? Es cosa que no sabré decir.

7. ¿En los Estados Unidos se respetan las iglesias de todas las religiones? Sí, señor, porque hay libertad de religion; es una cosa muy buena para el país, y yo la deseo para todas las naciones del mundo.

8. Hablemos de otra cosa, porque todos no son tan liberales como V.; y no se hará V. amigos si habla tan francamente.

9. Convengo con V. en eso, además no se debe decir todo lo que se piensa; pero para aprender una lengua se debe practicar mucho y se debe hablar de todo un poco.

10. V. tiene razon en eso, y una conversacion en que no se habla, sino de "si hace calor ó frio, si ha estado V. en el teatro, en el concierto, ó en la iglesia, y de si tiene V. el sombrero y el fusil, y el vino, y el dinero de V. ó del vecino" es muy cansada.

11. Por supuesto; pero V. debe saber que lo que se llama en inglés small talk* es muy de moda.—Lo sé, es muy de moda, y hasta necesario algunas veces.

12. ¿Le dijo V. eso á su amigo? No se lo dije, porque mi hermana se lo habia dicho ya.

13. ¿Porqué no me lo dijo V. á mi? Porque mi hermano me ha dicho que se lo dirá á V. mañana.

14. ¿Toca Dn. Pedro bien el piano? No, señor, pero se engaña á sí mismo y cree tocarlo muy bien.

* Charla.

15. Véngase V. esta tarde por aquí, é irémos á dar un paseo.—Bien, si V. me espera hasta las seis, vendré, pero no ántes, porque no puedo salir del escritorio hasta esa hora.

16. ¿Qué tal tiempo ha hecho hoy en la ciudad? Hoy ha hecho buen tiempo y ayer hizo buen tiempo tambien; pero mañana hará mal tiempo.

17. ¿Cómo sabe V. que hará mal tiempo mañana? Porque en Nueva York no hace nunca buen tiempo por tres dias.

18. ¿V. cree que no hace buen tiempo mas que (sino) en la Habana? Perdone V. no me gusta el clima de la Habana ni el de Nueva York.

19. Entónces, ¿qué clima le gusta á V.? El de España, porque allí tenemos verdaderamente las cuatro estaciones.

20. ¿Qué quiere V. decir? Quiero decir que en España hace calor en verano aunque no muchísimo; en invierno hace frio, pero no nos helamos; en otoño hace un excelente tiempo de otoño, y en la primavera tenemos primavera.

21. ¿Bien, y no es lo mismo en Nueva York? Escúseme V.; en Nueva York no he conocido la primavera; hay muy pocos dias de otoño, un invierno larguísimo y un verano calurosísimo.

22. ¿Y en la Habana? En la Habana hay todo el año el verano de Nueva York.

23. ¿Yo pensaba que á V. no le gustaba hablar del tiempo? V. no me ha entendido; creo que debe hablarse de todo, pero no siempre del tiempo.

EXERCISE.

1. Why do you not come quicker when I call you? I cannot come any quicker, my head aches.

2. Where do you think Spanish is spoken best? In Madrid, and in all parts of Old and New Castile (Castilla).

3. And is it not well spoken in South America? There is some difference in the pronounciation; but, in general, persons of education speak correctly, whether they be † South Americans or Spaniards.

4. William, will you be good enough to take this letter to the post-office when you are going to take your lesson? I shall take it in the afternoon, I have not time now.

5. Are there many organists in the United States? Yes; and in New York, principally, there are a great many excellent organists and pianists.

6. Do you like that man's manner of speaking? No, I do not; he is too much of a* purist.

7. Is your brother studying natural history? I cannot tell you

* English words in italics not to be translated into Spanish.

† Ya sean.

whether (si) he is studying it or not; but I know he has just bought the complete works of Buffon.

8. Who is Buffon? A celebrated French naturalist.

9. What did that man do that was taken to prison this morning? They say he was arrested (arrestar) for cruelty to animals.

10. Will he be punished for it? Of course; transgressors of that kind are rarely let off unpunished (pardoned).

11. What is the matter with Alexander? A dog bit him in the hand.

12. Come here, Alexander; show me your hand. Is this the one? No, it is the other.

13. Does it pain you much? It was very sore (pained) when I got bitten, but now it is less painful.

14. I have always told you how necessary it is to take care with dogs. I know that; and I shall do so in future.

15. Does your new watch go well? Not very well; it stops (itself) three or four times a day.

16. Is your son getting on well in his studies? Pretty well; he has a great deal of capacity, and is fond of study.

17. Look here, Charles. What do you wish?

18. Count from one to a thousand in Spanish. Oh! I can do that with the greatest ease.

19. Well, let us see? One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten, eleven, twelve, thirteen, fourteen, fifteen, sixteen, seventeen, eighteen, nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, thirty, forty, fifty, sixty, seventy, eighty, ninety, a hundred, a hundred and one, two hundred, three hundred, four hundred, five hundred, six hundred, seven hundred, eight hundred, nine hundred, a thousand.

20. How do they write that last word in Spanish? I do not remember.

21. What is that? you do not remember! Did you not learn in the lesson on pronunciation, at the beginning of the grammar, that in Spanish every word is written just as it is pronounced? Oh, yes, now I remember.

22. Tell me, if you please, Mr. R., is French as easy to pronounce as Spanish? They say it is much more difficult, on the contrary.

23. But it is not impossible to learn French pronunciation? I did not say that; I only said that they say it is more difficult than Spanish pronunciation.

24. How do I pronounce? Very well; but, when reading or speaking, take a little more care with the z.

25. Please to pronounce the name of that letter again (to return to pronounce)? With the greatest pleasure; it is called z.

26. What other letter (letra) is pronounced like (the) z? C, when it comes (finds itself) before an e or an i.

COMPOSITION.

Deseo que esté estudiando su leccion.	I wish that he may be studying his lesson.
Creo que la está estudiando.	I think he is studying it.
¿ Piensa V. que tiene razon ?	Do you think he is right ?
No pienso que la tenga.	I do not think he is.
✓ No lo creeré aunque me lo digan mil.	I will not believe it though a thousand tell it to me.
Lo creo aunque él lo niega.	I believe it, although he denies it.
Dudo que venga hoy.	I doubt whether he will come to-day.
✓ Dudo que haya venido.	I doubt his having come.
Dado caso que V. no me encuentre en casa, espéreme V. hasta que venga.	In case you should not find me at home, wait for me till I come.
Así lo haré con tal que V. me prometa volver pronto.	I will do so, on condition that you promise me to come back soon (or quickly).
✓ Volveré tan pronto como pueda.	I shall return as soon as I can.
Temo que no haya recibido mi carta.	I fear he has not received my letter.
¡ Ojalá no la reciba ! pero yo temo que la recibirá.	God grant that he may not receive it ! but I fear he will (receive it).
✓ A ménos que V. venga primero á verme, yo no ire á verlo á V.	Unless you come first to see me, I will not go to see you.
✓ Puesto que él haya venido, ¿ le hablará V. ?	Supposing that he has come, will you speak to him ?
Aunque haya venido no le hablaré ántes que él me hable.	Although he may have come I will not speak to him before he speaks to me.

EXPLANATION.

179. ATENDER, to attend, and all the verbs conjugated like it, take an i before the last e of the radical letters, in the same tenses and persons as the verb acertar, and the same tense in which acostar and mover change the o into ue; i. e., in the first, second and third persons singular, and third plural of the present indicative, the present subjunctive, and the imperative. (See, at page 394, this verb and those conjugated like it.)

180. SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD.—Unlike the indicative, this mood cannot of itself express an action or mode of being in such a manner as to form complete sense; but its signification is determined by another verb, to which it is subordinate, as its name indicates,* and by which it is governed, usually with the help of a conjunction, such as que, aunque, or a conjunctive expression, such as á fin de que, con tal que, &c.

As none of the moods of the English verb correspond exactly to the Spanish subjunctive; and as the tenses of the latter are often employed to express, in the Castilian language, ideas which, in English, are conveyed by those of the indicative or the potential, and, not unfrequently, by the infinitive, learners experience much difficulty in determining when the subjunctive is to be used. Were we to give all the rules necessary for the correct application of this mood, a whole volume might be filled; we shall, however, give here those most likely to guide the student in all ordinary cases.

181. The subordinate verb is put in the subjunctive when the leading verb means admiration, wish, will, desire, consent, prohibition, hinderance, necessity, command, doubt, regret, joy, usefulness, contentment, hope, fear, surprise, ignorance, preference, negation, permission, sorrow, &c.

The subjunctive mood is here required because we are not positive that what we wish, command, &c., will be accomplished; but the same verb which governs the subordinate one in any of the tenses of the subjunctive, when the accomplishment of the action is doubtful, governs it in any of those of the indicative when the action is regarded as certain to take place; as,

Déselo V. á los que }
hayan venido. } Doubtful.

Déselo V. á los cuatro } que han venido. } Certain.

Give it to those who (may) have come.

Give it to the four who have (or are)
 come.

In the first example, the verb is put in the subjunctive, be-

* Subjunctive, something joined, in a subordinate manner, to what has already been said cause the speaker is not positive how many have come, or whether any have as yet come. In the second, the indicative is employed, because the speaker is certain of the arrival of the persons alluded to, and also of their number.

182. There are in Spanish certain conjunctions which require the subjunctive mood after them, on account of the indefinite and uncertain meaning which they commonly have. Some of them, however, it will be seen, occasionally occur with a positive signification, and may, in that case, be used with the indicative after them; as,

No lo creeré aunque me lo digan mil.	} Contingent.	I will not believe it though a thousand tell it to me.
Lo creo aunque él me lo niega.

183. Finally, there are other parts of speech, and even whole phrases, which, on account of their indeterminate and doubtful, or contingent, meaning, require the subjunctive after them.

184. THE PRESENT TENSE OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE marks a contingent action as going on at the present moment, or to take place at some future time; as,

Dudo que venga. | I doubt whether he will come.

N. B.—Another use of this tense has been already noticed when treating of the imperative. (See Lesson XXXV.)

185. THE PERFECT TENSE expresses a doubtful or contingent action or event, as having been completed some time past, or that will have taken place before the completion of another future action or event; as,

Dudo que haya venido.		I doubt whether he has come.
Yo le daré su libro cuando él me haya dado el mio.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Espera V. que llegue hoy el vapor de Europa? Creo que ha llegado esta mañana.

2. Yo dudo que haya llegado todavía. ¿Quiere V. enviar su criado á preguntar si ha llegado el vapor? Con mucho gusto, porque yo tambien deseo tener noticias de Europa.

3. ¿Cree V. que llegará un día en que podamos ir á Europa en globos aereostáticos? Mucho me alegraré que llegue ese dia, pero creo que no lo verémos nosotros, porque es muy difícil, y quizá imposible, el hallar la direccion de los globos.

4. ¿Suben muy alto los globos? No creo que suban á mas de dos ó tres mil piés, pero si se quiere pueden subir hasta la altura de quince ó diez y seis mil piés.

5. Dado caso que llegue hoy el vapor; ¿espera V. á su amigo? Por supuesto que sí, puesto que me escribe que llegará en este mismo vapor.

6. Ojalá llegue, pero temo mucho que haya tomado otro vapor y que no llegue hasta la semana próxima.

7. ¿Duda V. que haya estudiado su leccion? Dudo que la haya estudiado, porque es muy holgazan.

8. A ménos que V. estudie bien las lecciones y haga con mucho cuidado los ejercicios de la gramática, no aprenderá V. el español.

9. Sí, pero yo creia que se podia aprender una lengua con la práctica solamente.—Así es; pero entónces se necesita practicar todos los dias con quien la hable muy bien.

10. ¿En cuánto tiempo piensa V. que hablaré yo el español? V. lo hablará cuando sepa bien todas las lecciones de la gramática, y haya practicado y escrito los ejercicios.

11. Y despues que haya aprendido toda la gramática, practicado, y escrito los ejercicios, ¿hablaré perfectamente el español? No, señor; pero hablará V. bastante correctamente para llevar una conversacion, escribir una correspondencia, y poder hacer negocios en esta lengua.

12. Yo pensaba que el español era una lengua muy fácil.—Verdaderamente lo es para aprender lo que acabo de decirle á V.; pero para hablarlo perfectamente como V. quiere, todas las lenguas son difíciles.

13. Y si V. no lo cree, hágame el favor de decirme si habla V. su propia lengua y la escribe perfectamente.—Yo confieso que todavía tengo algo que aprender en el inglés.

14. Créame V., amigo mio, el estudio de una lengua no es una friolera.—Creo que tiene V. mucha razon; pero hay muchos que quieren aprenderlo todo y muy pocos que quieren estudiar.

15. ¿Me promete V. venir á verme cuando venga á la ciudad? Aunque venga á la ciudad no podré venir á ver á V. á ménos que acabe temprano mis negocios.

16. ¿Sabe V. hacer frases (sentences) en español con todos los tiempos del modo indicativo? Sí, señor, y tambien con el imperativo, el presente y el perfecto de subjuntivo.

17. Muy bien, entónces hágame V. ocho frases con los ocho tiempos de indicativo, una con el imperativo y dos con el presente y perfecto de subjuntivo de cualquiera verbo.

18. ¿Está V. malo? ¿Ha estado V. hoy en el escritorio? ¿Estaba V. en su casa cuando su amigo fué á verle? ¿Había V. estado en el teatro ántes de ir al baile? ¿Estuvo V. ayer en la ciudad? ¿Qué hizo V. así que hubo estado algun tiempo en el hotel? ¿Estará V. en casa mañana todo el día? ¿Habrás escrito V. su ejercicio ántes de las cuatro? Estudia tus lecciones y escribe los ejercicios. No pierdas el tiempo. ¿Duda V. que yo sepa mi leccion? ¿Duda V. que yo la haya estudiado?

EXERCISE.

1. John, there is some one at the door; go and see who it is. Yes, sir.
2. Is Mr. Retortillo in? Yes, sir; who shall I say wishes to see him? Tell him that Mr. Perez wishes to speak to him a moment.

3. Mr. Perez wishes to see you a moment, sir. Let (que) him come up.

4. Oh! I am so glad to see you! How are you? how have you been? when did you return?—I arrived by the steamer Napoléon III., on Wednesday last.

5. Did you receive all the letters I wrote you during (durante) my absence? I received one in March, dated from Rome.

6. How did you spend the time? did you pass through Spain, as you had intended? No; while I was still in Paris, and preparing to set out for Madrid, I learned that my brother was very ill in Florence.

7. Indeed! I am very sorry to hear that. What was the matter with him (what had he)? A heavy (strong) cold, that he had caught on his way from Turin to Florence.

8. He had not, I believe, enjoyed very good health for a long time before leaving home? No, he has always been sickly; but principally for about a year before his voyage to Europe, he had colds almost every month, and I may say that he was never without headaches, day or night.

9. Had he an Italian physician to attend him? No, Dr. Perez, his family physician, who was travelling through Italy that same winter, just arrived at Florence the same day as my brother, and, hearing of his illness, went at once (inmediatamente) to see him.

10. How long was he ill? Nearly three weeks.

11. How? Are you going away so soon? Sit down and let us chat for half an hour about your family. Thank you; I cannot stay any longer now, but I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again to-morrow.

12. Where are your brothers? They are gone to see the balloon that is to go up this afternoon.

13. Indeed? I thought the balloon was not to go up until Saturday. It was not to have gone up before Saturday; but, on account of the fine weather, it is to go up this afternoon.

14. Will many persons go up in it? Very few, I think; people in general do not like to go to such a height.

15. Do you understand all that is said in Spanish? I understand more and more every day; but there are still many words and constructions that I do not know.

16. How long do you think it will be before I can understand all, and speak like a native? That is a hard question to answer; provided you study with attention, read a great deal, and practice with Spaniards, you will soon understand and speak with ease; but it is difficult for a foreigner to speak any language exactly like a native.

17. But do you believe it to be impossible? No, I do not say it is impossible, but it is very difficult; and, besides, I do not think it is necessary. All that is required (wanted) is correctness, and to be able to converse with ease.

18. Has John's servant lighted the fire? Not yet; John does not wish it to be lighted until he returns.

19. Well, Charles, have you found out* the meaning of the word you asked me for yesterday? No, sir; I have searched for it in all the dictionaries, and it is not to be found in any of them.

20. Why do you not ask your teacher? he can tell you at once. Yes, I know that very well; but I do not like to ask him so many questions: every day he comes I have a new one to ask him.

21. Do not stop at trifles of that kind; your teacher is very glad to be able to answer all questions, knowing that by that means (medio) you will learn better and more quickly.

22. I am very glad to see you defend him, for Alexander said he was not fond of answering questions, and did not like inquisitive persons.—Neither he does; but an inquisitive person is one thing, and a person who asks questions in order to gain knowledge is another.

EXPLANATION.

186. PRESENT PARTICIPLES.—Many Spanish verbs have, besides the past or passive participle, another called the present or active participle. Those formed from verbs of the first conjugation end in ante; as, amante, loving, lover; and those formed from the second and third end in iente or ente; as, asistente, assistant, obediente, obedient.

Participles of this kind cannot be formed from all verbs, and indeed those already in existence can only be regarded as mere verbal nouns or adjectives, inasmuch as, with the exception of a very limited number to be found in use, such as tocante, they do not follow the regimen of the verbs from which they are derived.

187. GERUNDS.—Instead of the present participle, as a part of the verb, the gerund is now employed, and it corresponds, therefore, exactly to the English progressive form in ing; as,

Entraron cantando.
Le encontraron leyendo.

They came in singing.
They found him reading.

188. The verb estar, as has already been mentioned, can be used with the gerund in Spanish, as in English the verb to be, with the present participle; as,

Yo estoy leyendo.		I am reading.
Ellos estan escribiendo.		They are writing.

189. The INFINITIVE is used in Spanish when in English the present participle, preceded by a preposition, is used; as,

Se fué sin verle.		He went away without seeing him.
Trabaja sin descansar.		He labors without resting.

190. The INFINITIVE is also used as a verbal noun or present participle, in which case it takes the masculine definite article before it; as,

El trabajar es bueno para la salud.		Work is good for the health.
El descansar despues de trabajar mucho es necesario.		Rest is necessary after much work.

191. The INFINITIVE is often rendered in English by the present participle, when in Spanish it is governed by another verb; as,

La vimos bailar.		We saw her dancing.

9. ¿Se arrepintió aquel hombre de su mala accion? No lo creo porque es un pícaro que vive de engañar.

10. ¿Qué profesion ú oficio tiene? No tiene ni oficio, ni profesion ninguna, es un paseante.

11. ¿De dónde viene V.? Vengo de comer.
12. ¿De dónde viene el viento? Viene del Sur, pero esta mañana venia del Este.
13. ¿Llueve en Nueva York cuando está el viento al Este? No, señor, generalmente llueve cuando el viento está al Oeste.
14. Alberto, ámate, sé estudioso y aprende de memoria la leccion para mañana. Papá, hace mucho calor y estoy cansado.
15. Bien, no te desanimes, descansa un poco y vuelve á trabajar despues.—V. quiere que yo esté trabajando continuamente.
16. No, querido, no quiero que trabajes demasiado; pero acuérdate que en este mundo no se logra nada sin trabajar.—Bien, papá, yo sé que V. tiene siempre razon, descansaré un poco ahora y despues acabaré de estudiar mi leccion.
17. ¿Se quedó mucho tiempo su amigo de V. en el concierto? Ambos nos quedamos hasta que se acabó.
18. ¿Tuvieron Vds. ayer exámenes en la escuela? Ayer tuvimos examen de gramática, ántes de ayer de historia, hoy de español y mañana lo tendremos de aritmética.
19. Manuel, levántate y vete á la escuela. ¿No sabes qué hora es? No, señor, yo pensaba que era temprano.
20. ¿Cómo, temprano? Ya son las siete y media y todavía tienes que lavarte y almorzar; ¡vamos, vamos, perezoso, arriba!—Alla voy papá, alla voy; y excúseme V., no sabia que era tan tarde.

EXERCISE.

1. Have you heard any more concerning the matter we were speaking of the other day? Nothing further; but I expect by to-morrow to be able to tell you something more.
2. When does your friend intend setting out* on his travel to the South? Probably by the latter end (últimos) of November, or beginning of December.
3. Is he to be long absent? He knows nothing as yet of how long he may be absent (ausente).
4. Concerning books to be read in order to perfect one's self in a language, what kind do you think the best? There is little difference between books to be used for that purpose (propósito).
5. Are there not some better than all the others? Not that I know of: each student will prefer those that treat of the subject he is fondest of.
6. But beginners cannot do so, for there are many books too difficult for them; is it not so? Certainly; I thought it needless to say that beginners must search for books easy to be read.

* Emprender.

7. It seems to me that newspaper reading is very useful; what do you think? Yes, and especially for those who take pleasure in studying the politics of the day.

8. Do you think I shall be able to understand Cervantes' great work after I have gone through (recorrer) the whole of the grammar? No, sir, you will not; you will have to read and study a great deal before you will be able to understand thoroughly the writings of any of the Spanish classic authors.

9. Who is that young man we met when walking, and to whom you spoke? He is a lawyer's clerk.

10. Does he make much money at that occupation? I cannot tell you; but he is undoubtedly a man of talent (talento).

11. Are the children gone to school yet, Louisa? All but Henry, who wishes not to go to-day, if you will consent to it.

12. I am afraid he is a very lazy boy; he is continually asking not to be sent to school.

13. How can he expect to learn if he neither goes to school nor studies at home? He wants to study at home; he says that if you consent to his staying at home, he will study anything you please.

14. Well, I shall give him something to learn by heart, and we shall see what he does.—Very well; but do not give him too much to do at the beginning, for he is easily disheartened.

15. I never require of any one more than he is able to do.—That is perfectly right.

16. Tell Charles and Albert that I want to see them, and that I have two books for them.—I need not go to tell them; here they are coming.

17. Come here, boys.—Well, papa, what do you want us for?

18. To give you these two books: one for each.—How beautiful! —Yes, that is true; but they are something more than beautiful: they are good.

19. What do they treat of? This one treats of man in life and of all living beings; and that one of man's state after death.

20. Now, I wish you to read a chapter each one in his book every day, after your lessons; and then you may go out and walk for an hour.—Thank you, sir; and we can assure you that we shall do so with the greatest pleasure.

21. Tell me, Albert, where did you buy that hat? That is one of those hats that were worn three summers ago. I know that very well, for I bought it at the time they were being worn, and I have worn it ever since.

22. This author seems to have travelled a great deal; have you read any of his travels? Yes, and I like them exceedingly (muchísimo).

23. I am going to read them, too, as soon as I have time. In what countries did he travel principally? He has been in nearly every country in the world, East, West, North and South.

24. What is the trade or profession of that person, just gone out? He is a physician; he has been in this city for now nearly five years. He is an excellent practitioner.

EXPLANATION.

192. PEDIR.—A paradigm will be found at the end of the grammar, showing the tenses and persons in which this verb and all those conjugated like it change the e of their root into i.

193. THE USUAL FORMS OF SALUTATIONS, among gentlemen in greeting each other, are the following :

Beso á V. la mano.	I kiss your hand.
Servidor de V., caballero.	Your servant, sir.
A la órden de V.	Your most obedient.
Vaya V. con Dios.	Adieu, or God be with you.
Tenga V. muy buenos dias.	Good day to you.

This last expression is used from the earliest part of the morning till two or three hours after meridian ; from which time till dark is used,

Buenas tardes. | Good afternoon ;

and from dark until the following morning, both on meeting and taking leave,

Buenas noches. | Good night.

All these expressions are always used in Spanish in the plural number.

In saluting a lady, the first expression most frequently made use of is :

A los piés de V., señora. | Ma'am, at your feet.

The lady's reply is :

Beso á V. la mano, caballero. | I kiss your hand, sir.

To inquire after another's health :

Cómo lo pasa V. ? or cómo está V. ? | How do you do ?

To answer :

Medianamente bien.		Middling well.
Perfectamente bien.		Perfectly well.
Para servir á V.		At your service.
Muy bien, gracias.		Very well, thank you.
Así así, or tal cual; y V., ¿ cómo lo pasa ?		So so; and how do you do ?
Sin novedad,		Always well.
A la disposicion de V.		At your service.

For introducing one person to another :

Señor Don M., tengo el honor de presentarle al Señor Don P. | Mr. M., I have the honor of introducing Mr. P. to you.

And the reply is :

Caballero, celebro la ocasion de conocer á V., or		Sir, I am happy to make your acquaintance.
Reconózcame V. por un servidor suyo.		I am entirely at your service.

For asking or requesting :

Tenga V. la bondad de darme.		Have the goodness to give me.
Hágame V. el favor de decirme.		Do me the favor to tell me.
Sírvase V., or tenga V. la complacencia de.		Have the kindness to.

And for returning thanks :

Mil gracias, or		A thousand thanks.
Muchísimas gracias.		Many thanks.
Se lo agradezco á V. infinito.		I am very much obliged to you.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Señor D. Juan, ¿ qué le pide á V. mi muchacho ? No me pide nada ; me pregunta qué hora es.
2. Yo creia que le pedia á V. dinero, porque él está siempre pidiendo centavos á todo el mundo.—Vaya! no le riña V.; á todos los niños les gusta que les den centavos.—Verdad es, pero á mi no me gusta que los míos los pidan.

3. Dígame V., D. Pedro, ¿quién es aquella señorita que está sentada en el sofá junto á su esposa de V.? Esa es una señorita muy amable, hija del Señor D. Luis Martínez, familia muy respetable á quien conocí hace muchos años.

4. ¿Quiere V. hacerme el favor de presentarme á ella? Con mucho gusto; pero le advierto que no se enamore de la Señorita Martínez, porque está para casarse.

5. Pierda V. cuidado; yo solo deseo conocerla para gozar de su discreta conversacion.—En hora buena venga V. y lo presentaré.

6. Señorita Martínez, tengo el honor de presentar á V. el Señor Don Juan McLeren.—Caballero, celebro la ocasion de conocer á V.—Señorita, reconózcame V. por su servidor.

7. ¡Ah! aquí viene Don Alberto y su esposa.—Sírvanse Vds. pasar adelante.

8. ¡Oh! Señor Don Pedro, me alegro mucho de encontrar á V. por acá. Mil gracias, señora, soy muy feliz en volver á ver á Vds.

9. A los piés de V., Señorita Martínez.—Beso á V. la mano, caballero.

10. Doña Margarita, ¿cómo está su familia de V.? Todos están bien, gracias, ¿y la de V.? Así así; los niños están muy buenos, pero mi esposa está delicada.

11. Sírbase V. tomar asiento, D. Alberto.—Lo siento mucho, pero no puedo; he prometido á mi madre volver pronto para cenar con ella.

12. Señoras, á los piés de Vds. Beso á Vds. la mano caballeros.

13. A la órden de V., D. Pedro. Vaya V. con Dios, D. Juan.

14. Tenga V. muy buenas noches, Doña Luisa, ¿cómo lo pasa V. hoy? Bien, para servir á V., ¿y V.? Sin novedad, á la disposicion de V.

15. Buenas noches, D. Pedro; hasta mañana. Hasta mañana, póngame V. á los piés de su señora.

16. Dé V. memorias de mi parte á toda la familia.—De su parte de V. lo estimarán mucho.

17. Adios, Manuel, ¿á dónde vas tan de prisa? Voy á acompañar á mi hermana al teatro, y desde allí iremos á la tertulia del Señor Marracé.

18. Celebraré que te diviertas mucho. Yo tambien pienso ir á la tertulia del Señor Marracé; con que, así no te digo adios, ya nos veremos.—Hasta la vista.—Hasta luego.

EXERCISE.

1. Good morning, Charles! Are you never going to get up?—Why, how late is it?

2. It is near nine o'clock; but it is nothing new to see you in bed at that hour. Ah! you are always making fun of me for lying so long in the morning, and I think I rise very early.

3. Up, then, and dress yourself as quickly as possible, I want you to come and breakfast with me.

4. Indeed! What good things are you going to give me? You will have a first-rate breakfast, with excellent wine, followed by delicious chocolate.

5. Tell me, my dear fellow: I can never remember the name of that young lady that I met at your sister's party; what is her name? Oh, no matter; my sister has invited* her to dine this evening, and if you wait for dinner with us I will introduce you to her.

6. Papa, here is my friend Mr. N., whom I have the pleasure to present to you. I am very happy to know you, sir.

7. Be kind enough to take a seat, and excuse me an instant; I shall be back immediately. Certainly, sir.

8. How are your old friends the Retortillos? They are very well, thank you; they are to be here this evening, so you can have a chat with them.

9. Why did you not introduce me long ago to your father? I am very sorry for not having done so, and my father has often scolded me for my neglect (negligencia).

10. Do you expect your uncle to-day? I do not; but if he comes, well and good, we shall be glad to see him.

11. Will you be good enough to give me that newspaper that is on the chair next the window? With the greatest pleasure.

12. What news is there this morning? I see that a new president (presidente) has been elected in one of the provinces of South America.

13. They might have chosen another occasion for electing him, I think. Ah, of course; they are at war with Spain.

14. How much do they ask for the house that is for sale in Fifteenth street? Father was saying yesterday that they are asking a very high price.

15. What do you understand by a high price? More than the house is worth (valer).

16. You seem very much dissatisfied at the price; have you any intention of buying the house? Yes, unless it has already been sold.

17. What news have you from Boston? is Miss Guevara married yet? I have not heard from the family for a month; but I suppose she must be married by this time; she was to be married in July.

18. Will you come and take a walk before dinner? Ah, you must excuse me; believe me, I am worn out with fatigue.

* Invitar.

19. What is that you said, Emanuel? I have told you once, and I shall not repeat it.

20. Do you know that young lady who is sitting on the sofa beside your niece? Yes; I will introduce you to her, if you wish.

21. When will you introduce me? Just now, on condition that you will not fall in love with her.

22. Well, will you promise? I will; you know I am going to get married, and I only wish to enjoy her charming * conversation.

23. Miss Veleta, allow me to have the honor of introducing to you Mr. Romelio. How do you do, sir? I am very happy to know you, miss.

24. Well, John, what do you think of her? That she is charming; and I am exceedingly obliged to you for introducing me.

25. Oh, Louisa! come and look at this beautiful dress.—Oh, how beautiful! How much did it cost?—Only a trifle of $120.

26. How much did you pay for that last coat of yours, Alexander?—Only eighty dollars.—Not very much at all (no se me hace caro).

COMPOSITION.

Obró segun su conciencia.	He acted according to his conscience.
Habla segun las circunstancias.	He speaks according to circumstances.
Lo cuento segun me lo han contado.	I tell it as it was told to me.
Entró ( or entraron) en la ciudad una tropa de soldados.	A troop of soldiers came into the city.
En el ejército de los Estados Unidos habla soldados de todas las naciones.	In the United States army there were soldiers of all nations.
El tercio ( or la tercera parte) de esos hombres no saben escribir.	The third of those men do not know how to write.
El gentío era tan grande que no pudimos pasar.	The crowd was so great that we could not pass.
Un par de caballos americanos vale por dos pares de caballos méjicanos.	A pair of American horses are worth two pairs of Mexican horses.

EXPLANATION.

194. CONducir, to conduct, and the verbs conjugated like it, take a z before the radical c in the terminations beginning with o or a. They also take the terminations je, jiste, jo, jimos, jisteis, jeron, &c., as may be seen in the conjugation of conducir, at the end of the grammar.

195. SEGUN.—We class this word among the prepositions, in conformity to the general practice among Spanish grammarians, and because it sometimes has the character of such; as,

Obró segun su conciencia.		He acted according to his conscience.
Habla segun las circunstancias.		He speaks according to circumstances.

Nevertheless, in other cases it is employed as an adverb; as,
Lo cuento segun me lo han contado. | I tell it as it was told to me.

196. Collective nouns, in the singular, generally agree with verbs in the singular number; but when the collective noun is taken in its most extended sense, custom allows the verb to be in the plural, for in such case the numbers concurring to form the whole, rather than the whole itself, are considered; as,

Entró ( or entraron) en la ciudad una tropa de soldados.		A troop of soldiers came into the city.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Produce España buena fruta? España produce excelente fruta de todas especies.

2. ¿Cuál es la mejor fruta de España? No sabré decir á V., porque toda es buena y hay centenares de especies, por ejemplo: las uvas son de las mejores del mundo; los melocotones y los melones son tambien muy buenos, sin contar con las naranjas, los higos, las castañas, las nueces y otra infinidad de frutas.

3. ¿Es España un país caro ó barato? Es demasiado barato. Con un peso se puede vivir mejor en España que en Nueva York con cuatro.

4. ¿Bien, entóncees porqué se vino V. á vivir en los Estados Unidos? Esa es ya otra cuestion. España no tiene que envidiar á ningun país del mundo en cuanto á su clima ni á sus producciones, ni ménos en cuanto al carácter de sus habitantes; pero bajo su gobierno no se goza de la misma libertad que se goza bajo el de la República de los Estados Unidos.

5. ¿Es esta la causa por la cuál V. se vino á residir en este país? Hay muchas otras. Por ejemplo, es verdad que en España no se conocen las hambres que hay en Irlanda, Alemania y otros países, y que, como he dicho, se vive mejor allí con un peso que aquí con cuatro; pero tambien es verdad, que en cualquiera profesion ú oficio es mas fácil ganar cuatro pesos en los Estados Unidos, que uno en España.

6. ¿Por tanto V. cree que los recursos de los Estados Unidos son

mas grandes que los de otros países? Por supuesto que sí. Aquí la nacion es grande; la libertad es grande; los montes, los rios, los lagos, los bosques son grandes; la naturaleza es grande; todo es grande; Nueva York es grande y los hombres mismos son tambien grandes; pero no mas grandes que los Españoles.

7. Hablando de esto, V. se olvida que en este ejercicio tiene V. que practicar con los nombres colectivos.—V. tiene razon, se me habian olvidado los nombres colectivos hablando de las dos naciones que mas amo en el mundo.

8. En cuanto á los nombres colectivos, su práctica es muy fácil y todo se reduce á decir: que en Nueva York hay multitud de gentes de diferentes naciones, millares de mujeres y cosas buenas y centenares de hombres y cosas malas.

9. ¿Pero y qué dice V. con respecto á los rebaños, ejércitos, etc.? Que en España hay rebaños de carneros merinos que, asi como su ejército, no tienen superiores en el mundo.

10. ¿Segun eso V. cree que todo lo mejor existe en España? Todo no, puesto que mis niños son Americanos.

11. Vamos, V. se burla.—No, señor, yo hablo de veras para practicar el español.

12. V. habla segun las circunstancias.—No, señor, yo hablo segun mi conciencia.

13. Acuérdesese V. que segun V. obre con los demás así obrarán ellos con V.—Muy bien y así como yo hable de ellos, así hablarán ellos de mí; pero yo no debo hablar de ellos mejor que de mí mismo.

14. ¿Quiere V. pagarme la mitad, el tercio ó el cuarto de lo que V. me debe? Ni lo uno ni lo otro, porque no tengo dinero ahora.

15. Deme V. á lo ménos un par de pesos.—Mañana le daré á V. una docena de pesos, pero hoy ni tan siquiera un centavo.

16. A Dios, Carlos, me canso de charlar y me voy á acostar. Buenas noches, Luis, no olvide V. de pagar sus deudas.

EXERCISE.

1. What is the name given to a large number of sheep together? It is called a flock.

2. What were you doing so long in the street? I went to see the reason of the great crowd at the corner of the next street.

3. Well, what was it? I could not see any thing; but it seems there was a fire in some of the streets near here.

4. You seem to be very much of a Spaniard; why did you ever come to the United States? I will not deny that I like the government; yet that is not the only reason I had for coming here.

5. Can you tell me some of the others? Undoubtedly; although living is higher here than there, business of all kinds is better, and it is easier to make money here, not only than in Spain, but than any other country in Europe.

6. I am very glad you think so; how long have you been here? It will be four years next September.

7. Will you be good enough to tell me something of your country? That will give me much pleasure.

8. You talk so much about Europe in general, and about Spain in particular, that I cannot help (no puedo ménos de) thinking you intend to go there. You are very right; it is very possible that my brother and I shall take a trip (viaje) to Spain next fall.

9. Well, in order to be able to enjoy yourselves as much as possible, it will be necessary for you to know how to speak the language perfectly before starting. That we intend to do.

10. Do you think all the soldiers in the army are Americans? No, nor even the half, and perhaps not even the third.

11. How many inhabitants are there in this city? I am not able to tell you exactly; but there cannot be much less than a million.

12. Which city in the world has the most inhabitants? London; it has about three millions of inhabitants.

13. Ah! you are jesting; or else you are an Englishman. I am not jesting, neither am I an Englishman, but a Frenchman; after London comes Paris.

14. Who is that book by? This is the celebrated Don Quixote (Quijote), by Cervántes.

15. In how many parts is it? Two, the first containing (contener) some fifty-two chapters, and the second about eighty-four.

16. What effect (efecto) does the reading of Don Quixote produce upon you? It makes me admire, and even leads me to envy the genius (genio) of its author.

17. Ah! I see; you say that to please me, because you know that I too admire the grand work of Cervantes. Pardon me, sir; I never speak according to circumstances, but always according to my conscience.

18. But, have you forgotten your promise already? What promise is that? I do not remember any.

19. No matter; I see you have completely forgotten it. I am very sorry.

20. What are the best fruits that Spain produces? Spain produces so many kinds of fruit, and so delicious, that it is almost impossible for me to tell them all: You have excellent grapes, melons, peaches, apples, oranges, and an infinity of others.

21. Have the soldiers that came into the city last night gone away yet? They marched this morning at daybreak.

22. How was our old friend Harnero when you last heard from him? He was in Boston, entirely without means, having been deceived by a bad man who took the whole of his money from him, and from whom he was unable to recover (recobrar) even the fourth part.

COMPOSITION.

¿Suele V. levantarse temprano ?	Do you usually rise early ?
Suelo levantarme tarde.	I usually rise late.
¿Solia V. ir á pasear á caballo el año pasado ?	Used you to ride on horseback last year ?
No, señor, solia pasear en coche.	No, sir, I used to ride in a carriage.
Plegue á Dios que tengamos pronto lo que deseamos.	God grant we may soon have what we desire.
Desde ahora prometo servirle á V. en lo que pueda.	From this moment I promise to serve you as far as I can.
El hombre ha obrado mal para con Dios y consigo mismo desde la creacion del mundo.	Man has acted wrong before God and to himself since the creation of the world.
Desde Nueva York á Filadelfia hay ochenta y ocho millas.	It is eighty-eight miles from New York to Philadelphia.
Yo juego contra tí.	I play against you (thee).
Esta casa está contra el Este.	This house faces the East.
La ciudad está sobre un monte.	The city is built upon a mountain (or hill).
La caridad es sobre todas las virtudes.	Charity is before all virtues.
Voy tras tí.	I go after you (thee).
Sufre la pena pues lo quieres.	Suffer the consequences (pain), since such is your (thy) will.
Tras la primavera viene el verano.	After spring comes summer.
Tras ser culpado, él es el que levanta el grito.	Notwithstanding he is guilty, it is he that raises the cry.
Leeré este libro pues V. me dice que es bueno.	I will read this book since you tell me it is good.

EXPLANATION.

197. DEFECTIVE VERBS are those which are not employed in all their tenses and persons. Podrir, to rot, placer, to please, and yacer, to lie, belong to this class, and are found used in the following tenses and persons :

PODRIR.

Imper. 2d person plural.	Podrid.	Rot.
Subjunc. imp. 3d person sing.	Podriria.	He would rot.
Infinit. Present.	Podrir.	To rot.
Particip.	Podrido.	Rotten.

PLACER.

Indicat. Pres. 3d person sing.	Place.	It pleases.
Imperfect.	Placia.	It did please.
Perfect ind.	Plugo.	It pleased.
Subjunc. Present.	Plegue.	It may please.
Imperfect.	} Pluguiera. } } Pluguiese. }	It might please.
Future imp.		Pluguiere.

These persons of the subjunctive mood in this verb are only used in the following expressions : plegue, or pluguiera, or pluguiese á Dios, would to God ; and si me pluguiere, if it should please me.

198. YACER.—No part of this verb is used except the third persons of the present indicative, yace and yacen, chiefly at the beginning of epitaphs.

199. SOLER is used only in the present and imperfect of the indicative mood. This verb has the peculiarity of never being employed except as a determining verb, governing the determined verb without the aid of any preposition, and always in the present infinitive ; as,

Suelo pasar temprano. | I usually go early to walk.

200. DESDE, from, points out the beginning of time or place ; as,

Desde la creacion del mundo. | From the creation of the world.
Desde Nueva York á Filadelfia. | From New York to Philadelphia.

For this reason it forms a part of several adverbial expressions which signify time or place ; as,

Desde ahora. | From this time.
Desde aquí. | From hence.

201. CONTRA is used in all cases as the English against.

202. SOBRE, upon, above, &c., serves to denote the superiority of things with respect to others, either by their material situation or by their excellence or power; as,

La ciudad está sobre un monte.		The city is on a mountain.
La caridad es sobre todas las virtudes.		Charity is above all virtues.

It has also the signification of además, moreover, or además de, besides; as,

Sobre ser reo convicto quiere que le premien.		Besides being a convicted criminal, he wishes to be rewarded.
--	--	---

It also signifies time; as,

Hablar sobre mesa.		To talk during dinner.
---------------------------	--	------------------------

Security; as,

Prestar sobre prendas.		To lend upon pledge.
-------------------------------	--	----------------------

203. TRAS, behind, after, &c., signifies the order in which some things follow others; as,

Voy tras tí.		I follow you.
Tras la primavera viene el verano.		After spring comes summer.

It also signifies besides; as,

Tras ser culpado, él es el que levanta el grito.		Besides being guilty, he remonstrates.
---	--	--

204. The conjunction PUES, since, is used to account for a proposition brought forward; as,

Leeré este libro pues V. me dice que es bueno.		I will read this book since you tell me it is good.
---	--	--

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Sobre qué quiere V. que hablemos hoy? No sé; de cualquiera cosa, con tal que practiquemos con los verbos defectivos y las preposiciones contra, desde, sobre y tras.

2. Que me place; pero dígame V., ¿cree V. que tenemos mucho que practicar con el verbo yacer? No, señor, puesto que es un verbo que solo sirve para ponerse en los epitafios.

3. Pues si V. gusta le harémos un epitafio y pasarémos á practicar con otro verbo que no sea tan triste.—Soy de su opinion de V., porque no me gustan las cosas tristes.

4. Helo aquí :

“Aquí yace el verbo yacer,
Otra cosa no sabiendo hacer.”

5. Ese epitafio me hace recordar á mi otro, oígalo V. :

“Aquí Fray Diego reposa,
Y jamas hizo otra cosa.”

6. Hombre, tenga V. caridad de mí y no me haga V. reir hablando de epitafios, que es cosa mas bien para hacer llorar que para hacer reir. ¿Suele V. tener siempre tan buen humor? No siempre; pero no se gana nada con estar triste.

7. En efecto, mas vale estar alegre que triste, pero no siempre se puede estar alegre, ¿y entónces que hace V.? Entónces mando á pasear al mal humor.

8. Eso es mas fácil de decir que de hacer; ¿quiere V. decirme como lo hace V.? Convengo con V.; pero cuando el hombre quiere verdaderamente una cosa la logra casi siempre.

9. Plegue á Dios que yo logre estar siempre contento puesto que estar contento es ser feliz. ¿Qué es lo que V. hace para estar siempre contento? Yo no le he dicho á V. que estoy siempre contento, pero procuro estarlo y así logro no estar triste.

10. ¿Cómo lo hace V.? Obro segun las circunstancias. Examino la causa de mi tristeza ó mal humor; si es mi falta me consuelo porque creo que Dios me castiga para que yo me corrija, y me haga mejor con la experiencia.

11. Bien, ¿y cuando V. es inocente y le sucede un infortunio? Entónces me consuelo tambien, porque creo que todo lo que Dios nos envia es para nuestro bien.

12. Entónces es V. filósofo. No, señor, mejor que eso; soy religioso.

13. ¿Tiene V. miedo de la muerte? No, señor, porque sé que todos hemos de morir, y que tras la muerte viene la vida eterna.

14. ¿Cuántos niños tiene V.? Cinco; dos niños y tres niñas.

15. ¿Cómo se llaman? El mayor de los niños se llama Alejandro y el menor Manuel.

16. ¿Y las niñas? Las niñas son Luisa, Carlota y Margarita.

17. ¿Cuanto tiempo hace que no ha estado V. en España? Hace veinte años que salí de España.

18. ¿Y no ha vuelto V.? No, señora, y creo que nunca volveré.

19. ¿Porqué? No porque no lo haya deseado, sino porque las circunstancias no me lo han permitido.

20. Porqué habla V. tanto de sí mismo en sus conversaciones, ¿no piensa V. que eso puede cansar á sus oyentes? Así es la verdad, señora; pero para mí es la materia de conversacion mas interesante que puedo encontrar.

EXERCISE.

1. James, do you know where Charlotte has gone to? I saw her going out, but I do not know where she has gone.

2. Can you not help your brother in his misfortune? you know he relies (contar) upon your aid. I shall do all in my power to serve him; but you know that is not much.

3. Margaret, go and call Charles; tell him he has played enough, and that I want him to attend to his music lessons. Why, he has been at his lessons for the last half hour!

4. Ah! that is another thing. Where is he then? Here he is, here.

5. Well, Charles, how are you getting on with your music? Very well, papa; but I think Jane will have to help me with my Spanish exercise.

6. My dear boy, always do your own exercises, then you will be sure they are well done. Oh, yes, I know; as they say: "Help yourself and Heaven will help you."

7. How beautiful that lady is! Yes; but, my dear sir, her accomplishments are much superior to her beauty.

8. I do not doubt it at all; but how do you know that? have you known her long? Long enough to find out her good qualities, which, in my opinion, are of more value than all the beauty in the world.

9. Have you found time yet to examine the books I put on your table the other day? I have, and the examination caused (produced) me a great deal of sadness.

10. How so? From the commencement, page after page, I found that the author has not the least experience of the world; and, besides, he contradicts toward the end what he has given as a general rule at the beginning of his work.

11. I am very much grieved (sorry) that such is your opinion. So am I; but you know it is better (worth more) to tell the truth, even though it should offend the author himself.

12. Can you read that epitaph? I believe it is in English. Yes; it says: "Here lies Pedro Gutiérrez."

13. Is that all it says? No, there is a great deal more; but I cannot read it.

14. Ah, indeed! I see; you do not read English as well as you thought. I do not; and I promise you that from this moment I will study it attentively until I know it thoroughly.

15. What is that you are smelling? The book that Charles has just bought.

16. What smell has it? It smells like new paper.

17. What was that man rewarded for? For having returned (devolver) five hundred dollars, which he found in the park, to the person that had lost them.

18. I am very glad that he has been rewarded; but virtue is always rewarded, sooner or later (tarde que temprano).

No le visitaré ántes de conocerle.	I shall not visit him before making his acquaintance.
Léjos de amarle le aborrece.	Far from loving him, he abhors him.

EXPLANATION.

205. CONJUNCTIONS.—The learner is already acquainted with the greater part of the conjunctions; but in this lesson they are again given, so that he may see how they are classified. Besides the conjunctions introduced in this lesson, there may be formed a variety of expressions which answer the same end as conjunctions ; as.

Como quiera que,		However ;
Fuera de que,		Besides ;

and a large number of others.

206. It would require too much space to specify all the conjunctions that govern verbs in a given mood ; more is to be learned from the teacher, and by constant practice in reading and conversation, than from all the rules that could be given.

207. The subjunctive should be used after the following conjunctive expressions : Dado que, granted that ; con tal que, provided that ; á ménos que, unless ; no sea que, lest, for fear ; ántes que, sin que, sea que, &c. ; as,

Dado que me escriba no le responderé.		Granted that he should write to me, I shall not answer him.
Con tal que él trabaje.		Provided that he works.
A ménos que me pague.		Unless he pays me.

208. Other expressions having de, instead of que, require the verb in the infinitive mood ; such as, á fin de, in order to ; á ménos de, unless, &c.

209. Finally, other compound conjunctions govern the indicative ; as, al instante que, as soon as ; de manera que, so that, &c.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Buenos dias, Don Cárlos.—Téngalos V. muy felices, Don Enrique ; al instante que lo divisé desde la ventana lo reconocí.

2. ¿Cómo está toda la familia? Todos buenos ; acaban de salir.

3. ¿De manera que está V. solo? Sí, señor, en lugar de salir quise quedarme á esperar á V. pues sabia que habia V. de venir.

4. ¿Quién se lo dijo á V.? A que no acierta V.—Verdaderamente no sé quién puede habérselo dicho á V.

5. Fué Helena, su hija de V., que acaba de salir á pasear con mi esposa y Margarita, mi hija.

6. Y nosotros, ¿qué harémos? Lo que V. guste.

7. Mi opinion es que juguemos una partida de ajedrez, que fumemos un cigarro, bebamos un vaso de vino de Carifieta, y vayamos despues á sorprender á las señoras al parque. ¿Está V. de acuerdo? Perfectisimamente.

8. Pues bien, manos á la obra; ¿juega V. mucho? Medianamente; pero como no lo practico temo que me gane V.

9. ¡Qué hombre! si hace lo ménos dos años que no he jugado, fuera de que jamás he sido muy fuerte.

10. ¿Cuáles quiere V., las negras ó las blancas? Cualesquiera, de todos modos he de perder.

11. Jaque á la reina Don Enrique.—Pues creo que está perdida.—Sí, señor, no puede huir—vaya pues le doy á V. la partida, puesto que sin reina es casi imposible ganar.

12. ¿Quiere V. que en lugar de jugar mas vayamos á ver las señoras? Sí, señor, luego que bebamos del vino de Cariñena.

13. ¡Hombre, sí, lo habia olvidado! aquí está, y aquí tiene V. tambien pipas, cigarros de la Habana, cigarrillos de la marca de la Honradez y tabaco de Virginia para la pipa; ¿qué prefiere V.? Yo prefiero los cigarrillos.

14. A su salud de V., Don Cárlos.—A la de V., Don Enrique.—¡Cás-pita! ¡qué bien sabe el de Cariñena!

15. ¿Le gusta á V.? ¡Qué si me gusta! desde que vivo en Nueva York no he probado vino mejor.

16. Puesto que le gusta ¿porqué no repite V.? Por temor de que me haga daño, no suelo beber mucho, y temo que me ponga un poco alegre.

17. Aquí tiene V. fuego; ¿qué tal le gustan á V. esos cigarrillos? Excelentes.

18. Señor; ¿Qué quieres Juan? Los caballos estan listos.

19. ¡Qué! ¿Vamos á caballo? Sí, señor, las señoras han ido en coche.

20. ¿Qué camino tomarémos? Irémos por la Quinta avenida, que es la calle mas hermosa de Nueva York.

21. Tenemos buen tiempo, D. Enrique.—Hermosísimo, y con esto, buena salud, amigos fieles, una larga familia y una buena fortuna, ¿qué mas podemos desear?

22. Tiene V. razon, Don Cárlos, por mi parte soy feliz y solo deseo que Dios me de una larga vida para ver á todos mis hijos bien establecidos.—Así sea, Don Enrique, lo deseo para entrámbos.

EXERCISE.

1. Does your brother never go out on horseback? Sometimes; but not very often.

2. What can be the reason of that? I thought he was very fond of horses and riding on horseback. So he is; but he does not often take exercise of that kind for fear of falling.

3. How does he go to the Central Park, in that case? Why, in a carriage of course.

4. Go away! What carriage does he go in? In his cousin's, of course, for want of one of his own.

5. Who will give me a cigarette? No one here; there is nobody here that smokes any thing but cigars or pipes.

6. Too bad! May I ask why none of you use the cigarette? Certainly; and we shall tell you with the greatest pleasure: at one time we all smoked what you call "cigarette," but what we call a "poor man's cigar," until one day Henry came (you know Henry is something of a doctor), and, with his head erect, said with a voice of thunder: "What's this? smoking cigarettes?"

7. Well! what more did he say? "Don't you know that what you are smoking there is nothing more than paper? You will all be sick!"

8. What did you do then? We were at first surprised; but very soon we promised never to smoke such a thing again, for it was good for nothing, and only tasted of paper.

9. Be that as you please; for my part I shall always prefer the cigarette to the cigar (tabaco). Perhaps you are right; each one has his taste, and so we shall say no more about it.

10. What news do you bring from Boston? Some good, and some bad: my cousin has been very fortunate in that affair I spoke of to you; but he met last week with an unfortunate accident.

11. Ah! how was that? He was out riding in company with some friends, and in returning home he fell off his horse.

12. I am very sorry indeed; and I hope he may soon be able to attend to his business.

13. What do you think of playing a game of chess? I am ready to play one, if you wish; but you will not find my game very good.

14. Why do you not practise more than you do? I have practised very much, with a desire to become perfect in the game, but have not been able to succeed.

Señores, manos á la obra, no sea que no podamos acabar á tiempo.	To work, gentlemen, for fear we should not be able to finish in time.
De todos modos creo que no lo conse- guirémos.	At all events, I do not think we shall succeed.

EXPLANATION.

210. IMPERFECT AND PLUPERFECT OF THE SUBJUNCTIVE.—

Although it has been deemed expedient, in the example of the conjugation of verbs in the subjunctive mood, to give but one English equivalent for each of the three terminations ria, ra, se, it is not to be inferred therefrom that they may be used indiscriminately. Indeed, the correct application of each of these terminations presents as much difficulty to the student of Spanish as does that of the English signs might, could, should, would to the foreigner learning English. The following rules will, however, serve as a guide in all ordinary cases, and enable the pupil to surmount not a few of the most serious obstacles to the right use of the terminations in question.

1st. When the sentence begins without a conditional conjunction, the verb may take either the first or the second termination (ria or ra); as,

Bueno seria (or fucra ) no descuidarse.	It would be well not to be off one's guard.
Convendria (or conviniera ) que se hiciese la paz.	It would be well if peace were made.

2d. In sentences beginning with si, sino, aunque, bien que, dado que, &c., or with an interjection expressive of desire, either the second or third termination may be employed (ra or se); and were it necessary to repeat the same tense in the second clause of the sentence (in order to show what would take place as the result of the condition expressed in the first clause), the first termination (ria) may then be used; as,

Aunque dijeras (or dijeses ) la verdad, no te creeria.	Though thou toldest (or wert to tell) the truth, he would not believe thee.

3d. When the imperfect of the subjunctive is preceded by a verb in the preterit definite of the indicative, signifying pen sar, to think, decir, to say, or such like, any of the terminations may be used ; but it must be observed that the idea conveyed will be different, according to the termination employed ; as,

Pensé que estudiara V., or que estudiaria V.	I thought you would study.
No creí que estudiase V.(or estudiara) V.	I did not think you were studying, or I did not think you would study,
Juzgué que estudiaria (or estudiara) V.	I judged you would study.
Dije que leyera (or leeria) V.	I said you would read.
Dijo que leyese (or leyera) V.	He said you were to read.
Dijimos que leyera (or leyese).	We said he was to read.

4th. But if this tense be preceded or governed by a verb in any of the past tenses of the indicative, signifying desear, to desire, querer, to wish, or by any verb of such nature, then the second termination (ra) or the third (se) must be used, and never the first (ria) ; as,

Deseaba que ganara (or ganase) V.	He was desirous that you might win.
Quiso que V. se casara (or casase).	He wished you to get married.

A glance at the foregoing rules and examples will suffice in order to observe that the first and second terminations (ria and ra) may be used one for the other, without any change in the sense of the phrase ; that the second may also be used for the third (that is to say, ra for se), but that the first and third are of an entirely different meaning, and, in consequence, can never be substituted one for the other. Another peculiarity of the first (ria) is, that it can never be preceded by a conditional conjunction, while the second and third may.

5th. When, in translating into Spanish, whether is to be translated by si, would or should must be rendered by the termination ria ; as,

No sé si iria.	I do not know whether he would go.
----------------	------------------------------------

6th. The inverted forms had I, had he, &c., meaning if I had, if he had, &c., are always to be turned into Spanish by either of the terminations ra or se, preceded by the conjunction si ; as,

Si tuviera (or tuviese) buenos libros, leeria.	Had I (or if I had) good books, I would read.
--	---

7th. Were, used in the place of would be, may be translated by either ria or ra, never by se; as,

Seria (or fuera ) imprudencia ir con este tiempo.	It were imprudent to go in this weather.
--	---

211. The English auxiliaries, may, might, can, could, will, would and should are sometimes to be translated into Spanish by principal verbs of the same meaning, and not merely rendered by corresponding terminations; as,

No quiso ir. V. puede hablar, pero yo no lo puedo .	He would not go. You may (or can) speak, but I cannot.
---	---

In the first example we see, that by would not is conveyed the idea of the want of will or desire on the part of the person alluded to, and not the idea of that person's going or not going, as dependent on a condition. Had the latter been the sense intended, we should then have rendered would by the termination ria of the verb ir, to go; thus,

Él no iria .	He would not go;

for, in that case, the object would have been simply to predict that he would not go, as dependent on some such condition as, if I did not go too, si yo no fuese tambien. Hence, the closest attention is required, in order to find the real meaning of the auxiliaries above mentioned, before attempting to translate them.

212. The imperfect of the subjunctive denotes a contingent action that took place some time ago, or that is taking place at the present time, or that will take place after the completion of the action expressed by the determining verb.

213. The pluperfect represents a contingent action as completed before some period of time already past, or before some other action which is now also completed, or which would be now completed had it taken place.

The closest attention to the foregoing remarks is essential, in order to avoid the improper substitution of the tenses of the indicative for those of the subjunctive, which all foreigners, and especially the English, are most liable to commit.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Duda V. que se haga la paz este verano? Convendría (or conviniera) que se hiciese la paz; pero temo que no se haga.

2. ¿Iria V. á Europa si tuviera (or tuviese) tiempo? No iria aunque tuviera tiempo, si no tuviese dinero.

3. ¡Ojalá! tuviera V. (or tuviese) mucho dinero, porque entónces me prestaria V. alguno; ¿no es así? Si tuviera mucho le prestaria á V. alguno; pero con la condicion de que me lo devolviese pronto.

4. ¿Teme V. acaso que no se lo devolviera? Todo pudiera suceder, amigo mío.

5. Si V. me hubiera (or hubiese) prestado algo, y yo no se lo hubiese (or hubiera) devuelto, V. tendria razon en desconfiar.—Todo eso está muy bien; pero si, en lugar de ser V., fuera yo el que necesitara dinero, y V.
el que lo tuviera, ¿me lo prestaria? Por supuesto que sí.

6. Pues con todo eso yo no sé si V. lo haria.—¿Porqué piensa V. tan mal de mí?

7. ¿Ha olvidado V. ya que el año pasado, por Navidad, fuí á pedirle á
V. cien pesos y me los negó V.? Mal pudiera yo prestárselos á V.
cuando yo no los tenia; pero esté V. seguro, Don José, que yo hubiera tenido un gran placer en habérselos prestado á V. si los hubiera (or hubiese) tenido.

8. ¿Si V. supiera usar correctamente los tiempos y modos del verbo, sabria V. hablar español? Sí, señor, con los conocimientos que ya tengo de las demás partes de la oracion, creo que hablaria bien el español si supiera usar bien los tiempos y modos del verbo.

9. ¿Qué es lo mas importante al aprender una lengua? El conocimiento de todo lo que hace relacion al verbo.

10. ¿Porqué cree V. que el verbo es lo mas importante? Porque sin los verbos no se puede formar una sola sentencia.

11. ¿Luego, segun eso, bastará aprender la conjugacion de los verbos regulares é irregulares para hablar una lengua? No, señor, si uno sabe conjugiar los verbos como regularmente se conjugan en las gramáticas;
pero sí sabiéndolos conjugiar como se debe.

12. ¿Pues qué, hay algun otro modo de conjugiar los verbos? Los verbos deben conjugarse formando sentencias completas en todos sus modos y tiempos.

13. ¿Qué ventajas resultan de esto? Las ventajas son obvias, pues formando sentencias completas con cada tiempo y modo se aprende á dis-tinguir estos tiempos y modos, acabando por usarlos correctamente.

14. ¿Y cree V. que hablaria bien el español si pudiese hacer sentencias en todos los tiempos y modos del verbo? Sin duda alguna, una vez que

V. forme estas sentencias con prontitud y sin cometer faltas, hablará V. español.

15. Pues manos á la obra, ¿quiere V. que haga algunas en el modo indicativo? No, señor, en las lecciones pasadas ha practicado V. bastante con ese modo, haga V. algunas ahora con el modo subjuntivo.

16. Presente: ¿Desea V. que yo aprenda el español? ¿Es correcta? Perfectamente; adelante.

17. Perfecto de subjuntivo: Temo que la guerra no haya acabado en Europa. ¿Está bien? Sí, señor, está muy bien; pero no necesita V. preguntarme á cada sentencia que haga, si está correcta, porque yo tendré buen cuidado de advertírselo á V. cuando no sea así.

18. Pluscuamperfecto: Si yo hubiera creído que esto le molestaba á V. no se lo habria preguntado.—Esto no me molesta de ningun modo y espero que V. no se moleste tampoco por lo que yo acabo de decir.

19. Imperfecto: ¿Seria suficiente hacer una frase en cada tiempo? Seria suficiente si cada tiempo se usase en un solo caso; pero como hay muchos y muy varios, convendria practicar en todos tanto como fuese posible.

EXERCISE.

1. Before going out, Henry, I wish to give you a piece of advice. Well, go on!

2. What is that advice* you have to give me? Hold your tongue, and hear what I have to tell you.

3. Did you warn your cousin not to lend his carriage to that young man who asked him for it? Yes, but he said he would do so, and that he did not distrust that young man at all.

4. Do you know how to conjugate all the verbs in the Spanish language now? I am not sure; my memory is not very good; and so I always like to look at my grammar, for fear of making (committing) mistakes.

5. Can you tell me how many conjugations of regular verbs there are in Spanish? Yes, sir, there are three.

6. When you see a new verb, how do you know to what conjugation it belongs? By the termination of the infinitive mood.

7. Can you tell me to what conjugation the verb comprar belongs? Certainly; it belongs to the first.

8. How do you know that? I see the characteristic termination of the first conjugation, which is ar.

9. And of which conjugation is entender? The second; its termination being er.

10. Very well. Now, if I say existió, can you tell me all about that verb? Yes, sir, it is a regular verb, third person singular, of the preterit definite tense of the indicative mood; it belongs to the third conjugation, its infinitive being existir.

11. Are there in Spanish no other conjugations than those which you have just told me? Yes, very many. Those I have mentioned (mencionar) already are the three regular ones.

12. What do you understand by "regular verbs"? Regular verbs are those which are conjugated in all their moods and tenses exactly like the models (modelos) given in different parts of the grammar.

13. And "irregular verbs," what are they? Those whose conjugation is different from the models.

14. If you could speak Spanish as well as English, do you think you would prefer it to your own language? I would like to be able to speak it as well; but there is no language in the world that I would prefer to my own.

15. If I were to lend you this phrase book would you return it to me next week? I would if you wanted it, and that I promised to return it to you at that time.

COMPOSITION.

Lo aprendí á mi costa.	I learned it to my cost.
Antes no le habia comprendido á V., ahora ya le veo venir.	I did not understand you before, but now I see what you are at.
Él me dió la noticia de sopeton.	He gave me the news unexpectedly.

¡ Por Dios ! D. Francisco, no hable V. de eso.	For Heaven's sake ! Mr. Francis, do not speak of that.
¿ Conoce V. á aquel hombron ?	Do you know that big man ?
Sí, señor, es el marido de mi vecinita Mariquita.	Yes, sir, he is the husband of my little neighbor Mary.
V. me sorprende. ¿ Es posible que sea aquel hombronazo el marido de esa mujercita !	You surprise me. Is it possible that that enormous man is that little woman's husband !
¿ Es ese hombre cojo ?	Is that man lame ?
Sí, señor ; en la última guerra recibí un pistoletazo en una pierna.	Yes, sir ; in the last war he received a pistol shot in one of his legs.
¿ Ha matado V. alguna vez á alguno ?	Did you ever kill any one ?
Sí, señor, el año pasado maté de un garrotazo al perro de mi vecino, porque no me dejaba dormir, aullando todita la noche.	Yes, sir ; last year I killed my neighbor's dog with a bludgeon, for he would not let me sleep, howling the whole night over.
Ese hombre es un picaronazo, que no hace sino beber y no atiende á las necesidades de su familia.	That man is a great rascal who does nothing but drink, and does not attend to the wants of his family.

Mi pobrecico hijo está muy malo.	My poor little son is very sick.
Pépe, ¿ has visto mi caballito ?	Joe, have you seen my little horse ?
Sí ; pero yo en tu lugar, Paco, le llamaría caballo, porque creo que no merece el nombre de caballito.	I did ; but if I were you, Frank, I would call it a nag, for I think it is not worthy the name of (little) horse.
Pépe vino callandito.	Joe came in softly.
Mi amigo está apuradillo.	My friend is a little embarrassed.
Esa niña está muertecita de frio.	That little girl is almost dead with cold.
Tu casa está lejitos.	Your house is pretty far away.
Él no es poeta, sino poetastro.	He is no poet, but a poetaster.

EXPLANATION.

214. AUGMENTATIVE AND DIMINUTIVE NOUNS are those derivatives which serve to augment or diminish the signification of their primitives ; not only in regard to size, but also to esteem, character, dignity, importance, &c.

They are formed by adding various terminations to the primitive nouns, dropping generally the vowel, if it end in one.

The terminations which are used are very numerous ; but those most frequently adopted are azo, on, ote for the augmentive masculine, and aza, ona, ota for the augmentive feminine nouns. These terminations are equivalent in their meaning to the English words big, large, stout, tall, and such like ; as,

PRIMITIVES.		DERIVATIVES.
Hombre.	A man.	Hombroñ, hom-	A tall, or large,
Mujer.	A woman.	brazo, hombrote.	man.
		Mujerona, mu-	A tall, or large,
		jeraza, mujerota.	woman.

But the nouns which have those terminations are not always augmentatives, since the nouns pistoletazo, pistol shot ; cañonazo, cannon shot ; garrotazo, blow of a bludgeon, do not augment the signification of their primitives, pistola, cañon and garrote, and consequently are not augmentatives.

Familiar use has introduced many other augmentative and diminutive terminations ; as,

Hombroñazo.	A very large man.
Picaronazo.	A very great rascal.

The terminations most used as diminutives are in, illo, ito, ico, ete, uelo or ejo, for the masculine ; the feminine are formed by adding a to the termination in, and by changing the final vowel of the others into a.

Many of the diminutive terminations may acquire a still further diminutive signification, by adding other terminations to them ; thus,

Chico.	Small.
Chiquito.	Very small.
Chiquirritito.	Very, very small.

The manner of applying these terminations, as much for their different meanings as for their various orthographical accidents, admits of so much variety that practice seems the only means of acquiring the proper use of them ; as,

Mi hermanito.	My dear little brother.
Un hombrecito.	A dear little man.
Un viejecito.	A dear little old man.
Él es un picarillo.	He is a dear little rogue.
Carlota.	Dear little Charlotte.

Una pobre viejecita.	A poor dear little old woman.
Ella es una coquetilla.	She is a dear little coquette.
Mi probrecico hijo (or mi pobre hijito).	My poor little son.
Un caballo.	A miserable little horse, a nag.
Un pobrete.	A poor useless creature.
Un ladronzuelo.	A petty young thief.
Un reyezuelo.	A petty king.

215. Besides the terminations mentioned, there are many others which may be called irregular, inasmuch as they can be affixed to certain nouns only, among them the most irregular are those of persons; as,

Francisco, Paco, etc.	Francis, Frank.
Concepcion, Concha, etc.	(No equivalent in English.)
José, Pepe, etc.	Joseph, Joe.
María, Mariquita, etc.	Mary.

216. Although the diminutives proceed in general from substantive nouns, as we see by the preceding examples, they are also formed, in familiar style, from adjectives, participles, gerunds, and even from adverbs; thus we not unfrequently say:

Revoltosillo es el muchacho.	The boy is rather turbulent.
Muertecito de frío.	Half dead with cold.
Todito el día.	The whole day over.
Pan calentito.	Warm bread (slightly warm).
Apuradillo estuvo.	He was somewhat embarrassed.
Vino callandito.	He came softly.
Lejitos está tu casa.	Your house is pretty far away.

217. Primitive words, ending of themselves in any diminutive termination (such as cepillo, brush; abanico, fan; espejo, looking-glass, &c.), cannot take an additional termination similar to their own, without producing a disagreeable sound, which ought always to be avoided. Words ending in ito or ita are excepted.

The same termination may often serve to express affection, pity, contempt, &c., being in this respect like the interjections, and it is consequently very difficult to classify them. Very often their real meaning can be distinguished only by the nature of the conversation and the intonation of the voice. They are, nevertheless, not to be used too profusely, because when they come too close together they render the discourse monotonous, in consequence of the similarity existing between them.

218. There are in Spanish other derivatives, formed more or less at fancy, and which are not augmentatives or diminutives, although they may appear to be such; these might be called depreciatives (despreciativos), because there is always in them something of censure, maliciousness, or mockery; as,

Casa, casuca.	House, miserable-looking house.
Poeta, poetastro.	Poet, poetaster.
Caldo, calducho.	Broth, poor broth.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Tiene V. lástima de aquel pobrete? No tengo lástima de él, porque es un ladronzuelo.

2. ¿Le ha robado á V. algo? No, señor, él sabe muy bien que si se atreviese á robarme yo lo mataría de un pistoletazo.

3. Y ¿porqué no de un garrotazo, ó un cañonazo? ¿Porqué? No sé porqué, probablemente he empleado la palabra pistoletazo porque tengo una pistola y no tengo ni garrote, ni cañon.

4. No, señor, esa no es la razon; ¿quiere V. que yo se la diga? Bien, veamos.

5. V. no tiene valor para matar una mosca cuanto mas á un hombre; pero V. queria practicar con las palabras matar y pistoletazo y esta es la sola razon por la cual V. iba á cometer un homicidio.

6. Vaya, Don Francisco, V. es poeta, hombre de ingenio y de buen humor y quiere divertirse á costa mia, ¿no es verdad? Ya lo veo á V. venir, V. quiere hacerme decir que no soy poeta sino poetastro introduciendo esta palabrita mas de la leccion.

7. Solo le faltaba á V. llamarse Quevedo para serle parecido en todo, hasta en el nombre.—Mil gracias por el honor de la comparacion, pero volviendo á lo del pistoletazo.

8. ¡Por Dios! D. Francisco, no sea V. tan burlon y déjeme V. estar en paz.—Lo dejaré á V., Don Pepe, si me permite contarle un cuentecito; y para que le parezca á V. mas interesante, se lo contaré á V. introduciendo tantos aumentativos y diminutivos como me sea posible.

9. Con esa condicion le escucho á V.—Pues bien; vaya de cuento: Habia un hombrecillo en cierto lugarcillo.—Y observe V., D. Pepito, que para el cuentecito lo mismo hubiera dado que el hombre hubiera sido hombron y el lugar lugaron.—Adelante con el cuentecillo que me va gustando un tantico. Pues es el caso que este hombron, hombrecito, hombrecillo, hombrete, hombrecico, hombrazo, hombronazo, hombracho, ó como V. quiera llamarle. . . .

10. Yo no quiero llamarle nada, V. le ha llamado ya suficiente; pero al cuento, al cuento ó se acabará el ejercicio sin que lleguemos al fin.—Pues este hombrezuelo no sabia mas que un cuentecillo; pero lo contaba á todo el mundo que encontraba.

11. Pero yo no comprendo como podia hacer que su cuento viniese á pelo y V. sabe que no se cuenta un cuento así de sopeton, como se dan los buenos dias.—Al principio, el viejote se encontraba apuradillo para conseguirlo; pero el picaruelo inventó despues una estratagema por medio de la cual hizo que su anecdotilla viniera á pelo siempre.

12. ¡Oiga! ¿y que estratagema fué esa? Oígala V.; pero ántes debo advertir á V. que en su anécdota habia algo que hacía relacion á cañonazos y pistoletazos.

13. ¡Hé! ¡Ya vuelve V. á los pistoletazos! Pues bien, como iba diciendo de mi cuento, se aproximaba el buen viejecito callandito á cualquier corrillo que encontrase y poniéndose el dedo índice sobre la boca en ademan de imponer silencio, les preguntaba. “¿Han oido Vds. un cañonazo?” No, señor, era naturalmente la respuesta; pues bien, respondia mi hombre muy satisfecho.—Ahora que hablamos de cañonazos les contaré á Vds. una anécdota . . . . y aquí contaba su cuento.

14. Yo no veo la aplicacion de su cuento de V. todavía, Sr. D. Francisco.—¡Cómo! D. Pepe, ¿no ha oido V. un pistoletazo?

EXERCISE.

1. How did you like that story by Fernan Caballero which I lent you? Very much indeed; it gives a very good idea of the manners, customs and language of the low classes in Andalusia (Andalucía).

2. What did that man want? He is a poor lame man asking for a piece of bread, or a few cents to buy some.

3. He is lame, you say; how did that happen to him? He says he was at the war and received a pistol shot in the leg.

4. What does the physician give to your cousin since he has been sick? He has given him some medicine (medicina), and says he must take broth three times a day.

5. Do you like broth? Yes, very well; but not such poor broth as they make for my cousin.

6. How does that poor man make his living since he lost both his arms? He can do nothing in the world, and lives on what little money he gets from his brother, who is rather embarrassed himself just now.

7. Come nearer to the fire, Louisa; it is a little cold this morning. Thank you, I do not feel the cold much; but I would be obliged to you if you would call Fanny in to warm herself; she is half dead with cold.

8. Is Henry going to be employed by that merchant to whom you spoke for him some time ago? Yes, I think it is probable, and I shall be very glad, for the poor fellow* is a little embarrassed, and has been so for a long time.

9. If I were in your place I would not allow that dog to howl so the whole night over. My father will not let me speak about it to our neighbor, who lives in that miserable old house next to ours; it is his dog, and he ought not to let it howl in such a manner.

10. Just listen to him! as if I could not go and kill it with a bludgeon.—Kill it! There would be no necessity for killing it; just give him one good blow with the bludgeon you talk of and he would let you sleep in future.

11. Have you ever read Don Quixote? No; why? If you take the trouble to read it you will find a very good anecdote of a madman (loco) and a dog, in the first chapter of the second part of that justly celebrated work.

12. Have you paid attention to what is said in to-day's lesson on augmentatives and diminutives? Yes, madam; and it seems to me that the proper use of them must make a language expressive and elegant in a high degree (grado).

13. Is Concepcion a very common name for ladies in Spain? There are a great many called by that name; the diminutive is Concha.

14. Is your mother satisfied with her new servant? Very much so.

15. Why did she let the other one go away? She was very glad to see her go away, because she used to steal everything that came to her hand.

16. Is that coffee warm? No, sir; but I could warm it in a few minutes, if you wished.

Le escribiré á V. lo que diga.	I will write to you what he may say to me.

Le perdonarán lo que haga.	They will forgive him every thing he may do.
Si hubiere salido cuando V. llegue.	If he should have left when you arrive.
Aunque hubiere llegado ántes que reciba la carta.	Although he may have arrived before he receives the letter.
Aunque haya llegado ántes que reciba la carta.	Although he may have arrived before he receives the letter.
El general mandó que todos los que desertaran fuesen fusilados.	The general ordered that all those who might (happen to) desert should be shot.
El general mandó que todos los que hubieran desertado fuesen fusilados.	The general ordered that all those who might have deserted should be shot.
El general ha mandado que todos los que desertaren sean fusilados.	The general has ordered that all those who may desert ( i. e. may happen to desert) should be shot.
El general ha mandado que todos los que hubieren desertado sean fusilados.	The general has ordered that all those who may have deserted be shot.
Quien lo dijere miente.	Whoever should say so will lie.
Si viniere, será bien recibido.	If he should come, he will be well received.
Si así lo hicieres.	If you should do so.

EXPLANATION.

219. THE FUTURE SIMPLE of the subjunctive mood represents a contingent action as to take place some time hence; as,

Le escribiré á V. lo que me dijere.	I will write to you what he may (happen to) say to me.
Le perdonarán todo lo que hiciere.	They will forgive him everything he may do in future.
Si permaneciere aquí algun tiempo se lo avisaré.	If I should (or should I) remain here any time I shall let you know.

220. THE PRESENT of the subjunctive may be substituted for the foregoing tense, except when the verb is preceded by the conditional si; as, Le escribiré á V. lo que diga; Le perdonarán lo que haga.

221. THE FUTURE COMPOUND, which is not so much used as the simple, denotes a contingent action subordinate to a future event; as,

Si hubiere salido cuando V. llegue.	If he should have left when you arrive.
--	---

Aunque hubiere llegado ántes que reciba la carta.

Although he may have arrived before he receives the letter.

222. THE COMPOUND PRESENT of the subjunctive may be substituted for the above tense, except when the verb is preceded by the conditional si; as, aunque haya llegado ántes que reciba la carta.

223. In order that the imperfect and pluperfect of the subjunctive, which also express a future contingent action or event, be not misapplied, as too frequently they are, and confounded with the future simple and compound future of the same mood, the following distinction must be attentively observed:

1st. That the imperfect and pluperfect may be employed when the actions or events expressed in the sentence are future only in reference to some other time expressed, or merely implied, in the sentence.

2d. That the future simple and compound future must be used when the contingent action or event implied in the sentence is future with regard to the action expressed by the determining verbs; as,

El general mandó que todos los que
desertaran fuesen fusilados.

The general ordered that all those who should (might happen to) desert should be shot.

El general mandó que todos los que
hubieran desertado fuesen fusilados.

The general ordered that all those who had (might have) deserted should be shot.

El general ha mandado que todos los que desertaren sean fusilados.

The general has ordered that all those who desert (i. e. may happen to desert) shall be shot.

El general ha mandado que todos los que hubieren desertado sean fusilados.

The general has ordered that all those who have deserted shall be shot.

224. The future simple and the compound future of the subjunctive also act as determining verbs; but they govern the subordinate verb only in the present or the future simple of the indicative, and in the imperative; as,

Quien lo dijere, miente.

Si viniere será bien recibido.

Whoever should say so will lie.

If he should come, he shall be well received.

Si así lo hicieras. Dios te lo premie.

If you do so, may God reward you for it.

Si para fines de año no hubiere pagado, le apremias, or apremiale, or le apremiarás.

If at the end of the year he has not paid you, compel him to do so.

These determining sentences of the future simple of the subjunctive may be turned to the present indicative in certain cases, and to the present subjunctive in others ; as,

Si viene, or como venga, será bien recibido.

If he comes, he shall be well received.

Quien tal diga miente.

Whoever says so lies.

Si así lo haces, Dios te lo premie, etc.

If you do so, may God reward you for it.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Don José, me han dicho que es mal agüero al salir uno de su casa ver volar cuervos ; ¿qué piensa V. sobre ello ? Yo pienso como Don Francisco de Quevedo.

2. ¿Y qué es lo que pensaba ese famoso escritor sobre esta materia ? Oiga V. lo que él decía.

3. Si al salir de tu casa vieres volar cuervos, déjalos volar, y mira tú donde pones los piés.

4. ¡Ah ! ¡bah ! Quevedo era un criticon que no perdonaba nada, pero allá en su interior quizá creía un poquito como todo el mundo en los agüeros ; ¿no cree V. así ? ¿Qué si creía ? Por supuesto que sí. Vea V. aquí otro de los agüeros en que creía.

5. Si vas á comprar algo, y al ir á pagar no hallares la bolsa adonde llevabas el dinero, es agüero malísimo, y no te sucederá bien la compra.

6. ¡Toma ! Esa es una verdad de Perogrullo, y ya veo que V. no cree en los agüeros pero al ménos V. creerá en las profecías ; ¿no es verdad, Don José ? ¡O ! sí, señora, mucho, sobre todo en las de Perogrullo.

7. ¿Qué profecías son esas, que nunca las he oído ? Señora no podré relatárselas á V. todas, pero le diré á V. algunas si V. lo desea.

8. Con mucho gusto, hágame V. el favor. Pues bien, oiga V. : “Si lloviere habrá lodos.” “El que tuviere tendrá.”

9. ¡Ah ! ya caigo ; es por esto que se llama cualquiera verdad que es muy notoria, verdad de Perogrullo. ¡Vamos ! aquí viene Don Enrique, puede ser que él crea en algo, porque V. no cree en nada.

10. A los piés de V., Doña Anita.—Beso á V. la mano Don Enrique.

11. A las órdenes de V., Don José.—Bien venido, Don Enrique.—Aquí tiene V. á Doña Anita empeñada en hacerme supersticioso.

12. Y V. es también escéptico, no cree V. en sueños, en espíritus, en fisonomías, ¿en qué cree V., Don Enrique? Yo, señorita, soy un hombre muy crédulo, creo en todo, creo hasta las mujeres.

13. Mil gracias, Don Enrique; yo creía que la sinceridad estaba siempre de parte de la mujer y no del hombre, pues son Vds. todos á cual mas falso.—Señorita, ó V. nos hace una injusticia, ó yo soy una excepcion; pero volviendo á lo de las creencias, confieso de buena fé que soy un poco supersticioso.—Me alegro mucho, de ese modo me ayudará V. á convertir á Don José que no cree en nada.

14. Perdona V., señorita, yo creo en una de las cosas que V. ha mencionado, esto es, en las fisonomías.—¡Bien, bien! explíquenos V., entónces, su significado.

15. El que tuviere la frente ancha tendrá los ojos debajo de la frente, y vivirá todos los dias de su vida.—¡Por Dios! Don José, hable V. formalmente.

16. Pues bien, con toda formalidad. Todo hombre calvo no tendrá pelo, y si tuviere alguno no será en la calva.

17. ¡Ya lo ve, V.! se burla de todo, y no cree en nada, es un escéptico completo. Defiéndase V., amigo Don José, ó quizá es verdad que no cree V. en nada. Entónces le compadezco á V. de todo corazon.

18. ¡Hombre! déjeme V. en paz, y guarde V. su compasion para todás esas pobres gentes que creen, ó afectan creer, todas esas ridiculeces; yo creo lo que veo; creo lo que siento, y creo lo que mi razon me aconseja creer; por eso creo en el sol, en el amor, en Dios.—¡Vamos! ahora va á hacernos creer que es hombre muy religioso.

19. Señor Don José, esta señorita y yo tenemos grandes deseos de aprender el Padre nuestro en español; ¿lo sabe V.? No solamente lo sé, sino que es una oracion que me gusta mucho.

20. ¿Quiere V. hacernos el favor de decírnosla? Con mucho gusto, hélo aquí.

21. "Padre nuestro, que estás en los cielos, santificado sea tu nombre, venga á nos el tu reino. Hágase tu voluntad, así en la tierra como en el cielo. El pan nuestro de cada dia dánosle hoy. Perdónanos nuestras deudas, como nosotros perdonamos á nuestros deudores. Y no nos dejes caer en tentacion. Y líbranos de mal." Amen.

22. Mil gracias, Don José; voy á aprenderlo de memoria porque me suena muy bien en español.

EXERCISE.

1. At what o'clock does the sun rise at New York in the month of September? The sun rose here this morning at twenty-seven minutes past five o'clock.

2. What did your teacher say to you to-day when your lessons were finished? Nothing to me in particular; he spoke to all of us about reading good books, as very necessary in order to acquire the love of truth and sincerity in all our actions.

3. Here are the works of Francis de Quevedo; have you ever read them? Yes, very often; and I admire very much his profound knowledge of the human heart.

4. He is also somewhat of a jester; is he not? Yes, but for a very wise end; he shows all the ridicule of the belief in auguries, omens—for instance, the flight (vuelo) of crows, &c.

5. What do you think of his prophecies? The only end of his prophecies seem to be to divert his readers, telling them that all bald persons will have no hair, or if they should have any, it will not be on the bald place.

6. Do you know what the general has ordered? He has given orders that all the soldiers that desert shall be shot.

7. Do you pity that poor soldier who is to be shot? I did not know there was one to be shot; what crime did he commit? He deserted.

8. What will they do to that robber if they find him? He will be shot.

9. Do you not think he deserves to be shot? There can be no doubt of it: he who kills a man must die by the hand of man.

10. Are there still superstitious people in the world? Yes, a very great many; and I must say, that, even amongst the learned, we find a great number whose education should lead* us to have a higher opinion of them.

11. Has that gentleman paid you yet the money he owed you such a long time? Not yet; indeed I begin to fear he will never pay me.

12. If he should not pay you before he leaves the country, compel him to do so. So I intend to do.

13. How long does your father intend to remain in Germany? Perhaps two or three months; but should he remain longer, he will write for me to go to him.

14. Welcome, Mr. Martínez! how long have you been in town? Only a few days; and I shall return home as soon as I hear from my brother.

15. What a fine forehead that young lady has! I have never seen such a beautiful countenance, with the exception of that of a lady whom I met in Spain a few years ago.

* Debería hacernos.

The account is exact (correct).

I hope not to be disappointed, and that I shall carry out my undertaking.

EXPLANATION.

225. INTERJECTIONS are words which serve to express the different emotions and affections of the soul. There should be a separate interjection to express each passion or emotion; but this not being the case, we often use the same ones to express joy, grief, affright, astonishment, mockery, anger, &c., the signification of each interjection changing according to the voice, gesture and manner of the speaker.

The exclamations that are properly called interjections in Spanish, inasmuch as they have no other use, and because they consist of only one word, are the following: Ah, ay, bah, ca, eh, huy, oh, ox, sus, uf, ea, hola, ojalá, tate, zape, and a few others.

Ah, ay and ó are used indifferently to express pain, joy, mockery, surprise, scorn, anger, or admiration; as,

¡ Ah! que desgracia!

¡ Ay de mí!

¡ Oh! dolor!

¡ Ah! bribon!

¡ Ah! que alegría!

¡ Oh! asombro!

¡ Ah! que necio!

¡ Ay si le cojo!

¡ Oh! ya nos veremos! etc., etc.

Ah! what misfortune!

Woe is me!

Ah! how sad!

Ha! rascal!

Oh! what joy!

Oh! wonder!

Ah! what a fool!

Let me get hold of him!

Oh! I shall see you again!

226. ¡ Bah! expresses displeasure, and sometimes wonder and admiration. ¡ Hé! besides being used to attract the attention, is often employed in the sense of alas! ¡ Sus! serves only to encourage. ¡ Huy! is an exclamation expressive of pain. ¡ Ea! serves to encourage, and sometimes to call the attention. We use ¡ hola! to call our inferiors, and intimate friends, and to manifest joy and surprise. ¡ Tate! expresses surprise, and serves to warn any one of some danger. ¡ Ojalá! serves to manifest ardent desire for something.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¡Ea! ea! muchachos, arriba! que ya es hora de levantarse.—
¿Pues qué hora es, papá? Ya son las seis y quiero que os vistais, laveis y tomeis el café prontito, para ir á tomar el aire fresco de la mañana en la plaza de Madison.

2. ¡Sus! arriba! y el que se me presente primero listo irá á comprarme el Heraldo y tendrá el centavo del cambio.—Helena, ponme agua para lavarme.—No, Helena, no ayudes á Alejandro que ese ya puede vestirse solo, ayuda á Carlotita y á Manolito.

3. Luisa, dame mis zapatos y mis medias.—Búscalos tú mismo, yo no voy á ayudarte para que te vistas ántes que yo.

4. ¡Cuidado! ¿no veis qué vais á romper esa palangana? Es este Manuel que todavía no se ha puesto mas que una media y un zapato y se quiere lavar ántes que yo, que me he puesto ya la camisa, los zapatos y el pantalon.

5. ¡Ay! ay!—¿Qué es eso, Luisa? Me he picado con el alfiler que estaba poniendo en mi vestido.

6. ¿En dónde está el jabon? Qué me sé yo.

7. ¿Carlota, me quieres dar el peine, ó te vas á estar peinando todo el dia? Déjame en paz, ahora acabo de principiar.

8. Mamá, mire V. que Alejandro no me deja ayudar á vestir á Manuel. ¿Mamá, en dónde esta mi sombrero?

9. Papá, ya estoy listo, déme V. el dinero para comprar el Heraldo.—No, no, papá; mire V. que se ha puesto el sombrero sin peinarse.

10. ¡Cómo! eso no, Alejandro, no se sale á la calle sin peinarse.—Papá, ya estoy listo.—Y yo.—Y yo.

11. ¡Chiton! ¡Diantre de muchachos y que ruido meten! Aquí tenéis diez centavos, cuatro para el Heraldo y de los seis restantes uno para cada uno, cuenta cabal, me traéis el Heraldo y despues os vais á la plaza y no volvais, á lo ménos en un par de horas.

12. Margarita, ahora que tenemos tranquilidad tráeme la pipa, ántes de ponerme á escribir, fumaré un poco y leeré las noticias en el patio al fresco.

13. Hola! grandes noticias! ¿Qué hay de nuevo? El Great Eastern ha llegado, y se dice que el gran cable telegráfico ha sido finalmente colocado, uniendo así la Europa y la América.

14. ¡Es posible! entónces pronto tendrémós noticias todos los dias de Europa.—Así lo espero, pero no debemos estar muy seguros de ello, porque ya te acordarás del chasco que llevámos años pasados.

15. ¡Ah! sí, ya me acuerdo; en 1858, cuando se celebró el éxito del cable telegráfico con aquella grande procesion, y se vendia por la calle la gaceta extraordinaria con el parte telegráfico de la Reina Victoria al

Presidente de los Estados Unidos.—Espero que no nos llevemos ahora el mismo chasco.

16. ¡¡La extraordinaria!! ¡¡La gaceta extraordinaria!! ¡Eh! muchacho, aquí, aquí.

17. ¿Cuánto vale? Diez centavos.

18. ¡Victoria! Viva! Viva! ¿Qué dice de nuevo? El cable del Atlántico ha tenido buen éxito, el primer parte recibido por él es el tratado de paz entre el Austria y la Prusia.

19. Esta es una prueba mas de lo que puede llevar á cabo el hombre, si tiene constancia y persiste en una empresã.—¿Cree V. que yo tambien tendré buen éxito en mi empresa?

20. ¿Qué empresa es esa? ¡Cómo! ¿no la adivina V.? La empresa de aprender el español.

21. ¡Ah! No dudo que V. hablará español si persiste y tiene constancia; puesto que con estas cualidades se ha logrado que hable el cable del Atlántico.

EXERCISE.

1. Can you tell me what kind of weather we will have to-morrow? Oh, what a question! Do you suppose that I can guess the weather we will have before it comes?

2. Did the pianist say he would come to tune the piano? He said he would come to-morrow, but that he could not come to-day.

✓ 3. Have you seen that the Atlantic telegraph cable is laid at last? Yes; I am glad to see that the undertaking has been so successful.

✓ 4. Do you know who sent the first dispatch by the cable? I am not sure; but I remember that the first, at the time of the former cable, in 1858, was that sent by the President of the United States to the Queen of England.

5. What was the reason of laying a second cable? Ah, come now! do you not know that the first one, having broken shortly after it had been laid, became entirely useless (inútil)?

6. Have you seen the news to-day by Atlantic telegraph? No; what is the news? That a treaty of peace has been signed (celebrar) between Prussia and Austria.

7. Charles, go and find the comb, wherever you put it when you had done with it. I have not seen it since Henry was using it; and even if I had, I would not tell you where it was.

8. Ah, you little rogue! there, you have broken the wash-basin. It is not my fault, Henry wanted it first, and I had already commenced to wash myself; but he persisted and would take it from me.*

✓ 9. O horror! just look at the state his hair (pelo) is in! Go this * Persistio en quitármela.

instant and get the comb and comb your hair before you dare to appear before me.

10. Have you a pin to give me? Yes, here is a paper of pins; take all you want and give me back the rest.

11. Did you know your lessons well this morning? Yes, very well, and the proof is that papa allowed me to go to see the procession.

12. What did you kill that poor little fly for? Have I not told you many times that I don't wish you to catch or kill flies?

13. Is that bread fresh? Yes, sir, the baker has just brought it a few minutes ago.

14. We were to have gone to the yard to play at twelve o'clock. You may go now; but do not make much noise.

15. Where were you going when I met you? We were coming home to dine.

16. Has the shoemaker-sent you his bill? Yes, but it is not correct.

17. Has not your uncle written to you since he went away? He has sent several telegraphic dispatches to my father on business; but he has not written to us once (una sola vez).

18. Is there not to be a new opera to-night? No; but I understand there is to be a new play (comedia) at the theatre.

19. That is nothing extraordinary; there are new pieces very often now.

20. If Louisa were a little taller would she not be handsomer than Jane? She would at least be quite as handsome.

21. Would you wish to have the window opened? I think it would be much cooler if it were open.

22. Would you not like me to repeat to you that story I told you the other day? If you had time I should be much obliged to you to tell it to me once more.

23. Would not quietness be much better for that gentleman than so much noise? He could not live without noise.

24. Might you not have broken your arm or your leg when you fell out of your carriage? Yes, if I had not taken care.

25. If I had wanted money when I was in the country would you not have brought me some? If I could have got (conseguir) it I would.

26. Would your aunt not have been disappointed if she had not been in time to take the three o'clock train? She would have been terribly disappointed, for she was going to spend the day at a friend's, about ten miles out of town.

EXPLANATION.

227. USE OF THE ARTICLE.—All or any of the parts of speech, and sometimes even whole sentences, may be used as nouns, and as such admit the article, as has just been observed in the COMPOSITION of the present lesson, in which we see examples of verbs, adverbs and interjections preceded by the article, and treated in every respect as nouns substantive.

228. THE DEFINITE ARTICLE is to be used before all common nouns, taken in a general sense and in the full extent of their signification ; as,

La constancia y el trabajo son necesarios al hombre en todas sus empresas.	Constancy and labor are necessary to mankind in all undertakings.
---	---

229. The article is expressed before the names of the four parts of the globe : before the names of empires, kingdoms, provinces and countries ; and before the four seasons of the year ; as,

La América es mayor que la Europa.	America is larger than Europe.
La Francia es una nacion muy poblada.	France is a very populous nation.
El invierno en el Sur es mas agradable que el verano.	The winter in the South is more agreeable than the summer.

But it is omitted before the names of kingdoms, provinces, &c., when they are preceded by a preposition ; unless they be personified, as has been observed in Lesson XXX. ; as,

El clima de España.	The climate of Spain.
Los esfuerzos de la España.	The bravery of Spain.

Kingdoms bearing the same name as their capitals do not admit the article ; as, Nápoles, Naples.

230. Nouns of measure, weight, &c., when preceded by the indefinite article in English, as an equivalent to each, require the article ; as,

Cuatro pesos la vara.	Four dollars a yard.
Dos reales la libra.	Two reals a pound.
Treinta centavos la docena.	Thirty cents a dozen.
Dos veces al dia.	Twice a day.

If the preposition por be used, we omit the article ; as, cuatro pesos por vara, &c.

231. The article is generally repeated before every noun enumerated, especially if they differ in gender ; as,

La fé, la esperanza y la caridad.	Faith, hope and charity.
Los dias y las noches.	The days and nights.

232. The definite article is used before nouns indicating rank, office, profession or titles of persons, when these are spoken of, but not when spoken to ; as,

El General Sheridan es valiente.	General Sheridan is brave.
El Señor De Vargas tiene tres niños.	Mr. De Vargas has three children.
La Señora Martínez, es muy prudente.	Mrs. Martinez is very prudent.

233. The definite article is used instead of the possessive adjective when the possessives refer to parts of our own body ; as,

Me he cortado la mano.

| I have cut my hand.

Me duele la cabeza.

| My head aches.

This applies even to parts of the body of other persons ; as,

Ella me dió la mano.

| She gave me her hand (or shook hands with me).

Puso la mano en el bolsillo.

| He put his hand in his pocket.

But the pronoun must be used when the personal article would occasion ambiguity ; as,

Muchos caballeros solicitaron mi mano. | Many gentlemen solicited my hand.

234. The definite article is also employed, as in English, before nouns taken in a particular or definite sense ; as,

El caballero á quien vió V. ayer en mi casa.

| The gentleman whom you saw yesterday in my house.

We forbear from adding many more rules which we might give, if they were not subject to numerous exceptions, and, especially, if we were not of opinion that practice and reading will teach better than any rules when to employ and when to omit the article.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Cuál de las partes del mundo es la mayor? El Asia es la mayor.

2. ¿Es Asia nombre masculino? No, señor, es femenino.

3. Entónces, ¿porqué le pone V. el artículo masculino? Por evitar el mal sonido que resultaria de poner dos aes juntas.

4. ¿Luego, V. pone siempre el artículo masculino delante de todo nombre femenino que empieza por a? No, señor; esto solo sucede en singular, y cuando sobre dicha vocal carga el acento de la palabra.

5. ¿Ha leído V. el "Sí de las niñas" de Moratin? Sí, señor, lo leí hace muchos años; pero á mí me gusta mas la "Comedia nueva" del mismo autor.

6. ¿Qué tal le gusta á V. su nueva vecinita? Dicen que es muy bonita.—En efecto lo es; pero á mí no me gusta, porque anda siempre en dimes y dirétes, y un nada la incomoda.

7. ¿Cuáles son las virtudes del alma? La fé, la esperanza y la caridad.

8. ¿Tiene V. alguna cosa interesante que decirme hoy? Muchísimas interesantísimas é importantísimas . . . . para practicar y aprender el español.

9. ¡Uf! ya va V. á principiari con sus adverbios, preposiciones y artículos; va V. á decirme, por supuesto, que estas partes de la oracion unas veces se ponen ántes las unas que las otras, y vice versa; que las unas gobiernan á las otras y las gobernadas gobiernan á su vez á otras, que se acuerden ó no entre sí. ¿Creé V. que todo eso será interesante para mí con el fastidio que tengo, y el dolor de cabeza que padezco? ¡Calle! entónces, caballero, V. ha equivocado la casa.

10. ¿Qué quiere V. decir con eso de equivocar la casa? Quiero decir que, en lugar de venir á la clase, debió V. ir hoy al hospital y de allí al teatro.

11. ¿Para qué? Para que le curasen en una parte de sus dolores y en la otra del fastidio.

12. Sí; pero, Señor Profesor, yo siempre creia que el mejor método de enseñanza es aquel que "instruye deleitando." V. tiene mil razones, pero ha olvidado una pequeña circunstancia que requiere su método.

13. ¿Y cual es esa circunstancia? Que no puede aplicarse sino con aquellos discípulos que se deleitan aprendiendo.

14. Y ahora volviendo al artículo.—Señor Profesor, V. me escusará, pero no volvamos al artículo porque no puedo quedarme mas aquí hoy.

15. ¿Cómo es eso? el tiempo de la leccion no ha acabado todavía.—V. tiene razon; pero hoy es necesario que me vaya temprano, porque he prometido acompañar á unas señoritas á la opera.

16. ¡Oh! entónces es necesario no faltar á su palabra.—Señor Profesor, buenas noches (este buen señor me fastidia con sus explicaciones).—Diviértase V. mucho, Señor Don Pepito (este amable jóven aprenderá español, para el tiempo que yo compre una casa en la Quinta Avenida, enseñándolo).

EXERCISE.

1. If I should come for you this evening, would you come with me to see the Martínez? I would, with great pleasure, if Charlotte would accompany us.

2. How does that lady speak French? They say she speaks very correctly, though with a slightly foreign accent.

3. Might he not be cured if he called in a good physician? He is of opinion that physicians do more injury than good to mankind.

4. Do you know any thing of the author of that play? Yes, I have read (or heard) all his plays; they are very interesting, and delighted me exceedingly.

5. What is death? The separation of soul and body.

6. Can one be a citizen of the United States without having been born (nacer) in the country? Yes, after having resided in the United States a certain number of years one may become a citizen.

7. Where is that poor man going? To the hospital; he has broken his leg.

8. Pardon me, I think you are mistaken; it is rather his arm that is broken, for if his leg were broken he could not walk.

9. Do you remember the name of the principal city of Naples? Yes, the name of the principal city is that of the kingdom also.

10. Did you shake hands with that young lady? Yes, as soon as she saw me she came towards me and gave me her hand.

11. Is that cloth (pañó) sold very high? Not very; it costs only three dollars a yard.

12. How often do you take your Spanish lessons? Twice a week.

13. Would you not learn faster if you took a lesson every other day (un día sí y otro no)? My teacher says I would; but I have not time to take lessons so often.

14. Would you like summer to return again? No, thank you, I am glad it is past, for I assure you I have suffered enough with the heat.

15. How sad it is on the field of battle (campo de batalla) to hear the groans of the dying! Yes; and, notwithstanding, men will persist in killing each other for a foot* of ground (terreno).

16. How is butter sold a pound? Thirty cents for one kind, and forty cents a pound for the best.

17. Do you think it can injure any one to have friends? No, it can injure nobody to have friends.

18. Is not that person very amiable and agreeable? Very rarely, for a mere nothing incommodes him.

19. Are there many learned men in that country? There have been and there are at present men of extraordinary learning.

20. Which are the three principal virtues? Faith, hope and charity.

21. Is Miss Cabargas married yet? Not yet, although a large number of gentlemen have solicited her hand.

22. I suppose you have all read some Spanish comedies? Several Spanish and some French comedies, by the best dramatists.

23. Which of all the French comedies that you have read do you like best? Those of Molière.

* Palmo (literally a span).

EXPLANATION.

235. CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TENSES WITH EACH OTHER.

—When one verb is connected with another by a relative, there are many combinations in which the determining and the de- terminated verbs may be found; both may be in the indicative or in the subjunctive mood, or one in the indicative and the other in the subjunctive; but both cannot be in the infinitive or in the imperative; as,

Adivino el motivo por el cual nos habian adulado los mismos que nos critican, criticaban, criticaron, han criticado, criticarán.

Leíamos una noticia que acababa (or acaba) de publicarse.

Contaba la desgracia que los afligió.

No seré yo el primero que se atreva.

Aprened vosotros los que os quejais, quejabais, quejasteis, habeis quejado, quejaréis.

I guess the motive for which those same persons who have flattered us before, criticise, did criticise, criticised, have criticised, will criticise us afterward.

We were reading some news that had (or has) just been published.

He was telling the misfortune that afflicted them.

I shall not be the first to dare.

Learn, you who complain, were complaining, complained, had complained, will complain.

236. The determined verb is put in the infinitive whenever it has the same subject as the determining verb; as,

Él quiere jugar.

Nosotros queremos estudiar.

| He wishes to play.

| We wish to study.

This is the reason why the auxiliaries haber de, tener que, deber, always require the governed verb in the infinitive, because the subject, or nominative, is the same for both verbs; as,

Él hubo de condescender.

Ellos deben estar muy ocupados.

| He had to consent.

| I have to be silent.

| They must be very busy.

An exception to this rule occurs when the determining verb expresses a firm and decided affirmation; and so we say:

Quiero (or pienso) salir.

Afirmo (declaro) que saldré.

| I wish (or intend) to go out.

| I affirm (or declare) that I shall go out

We must also except the verb decir, which cannot govern another verb in the infinitive, because whenever we employ it to announce our own actions it is not with the purpose of relating them, but to manifest our resolution to execute them; as,

Digo que saldré.

| I say I shall go out.

237. When the determining verb is ser, or any impersonal verb, and the governed verb has no subject, the latter is placed in the infinitive; as,

Es útil estudiar las lenguas.

It is useful to study languages.

Conviene á los hombres instruirse.

It is the interest of mankind to acquire knowledge.

And such is the natural construction, because the true subject of this proposition is the very infinitive itself, which stands there as a noun, an office that cannot be performed by the other moods. The above sentences are equivalent to these :

El estudio de las lenguas es útil.

The study of languages is useful.

La instruccion conviene á los hombres.

It is the interest of mankind to acquire knowledge.

238. But if the determined verb also has a nominative, then it must be placed in the subjunctive; as,

Conviene que yo estudie.

It is my interest to study.

Es útil que los hombres se instruyan.

It is useful to mankind to possess knowledge.

Those verbs that express command, govern either of the two forms, since we say equally well :

Les mandó callar.

Les mandó que callasen.

He ordered them to be silent.

239. When the determining verb is in the infinitive, in the present or future of the indicative, or in the imperative, connected with the governed verb by a conjunction, this latter verb is put in the subjunctive mood, ordinarily in the present or in the future; as,

Impedir que se cometan injusticias es el objeto de las leyes.

To prevent the commission of injustice, such is the object of the laws.

Deseo que me comprendas.

I wish you to understand me.

No lograrás que le castiguen.

You will not succeed in having him punished.

Se le ayudará si fuere necesario.

He will have help if it be necessary.

240. The preterit indefinite and compound future of the indicative govern the determined verb in the present or imperfect of the subjunctive; as,

He sentido que no se convenza (convenciera or convenciese).

I was sorry he should not be (or was not) convinced.

Habrà llamado para que le abran (abrieran or abriesen) la puerta.

He knocked, of course, in order that the door may (or might) be opened.

241. When the determining verb is in the indicative, it generally governs the determined one in the same mood, if the nominative is the same for both verbs; as,

Creo que le convenceré fácilmente.
Reflexionaré lo que he de hacer.

I think I shall convince him easily.
I shall reflect on what I have to do.

But if each verb has a different nominative, the second verb may be placed in the indicative or in the subjunctive; as,

Pensé que iba á matarla.

I thought he was going to kill her.

*Pensé que me enviara (or enviaria) la carta.*

I thought he would send me the letter.

Much more might be said upon this subject, did we not fear to exceed the limits prescribed by the nature of the present work.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Doña Luisita, ¿Le gusta á V. formar castillos en el aire? Mucho; pero creo que formo demasiados.

2. Me alegro mucho que, como á mí, le guste á V. el mundo de las ilusiones, y tambien apruebo su franqueza de V. en confesarlo.—Y ¿porqué lo habia de ocultar? ¿Qué mal hay en eso?

3. No sé si hay mal ó no, lo que sé decir es, que todo el mundo afecta no formarlos y con cierta risita burlona pretenden ridiculizar á los que, como V. y yo, confesamos cándidamente que los hacemos.

4. ¿Y cree V., D. José, que esas gentes vivan sin ilusiones de ninguna especie? No, señorita, no lo creo. Dios ha dado á todo hombre, á diferencia del bruto, un mundo ideal interior además del mundo positivo exterior, á excepcion de los idiotas.

5. ¡Cuánto me alegro de oirlo! ¡porque yo tenia tanta vergüenza de mis pobres castillos en el aire! ¿De modo es que V. cree que yo no soy sola? De ningun modo, todo el mundo los forma, la diferencia solo existe en la manera.

6. ¡Ah! Don José, V. me va pareciendo un buen arquitecto de castillos en el aire y uno de estos dias voy á pedirle que me muestre uno de los muchos que habrá edificado.—Con mucho gusto, señorita, á trueque, sin embargo, de que V. me admita en uno de sus palacios aéreos.

7. No, eso no, jamás podria yo poner en evidencia mis castillos; pero V. dice que la diferencia solo existe en la manera de formarlos; explíqueme V. esto, quizá así lograré reformar los míos, porque he observado que son incompletos; siempre les falta algo.—Pues es extraño, señorita, porque yo creía que solo las cosas humanas eran imperfectas y sus ilusiones de V. siendo. . . . .

8. Por supuesto, ¡angelicales! ¡Vamos! déjese V. de cumplimientos, ya sabe V. que no me gustan, y respóndame V. á mi pregunta si V. gusta, porque tengo curiosidad de saber cómo forman otros sus castillos. —Obedezco, señorita, y para principiar debo decir que yo me equivoqué cuando dije que solo se diferenciaban en la manera, porque tambien influye mucho el material.

9. ¿Cómo el material? ¿si se fabrican en el aire! ¡Espero que no los fabrique V. de cal y canto!—No, señorita, no de cal y canto; pero se fabrican; y si se fabrican, de algo se fabrican.

10. ¿Pero de qué, señor, de qué? Yo formo castillos, pero no necesito nada para hacerlos; vuelo mas que los pájaros, mando hasta en las voluntades de los otros, hago volver al tiempo en su carrera, dispongo del espacio, de la fortuna, y hago que me obedezca hasta el amor.—Eso lo creo sin que V. me lo diga, señorita.

11. ¡Dale! no vuelva V. á las andadas, y cuénteme V. qué materiales son esos de que V. me hablaba.—V. misma acaba de nombrar algunos.

12. ¿Cuáles? ¡Cómo! ¿qué mas materiales quiere V. para formar un castillo en el aire, que poder disponer, como V. dice que puede, de las voluntades de los otros, del tiempo, del espacio, la fortuna y hasta del amor?

13. ¡Toma! Pero yo no poseo ninguna de esas cosas en realidad, y sin embargo mis castillos me entretienen y divierten mucho.—Perdone V., señorita, V. las posee y con ellas forma V. ese bonito mundo interior, que le proporciona á V. los goces que no le da el exterior.

14. Y en eso tiene V. razon, que mis ilusiones, ó sea como V. las llama, mi mundo interior, me consuelan muchas veces de la ruindad del mundo exterior.—Eso sucede á todo el mundo, de ese modo, el ciego ve, el enfermo goza de salud, el prisionero de libertad, el pobre de las riquezas y el anciano de la juventud, las ilusiones hacen los males menores. En este mundo ideal es en donde los hombres son verdaderamente iguales, y para mí tengo que no es ilusorio, sino real, puesto que de él depende nuestra felicidad.

15. ¿No cree V. que hay alguna exageracion en lo que V. dice? No, señora, pero sí, creo, que debemos tener buen cuidado de regularizar nuestros pensamientos y de basar siempre nuestros castillos en el aire en la virtud y la religion.

16. ¡Bravo! bravo! muy bien, así me gustan á mí los castillos en el aire.

EXERCISE.

✓ 1. Who built the house you are living in at present? An excellent architect, a friend of my father.

✓ 2. Are you certain it was an old man that was suing for her hand? I cannot affirm that it was an old man.

3. What a misfortune that he will not study! It would be a real misfortune if it were true; I think it is not true.

✓ 4. Do you ever build castles in the air? Seldom; for, in my opinion, real castles built of stone are to be preferred to the aerial ones you speak of.

5. What a pretty bird you have there! does it sing? It sings the whole day long.

6. Do you think our young friend is really as happy as he appears to be? No, there must be some exaggeration in what he says.

7. In what respect do these two authors differ from each other? Read the works of both, and you will observe for yourself.

8. Do they both write equally well? No, one of them arranges his thoughts in a very strange manner, so that it is sometimes impossible to understand his meaning,* and at all times disagreeable to read him.

9. Is Peter punished now in school as often as formerly? As often as ever; but it is useless to punish him, for though he is good for a few days, yet he always gets back to his old habits.

✓ 10. Does that man always say what he thinks? I am sure I cannot say; but it seems to me that there is in his manner of speaking a something I cannot explain that hides his real thoughts.

11. Is he liked in general by those who know him? On the contrary, everybody hates him and ridicules him for his meanness.

12. Have you any curiosity to see the interior of a royal palace? If the occasion offered (presented itself), I would like to see it; otherwise I am perfectly content with the interior of my own house.

13. You are wise for that; happiness is not at all times to be found in palaces. Ah! I see you are† something of a philosopher.

14. How is this, sir? your exercise is incomplete. I confess that had I wished I might have finished it; but you will find that, as far as it goes, it is not imperfect.

15. That is to say that the quality does not depend on the quantity. Precisely so; you may complain of my not having done the whole of the exercise, but I do not think you can criticise the part I have brought to you.

16. What size‡ is the book your friend has just published? The same size as the one he published before.

† Tiene V.

‡ Tamaño.

Esa señorita es muy amable ; pero muy mudable.	That young lady is very amiable, but very changeable.

EXPLANATION.

242. DERIVATIVE NOUNS.—These nouns constitute one of the chief sources of the richness of the Spanish language ; we have already introduced some of them in previous lessons, when treating of augmentative and diminutive terminations.

These terminations are very numerous, both for the substantives and adjectives, and each one of them determines the general signification of the derivative noun. As it would be impossible to give in this place a complete list of all these terminations, we shall endeavor to lay before the student such of them as are to be found in most common use.

243. The terminations aco, acho, alla and uza, denote inferiority; as Libraco.	A contemptible old book.

Pajarraco.	An ugly bird.
Vinacho.	Bad wine.
Gentualla.	Rabble.
Carnuza.	Bad meat.

The termination acho is sometimes augmentative; as,

Ricacho.	Very rich.
Hombracho.	A big (or corpulent) man.

244. Ajo implies meanness, and the consequent contempt inspired by it; as,

Escobajo.	An old stump of a broom.
Latinajo.	Dog Latin.

245. The terminations al, ar, ego, ico, il, isco, in adjectives, commonly denote the quality of the thing; as,

Artificial.	Artificial.
Familiar.	Familiar.
Gigantesco.	Gigantic.
Picaresco.	Roguish.
Clásico.	Classic.
Chinesco.	Chinese.

246. In substantives the same terminations, al, ar, and also eda and edo, serve to form collective nouns; as,

Arbolada.	Grove.
Arenal.	Sandy ground.
Manzanar.	Apple orchard.
Pinar.	Pine grove.

247. The terminations ante, ario, ente, ero, ista and or are for the most part expressive of use, sect, profession, trade, or occupation; as,

Estudiante.	Student.
Boticario.	Druggist.
Zapatero.	Shoemaker.
Organista.	Organist.
Protestante.	Protestant.
Calvinista.	Calvinist.
Pintor.	Painter.

248. The termination astro signifies inferiority in a superlative degree; as, filosofastro, a despicable philosopher; poetasastro, poetaster; and it is curious to observe that it also serves to express the degrees of relationship existing between those persons who more generally hate than love each other; as,

Hermanastro.	Step-brother.
Hijastro.	Step-son.
Padraastro.	Step-father.
Madrastra.	Step-mother.

249. Ble corresponds to the same termination in English; as,

Aborrecible.	Hateful.
Creible.	Credible.
Mudable.	Changeable.
Amable.	Amiable.

250. Ismo corresponds to the English termination ism; as,

Catolicismo.	Catholicism.
Protestantismo.	Protestantism.

251. The names of nationalities are also derivatives, and have their terminations in ero, es, eño; as,

Habanero.	Havanese.
Frances.	French, Frenchman.
Madrileño.	Madrilenian.

252. Many patronymic, or family, names are also derivatives; for instance, Alvarez, Domínguez, Fernández, Rodríguez, Sánchez, &c., were the names that were given to the sons of the Alvaros, Domingos, Fernandos, Rodrigos, Sanchos, &c., changing the final o into ez.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Es necesario para hablar una lengua aprender todas las palabras que contiene dicha lengua? De ningun modo, además, yo no creo que exista un hombre, por instruido que sea, que las sepa todas.

2. ¿Cuántas palabras piensa V. que sean suficientes para poder hablar el español corrientemente? De tres á cuatro mil palabras primitivas con sus derivados es todo lo que se requiere, para hablar una lengua flúidamente.

3. Sí, pero probablemente los derivados serán en tanto ó mayor número que los primitivos.—Así es, pero una vez que se conocen las terminaciones, es muy fácil el formarlos, aunque nunca se hayan visto anteriormente.

4. ¿Es posible! entónces esto debe facilitar mucho el estudio de la lengua.—Muchísimo, porque, como ya hemos dicho, sabiendo los primitivos no tiene mas que añadirseles las terminaciones, segun el significado que quiera dárseles.

5. ¿Quiere V. hacerme el favor de formar algunos derivados? Sí, señor, con mucho gusto; déme V. los primitivos.

6. ¿Cuáles son los derivados de cielo? Celeste y celestial.

7. ¿De tierra? Terrestre, terrenal, y otros.

8. ¿Porqué no me los da V. todos? Porque me parece mejor que aprenda V. primeramente los de mas uso, pues sobre haber muchos, los hay de poco uso comparativamente.

9. Cuáles otros se pudieran formar de cielo y tierra? Célico; terroso, terron, y otros muchos.

10. ¿Se pueden formar derivados de los verbos? Sí, señor, y á estos se les da el nombre de verbales.

11. ¿Cuáles se derivan del verbo amar? Amador, amante, amado, amable.

12. ¿De ascender? Ascenso, ascension.

13. ¿De creer? Creyente, creencia, creible, crédulo, crédito.

14. ¿De estudiar? Estudiante, estudio; pudiendo agregar además los aumentativos y diminutivos que tambien son derivados, como estudian-tillo, estudianton, etc.

15. ¿De qué se derivan los nombres de familia González, Domínguez, etc.? Se derivan de los nombres propios Gonzalo, Domingo, etc.

16. ¿Cuántas palabras cree V. que contendrá esta gramática? Mas de tres mil palabras primitivas y un gran número de derivadas.

17. ¿En acabando la gramática podré traducir y hablar sobre cualquiera materia que se ofrezca? Podrá V. hablar de todo y seguir una conversacion en general como V. ve que ya lo hacemos; pero para tra-ducir y hablar de cualquiera ciencia, arte ú oficio en particular, tendrá V. que acudir al diccionario, porque es imposible introducir en una gramática todas las palabras necesarias para poder hacer esto.

18. Y en cuanto á los idiotismos de la lengua, ¿se hallarán todos en esta gramática? Tampoco, puesto que se podrian componer tres ó cuatro volúmenes como este y quizá no incluirian todos los de la lengua.

19. ¿Cómo los aprenderé entónces? En la conversacion de personas instruidas y en la lectura de buenos libros.

EXERCISE.

✓ 1. Did Charles go to another regiment at the time of his promotion? Yes, he left the 71st and went to the 7th.

2. What do you know about the names Sánchez, Domínguez, and all those ending in ez? That they mean son of Sancho, son of Domingo, and are formed from those names by adding the termination you have just mentioned.

✓ 3. To whom does that magnificent pine grove belong? To the stepson of the gentleman who owns that pretty little house you see over there in the distance (á lo léjos).

✓ 4. What contemptible old book is that you are reading so attentively? It is no contemptible old book at all (ninguno), it is the dictionary; I always go to the dictionary for a word of which I do not know the meaning.

✓ 5. Do you know the names of all the heavenly bodies? No, nor you either; the science of astronomy is still imperfect, and there are besides many of the heavenly bodies hidden from human sight.

6. Is not that young gentleman a great lover of the sciences? Yes, but most particularly of the exact sciences.

7. Why do you sweep with that old stump of a broom? It is the best I have.

✓ 8. Did you say he was a philosopher? No, on the contrary, I said he was but a miserable philosophaster.

9. How does that rich fellow amuse himself? Reading history in general, and that of his own country in particular.

10. I observe that you speak German very fluently now; have you changed your book? No, I have still the same one, but I myself study more than I did formerly.

11. Do you know whether your cousin speaks as fluently as your sister? Mrs. Alvarez says that in familiar conversation they speak equally fluently.

✓ 12. Do you do any compositions? Yes, our father requires us to do two compositions a week on the idioms of the language.

13. Is it not a despicable habit to offer to do things we never intend to perform (llevar á cabo)? I should say it is more than despicable, it is even hateful.

✓ 14. Does not the study of grammar considerably facilitate the acquisition of a language? Yes, but that alone is not sufficient: something more is required.

✓ 15. Have you much fruit at your house in the country? We have a very fine orchard of apples.

✓ 16. What language was that your young friend spoke in a moment ago? What he takes for Latin; but what is not in reality any thing but dog Latin.

✓ 17. Would not that letter have been better if you had not added that last word? It appeared to me to be necessary to add that to what I had already said, so that the meaning might be more easily understood.

EXPLANATION.

253. COMPOUND NOUNS.—These are very numerous in the Spanish language; some are formed of two nouns, as barbilampiño, beardless; puntapié, a kick; aguardiente, brandy; others are formed of a noun and a verb, as quitasol, parasol; sacamuélas, tooth-drawer; others of an adjective and a verb, as pisaverde, coxcomb; others of a noun and an adverb, as bienhechor, benefactor; others of a noun and a preposition, as anteojos, spectacles; others of two verbs, as ganapierde, a mode of playing draughts; others of two verbs and a pronoun, as hazmereir, laughing-stock; three verbs, a pronoun and a conjunction enter into the formation of correveidile, tale-bearer; and, finally, others are composed of a noun and some one of the following component particles: a, ab, abs, ad, ante, anti, circum or circun, cis, citra, co, com, con, contra, de, des, di, dis, e, em, en, entre, equi, es or ex, extra, im, in, infra, inter, intro, o, ob, per, por, pos, pre, préter, pro, re, retro, sa or za, se, semi, sesqui, sin, so, sobre, son, sos, su, sub, súper, sus, tra, trans or tras, ultra, and vice or vi; as,

Antisocial. Composicion. Condiscipulo. Director. Disgusto. Imposible. Inútil. Pormenor. Pospuesto. Sinrazon. Vicerector.	Antisocial. Composition. School-fellow. Director. Displeasure. Impossible. Useless. Detail. Post-fixed. Unreasonableness. Sub-director.
--	---

We call them component particles, because the majority of them—although they are true Latin and Greek prepositions—have no signification in Spanish, except as prefixes, in which case they serve to augment, diminish, or modify the signification of the simple word in proportion to the strength or value they have in the languages from which we have taken them.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Don José, ¿sabe V. el significado de las palabras penúltima y antepenúltima? Sí, señor, porque corresponden á las palabras inglesas penultimate y antepenultimate.

2. Pues bien, ahora, que hablamos de “cañonazos,” quiero decir, ahora que hablamos de estas palabras, le contaré á V. un cuentecito.—Muy bien, á mí me gustan mucho los cuentos, sobre todo cuando no son largos y vienen á pelo.

3. Pues este viene á pelo y no es largo.—Entonces cuéntemelo V., Don Pedro, escucho con la mayor atencion.

4. Pues vaya de cuento: Un caballero tenia un fuerte dolor de muelas, y fué á un sacamuélas para que le sacase una.

5. ¡Hombre! ¿y porque no fué á casa de un dentista? Porque en aquel pueblecito no habia dentistas y tuvo que ir á una barbería, cuyo barbero unia á su oficio el de sacamuélas.

6. ¡Pobre hombre! adelante.—Este barbero, ó sea sacamuélas, pero que de ningun modo era dentista, le preguntó:

7. “¿Qué muela le duele á V.?” “La penúltima del lado izquierdo de la quijada inferior.”

8. “Muy bien,” y diciendo y haciendo le sacó, no la penúltima, sino la última.

9. “¡Huy! ¿qué ha hecho V., hombre? yo le dije á V. que me sacase la penúltima, y V. me ha sacado la última.”—“¡Calle! pues yo creia que penúltima y última era todo una misma cosa.”

10. “No, hombre, no; la penúltima es la que está ántes de la última.”—“¡Diantre! Mil perdones, y siéntese V. que esta vez no me equivocaré.”

11. “¡Vamos, y todo sea por Dios!” “¡Ay! ay! hombre dado á Barrabas!”

12. “¡Toma! ¿y ahora porqué se queja? ¿no vengo de sacarle la que estaba ántes de la última?” “Sí; pero V. olvidó contar la que me sacó anteriormente, de modo que ahora me ha sacado la antepenúltima.”—La ante . . . ¿qué? Pero no importa, dejemos estos malditos nombres, que han sido causa de mi equivocacion, y siéntese V. que yo le aseguro á V. que.” . . .

13. Pero el parroquiano, dándolo á todos los diablos, tomó las de villadiego, y se cree que nunca mas recurrió á un sacamuclas para que le sacase la penúltima muela.

14. ¿Cuál es la palabra compuesta mas larga en español? Desproporcionadísicamente.

15. ¿De qué palabras se compone? De la partícula componente des, el nombre proporcion, la terminacion superlativa sima y la terminacion adverbial mente.

EXERCISE.

1. Do you use spectacles because it is fashionable with some people to wear (gastar) them, or because you cannot see without them? Because I cannot see without them.

2. My toothache is not any better yet. Then you had better go to the dentist's and get him to extract (sacar) the tooth.

3. Do you often see the beardless youth who came to walk with us without being asked * last evening? Not often, nor do I care to see him very often, he is too much of a fop for my taste.

4. Which way do I turn here to go to the new hotel? Turn to the right; it is not more than two streets to the hotel.

5. What did he do when you said that? He took to his heels, and I have neither heard of nor seen him since.

6. What were your two school-fellows doing at the door a few minutes ago? One of them had told the director of a mistake in the other's exercise, and this one threatened to punish him for his trouble (molestia); so, suiting the action to the word, he gave him a kick, and called him a despicable tell-tale.

7. Has your brother bought the house yet that he intended to buy? No; when he came to examine the details he found the price of the house entirely out of proportion to the value.

8. Do you always take an umbrella when it rains? I seldom use an umbrella; when it rains I never go out, if I can avoid it.

9. What a strange man that is! Yes, he is the laughing-stock of every one who knows him.

10. What kind of wine do they give you in your hotel? They give us very poor wine, and so I drink very little of it; I prefer water.

11. Do you often play at draughts (or checkers)? Very often; but I prefer the losing game.

12. What is that man's business? He keeps a barber's shop in Sixth or Seventh Avenue.

13. I want you to be good enough to translate this letter for me. Oh!

it is useless to talk to me of translating any thing just now (por ahora), for I have a headache.

14. Where is that family living now? In a small town in the western part of the State.

EXPLANATION.

Notwithstanding we have already made some general observations relative to the place each part of speech occupies in sentences, we deem it expedient to add here a few rules which the learner will find of considerable utility in composition.

254. THE NATURAL CONSTRUCTION demands that the substantive be placed before the adjective, because the thing is before its quality; that the governing word precede the one governed, for it is natural that the former should present itself to the mind before the latter; that the subject precede the verb; that the verb precede the adverb by which it is modified; that the complement come after the verb and the adverb, if there be one; and that when two or more things are to be expressed, of which one, from its nature, comes before the other, this order be preserved ; as,

Oriente y Occidente.	East and West.
Cielo y tierra.	Heaven and earth.
Norte y Sur.	North and South.
Este y Oeste.	East and West.

255. FIGURATIVE CONSTRUCTION.—The genius of the Spanish language, and, above all, use, allow us to depart in some cases from the above rules ; thus avoiding the monotonous uniformity which would otherwise take place, and leaving the writer more latitude for the construction and arrangement of his periods. So long as sense and perspicuity do not suffer, there is ordinarily no fixed position for any of the parts of speech. Therefore :

1st. Personal pronouns subjects of verbs may, with a few exceptions, be expressed or suppressed at will.

2d. When the pronoun subject is expressed, it may be placed either before or after the verb.

3d. The same liberty exists with respect to the verb, adverb and complement.

4th. Nevertheless, for the sake of clearness in our sentences, it is essential that certain words which together form a whole (such as adjectives with the substantives they qualify, or parts of sentences, acting the part of subject or complement) should be arranged in the same order as that in which the ideas they express are naturally presented to the mind.

5th. There are also certain words which, when placed before certain others, have a signification very different from that which they have when placed after them.

Of all the modern languages the Spanish is certainly the most flexible ; indeed, in no other can the same idea be expressed with the same words in so endless a variety of constructions.

Let the following sentence serve as a proof of the truth of this assertion :

Esta señorita era hija de Don Manuel Sánchez.	This young lady was the daughter of Mr. Emanuel Sanchez.
---	--

256. Words which, from their nature, cannot be separated: Esta señorita. De Don Manuel Sánchez.

Natural Construction.	Esta señorita era hija de Don Manuel Sánchez.
1st inversion.	Era esta señorita hija de Don Manuel Sánchez.
2d “	Era hija esta señorita de Don Manuel Sánchez.
3d “	Era de Don Manuel Sánchez hija esta señorita.
4th “	De Don Manuel Sánchez era hija esta señorita.
5th “	Hija era esta señorita de Don Manuel Sánchez.
6th “	Hija de Don Manuel Sánchez era esta señorita.
7th “	Hija de Don Manuel Sánchez esta señorita era.
8th “	De Don Manuel Sánchez hija era esta señorita.

257. The natural construction is, of course, the most grammatical, but the best writers generally give preference to the figurative, as being more easy and elegant, and as giving at the same time more freedom to imagination and genius, and finally, as being better suited to express the grand emotions of the soul.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¡Oh! amigo mio, V. por Nueva York! ¡Cuánto lo celebro! Sí, señor, aquí me tiene V., Don Fernando, no he podido resistir la tentacion de venir á ver la América.

2. ¡Me alegro infinito! ¿Pero porqué no se vino V. á hospedar á mi casa? En primer lugar, porque llegué anoche muy tarde; y en segundo, porque á los solteros nos gusta la libertad y la vida del hotel.

3. Bien, no me opongo, á condicion de que vendrá V. á pasar con nosotros algunos dias.—Lo haré así con mucho gusto, además, Don Fernando, que, como no sé hablar inglés y esta ciudad es tan grande, tengo miedo de perderme si salgo solo, y quisiera que, durante mi permanencia en ella, tuviese V. la bondad de ser mi cicerone, de modo es que me propongo, pasar la mayor parte del tiempo en su compañía.

4. En eso me hara V. mucho placer, además de que yo gozaré tanto como V. con la sorpresa y admiracion que le causarán á V. las vistas de esta metrópoli. ¿Ha estado V. jamás en Lóndres ó en Paris? No, señor, jamás he salido de España hasta ahora.

5. ¿Cuándo quiere V. que principiemos nuestros paseos? Cuando V. guste; ahora mismo si está V. desocupado, porqué, á decir verdad, tengo una gran curiosidad.

6. ¿Quiere V. que vayamos á pié ó en coche? A pié, si V. gusta; me parece que podremos ver mas cómodamente; pero tomaremos un coche cuando haya que salir de la ciudad.

7. Pues en marcha, venga el brazo.—Yo temo que voy á molestar á V., Don Fernando, porque soy muy curioso, como dicen los franceses, soy un flâneur, y me llaman la atencion hasta las cosas mas pequeñas.

8. Entónces simpatizarémos, porque á mí me gusta observarlo y criticarlo todo.—¿Qué calle es esta en que estamos ahora? Esta es la Cuarta Avenida, y esa que la atraviesa es la calle Veinte y tres.

9. ¿Cómo es eso? Las calles en Nueva York estan divididas en avenidas, que son las que atraviesan la ciudad á lo largo, y en calles, que la atraviesan de occidente á oriente, cortando las avenidas en ángulos rectos y formando toda la ciudad como un tablero de damas, de modo que sabiendo el número de la calle ó avenida y el de la casa á donde se va, puede calcularse fácilmente la distancia.

10. Y este edificio de arquitectura tan curiosa de la esquina, ¿qué es? Esta es la nueva academia de dibujo, donde se exponen al público muy buenas pinturas.

11. ¿Hay aquí tan buenas pinturas como en el museo de Madrid? No, ni con mucho; este país es aun nuevo, y aunque puedan hacerlo en otras cosas, todavía no pueden rivalizar en lo que respecta á las bellas artes con Europa.

12. ¡Hombre, qué hermosa plaza! Esta es la plaza de Madison y todos estos bellos edificios que V. ve á su alrededor, y la plaza misma, han sido hechos de veinte años á esta parte.

13. ¿Qué edificio es aquel de enfrente que es tan grande como un palacio? Ese es el hotel de la Quinta Avenida, y en efecto V. tiene razon en compararlo á un palacio, porque los hoteles son en realidad los palacios de los Estados Unidos, y se dice que son los mejores del mundo.

14. ¡Cuidado! hombre, por poco se deja V. atropellar por el ómnibus.—¡Cáspita! ¡qué mujer tan hermosa!

15. Sí; pero no debe V. pararse á admirar las bellezas, en medio de Broadway en su punto de reunion con la Quinta Avenida, porque corre V. peligro de ser atropellado por los carruajes de todas especies que continuamente lo atraviesan.

16. Don Fernando, ¿son todas las señoras en Nueva York tan hermosas como esa que acaba de pasar? No sé, porque yo solo miré dónde ponía los piés, procurando escapar al mismo tiempo de los carruajes; pero sí podré decirle á V. que mujeres mas hermosas que las que he visto yo en Nueva York no creo que se encuentren en ninguna parte del mundo.

17. ¡Oiga V.! ¿no hablan español esos que van delante de nosotros? Eso no debe V. extrañarlo; esta es una ciudad cosmopolita; en ella hay gentes de todas las naciones y V. oirá en el trascurso de poco tiempo hablar aleman, español, frances y otras muchas lenguas.

EXERCISE.

1. What do you understand by the complement of a verb? It is a phrase or a part of a phrase that serves to complete the idea expressed by the verb.

2. Can you tell me what a cosmopolitan is? A cosmopolitan is one who is not a stranger in any country, a citizen of the world.

3. Where does that gentleman live? In Fifth Avenue, on the corner of Twenty-second Street.

4. How long has your uncle been a member of the Royal Academy of Madrid? He is not a member of the Royal Academy of Madrid; but he has been a member of the Academy of Sciences for the last ten years.

5. Take that book from Charles and give it to Peter. I will give him some other book, because if I took that one from Charles he would cry.

6. Is your friend a married man? No, sir, he is a bachelor.

7. Have you ever seen Da Vinci's celebrated painting of "The Last Supper"?* No; but I have seen the engraving of that painting, made by Morghen, and it is a truth admitted by every one, that, notwithstanding the absence of coloring, that engraving is a happy expression of the original.

8. How long does it take to go from here to the Central Park? But a short time; the distance is not very great.

9. Could you run there in as short a time as one could go in a carriage? I do not doubt that I could, if I started from the same place and at the same time as the carriage.

10. How are the several States of the Union divided? Into Northern, Southern, Eastern, and Western.

11. Is that not the tallest man you have ever seen? Far from it; I have seen several much taller.

12. Have they been able to fill that office (or position) yet? I believe not; I understand that one of our friends was about to apply for it (pretenderlo), but his father was opposed to his doing so, and so he would not persist.

13. How far did you go before you found him? I walked about half an hour by the river side, inquiring of every one I met whether he had seen a young man on horseback; and at last an old man told me he had seen him cross the river, nearly opposite the new building they are putting up (erecting), at a short distance from the entrance to the public promenade.

14. Are there any fine public walks in the metropolis? About seven or eight beautiful ones, the most of which have been made within the last five years.

* La cena.

EXPLANATION.

258. PAST PARTICIPLES.—Some past participles retain the regimen of their verbs; as,

Enemistado con su primo.

| On bad terms with his cousin.

259. The past participle must agree in gender and number with the subject or determining verb, except when that determining verb is haber; in which case the past participle is indeclinable, whatever be the gender and number of the subject; as,

Ha cantado una cancion.

| He has sung a song.

Los caballos que han comprado los mercaderes.

| The horses that the dealers have bought.

But the past participle, if it comes after the auxiliaries ser, estar, quedar, or any other, except haber, agrees with the subject in gender and number; as,

Los caballos que fueron comprados por los mercaderes.

The horses that were bought by the dealers.

Estan (or quedan) demostradas estas
verdades.

These truths are (or remain) demonstrated.

260. Some verbs have two past participles, one regular and the other irregular. These are used very differently, since the irregular one, being a true noun, is employed in an absolute sense only, and never signifies motion, whether in the active or in the passive form. For this reason the latter may be accompanied by the verbs ser, estar, quedar, and others, but never by the auxiliary haber; inasmuch as it would be improper to say: hubo convicto, he contracto, instead of, hubo conveniido, he contraido.

261. The irregular participles frito, fried; preso, taken prisoner; provisto, provided, and roto, broken, are the only ones that can be used with the verb haber, to form the compound tenses; as,

La cocinera habia frito (or freido) el pescado.

The cook had fried the fish.

Han prendido (or preso) al culpable.

They have taken (or arrested) the offender.

No sé si habrán ya proveido (or provisto) el empleo.

I do not know whether they have already provided (a person to fill) the office.

Has roto el vaso (sounds better than has rotpido el vaso).

You have broken the glass.

262. The verb matar, in the sense of to take away life, has the extraordinary irregularity of appropriating for its past participle that of the verb morir; the participle matado being used to express wounds or sores in animals, resulting from the rubbing of the harness, or from cruel treatment; as,

Un caballo matado.

A horse with a sore back.

Un caballo muerto.

A dead horse.

Un paísano le ha muerto.

A countryman killed him.

El capitán fué muerto por sus soldados.

The captain was killed by his soldiers.

But in speaking of a person that has committed suicide, we must say:

Se ha matado (and not Se ha muerto). | He has killed himself.

263. Some past or passive participles take an active signification, but only referring to persons; as,

Un jóven leído, aprovechado, callado. | A well read, thrifty and silent youth.

264. Past participles may sometimes take the place of substantives, and the difference can be known only by the antecedents and subsequents, as in this sentence :

Es un hecho que la Cena de da Vinci está felizmente expresada en el grabado de Mórghen, no obstante que le falta el colorido de la pintura.

It is a fact, that "The Last Supper" by Da Vinci is happily expressed in the engraving of Morghen, notwithstanding the latter lacks the coloring of the painting.

Where the words hecho, grabado and colorido, are substantives. The same words appear as participles in the following phrases :

Aunque el fresco de la Cena, hecho por da Vinci, está mal colorido y deteriorado, ha sido grabado con acierto por Mórghen.

Although the fresco of "The Last Supper," made by Da Vinci, is badly colored and deteriorated, it has been engraved with success by Morghen.

265. Other grammarians add one more tense in the infinitive mood; as,

Haber de amar.

To have to love.

Habiendo de amar.

Having to love.

But such a classification is no longer essential, nor even correct. In early Spanish literature that form frequently occurs, performing the office now almost exclusively filled by the regular terminations of the tenses, and chiefly those of the future indicative and the imperfect of the subjunctive.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Qué le gusta á V. mas, la conversacion ó la lectura? Ambas cosas me gustan mucho.

2. ¿Qué género de lectura le gusta á V. mas? La historia, la comedia, y la novela.

3. ¿Prefiere V. la prosa al verso? No, señor, la poesía me gusta mas; pero ha de ser muy buena, porque en poesía no me gusta la mediana.

4. Que autores, en la literatura moderna, me aconseja V. que lea para perfeccionarme en el español.—En historia y política lea V. á Lafuente, y á Miñano.

5. ¿Y para la comedia? A Moratin, Breton de los Herreros y Don Ventura De la Vega.

6. ¿No tienen Vds. otros? Sí, señor; pero yo le cito á V. solamente los mejores y solamente á los contemporáneos.

7. ¿Y poetas? Zorrilla, Espronceda, Hartzenbusch, y otros muchos.

8. ¿Tienen Vds. algun buen crítico contemporáneo por el estilo del antiguo Quevedo? Yo creo que no pueden encontrarse dos Quevedos; pero, sin embargo, tenemos críticos de costumbres muy buenos, tales como Larra (Fígaro), Don Ramon de Mesonero Romanos, Pelegrin, y otros.

9. ¿Tienen Vds. buenos autores para la tragedia y el drama? Sí, señor, muy buenos, por ejemplo, Martínez de la Rosa, García Gutiérrez, Gil y Zárate, etc., etc.

10. Yo no sabia que tuviesen Vds. tantos autores buenos en la literatura actual.—Yo pudiera citarle á V. otros muchos; pero si V. reúne las obras de los catorce mencionados logrará V. tener una pequeña librería de literatura moderna, que le enseñará á V. mas español que todas las gramáticas y métodos que se han compuesto para enseñar esta lengua hasta el dia, y que le remunerarán á V. ampliamente por el trabajo que le ha costado el aprenderla, con el placer y la instruccion que le comunicarán.

11. ¡Es posible! Yo habia oido decir, y así lo habia llegado á creer yo mismo, que España no poseia nada que mereciese mencion en su literatura moderna, y á decir verdad, los únicos libros buenos que creía que Vds. poseian eran el Don Quijote de Cervántes y las obras dramáticas de Calderon de la Barca.—Así lo he oido yo decir tambien, y en verdad que es una cosa que no puedo comprender, esa general ignorancia de la existencia de una literatura española contemporánea, que ha producido mas y mejores obras que las que se han producido en algunos siglos no solamente en España sino en otras naciones.

12. ¿Se conocen en España nuestros autores ingleses contemporáneos? Se conocen mucho mas de lo que aquí son conocidos los españoles; la prueba es que la mayor parte estan traducidos al castellano, y Vds. no tienen ninguna traduccion, que yo sepa, de todos esos autores que acabo de citarle á V.

13. Probablemente consiste en que los Americanos é Ingleses no aprenden mucho el español.—Entre los Americanos debo hacer tres honrosas excepciones, que son: Washington Irving, Prestcott, y Ticknor. Estos distinguidos escritores no solo aprendieron el español, sino que viajaron en España, visitaron nuestras mejores bibliotecas y quizá adquirieron en aquellas fuentes mucho del saber, la erudicion, el gusto y la elegancia en el decir que comunican á sus obras tanto interés y amenidad.

EXERCISE.

1. Ought we not to make the most of (profit by) every occasion that offers for acquiring knowledge? That is the only way to arrive at the possession of knowledge.

2. Tell the cook I do not wish that fish to be fried. It is too late to tell her so; she has already fried it.

3. Has that work been translated into Spanish? Not that I know; but it was translated with success into French, by M. de l'Orme, a few years ago.

4. Is not that gentleman to whom you introduced me a short time since a dramatist? He is, and his plays might serve as a model of elegance for many dramatists of higher pretensions (pretensiones) than he.

5. Have they found out yet who set fire to your uncle's house? Yes; and the offender has been arrested and convicted of the crime.

6. Would you be good enough to lend me that novel of which you read a chapter to me the day before yesterday? I would with great pleasure if it were mine; but it belongs to Alexander; and, as we are on bad terms at present, I should not like to ask him for any favors.

7. Would that painting be deteriorated * by being exposed to the heat of the sun (sol)? Certainly; and the heat of a strong fire would produce the same effect upon it.

8. Did your friend, the captain, return with his regiment from the war? No; he was killed in the first battle that took place after his arrival at the seat (teatro) of war.

9. I saw no mention made of his death in the newspapers. No; I believe his name did not appear in the list (lista) of the killed; but the sad news was communicated to his brother by an officer of the same regiment.

10. Do you like to walk in the garden in the morning before breakfast? I generally go to the garden every morning and evening to read and smoke in the cool air.

11. I wish you had bought that work on English literature. So do I; it would have been very useful to Louisa, who is so desirous of becoming perfect in that language.

12. Did your father think Peter merited the remuneration he received? I do not know whether he did or not; but, at all events, Peter must have merited some remuneration, or else he would have got none.

* Deteriorar.

13. Are you going to have your name engraved on your watch? I shall only have my initials (inicial) engraved on it.

14. What kind of literature does your aunt like best? Ha! you ask me more than I can tell you; I really cannot say whether she has any taste in the matter; for the fact is, never having taken her for a woman of much erudition, I have not taken the trouble to ask her.

EXPLANATION.

266. IDIOMS are certain peculiar modes of expression which cannot be translated literally into another language. We have already introduced some Spanish as well as English idioms ; but they are very numerous in all languages, and it would be as unnecessary to give within the compass of a grammar all those peculiar to the Spanish language, as it would be to introduce all its words. The learner will find them in the several dictionaries, and principally in the works of good writers.

However, we have introduced in the "Composition" of this lesson as many as the limits of this book would allow ; giving examples of phrases in which the English preposition differs in meaning from that which most generally constitutes its proper signification, and consequently must be translated by words corresponding to those in whose place it stands ; as,

No sé qué determinar.	I am at a loss how to act.
De ningun modo.	Not at all.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿ En dónde está Alejandro ? Está corriendo por las calles.
2. ¿ Porqué no me lo dijiste ántes ? Estaba para decírselo á V.

3. Yo no quiero que ande correteando calles.—Creo que iba en busca de su amigo.

4. Se lo tengo prohibido; pero el no me obedece, y hace las cosas á su antojo.—Yo me opuse á ello, y le dije qué V. queria ir á paseo con todos nosotros.

5. Don Cárlos, si V. quiere, iré á buscarlo.—De ningun modo, V. no lo encontraria; lo que tengo es que haga alguna travesura que le cueste cara.

6. Yo creo que subiendo á lo largo del rio lo encontraré, porque si no me engaño le oí decir que queria ir á nadar.—No sé qué determinar, pero no, mejor será dejarlo, vámonos nosotros á paseo (or vamos).

7. Su hermano Manuel es muy diferente, excede á toda alabanza y siempre obedece los preceptos de su papá.—Sin duda alguna Manuel es un excelente muchacho.

8. ¡Hola! aquí viene Juanito. ¿Viene V. al campo con nosotros? Con mucho gusto; pero ántes tengo que pedir á V. un favor.

9. Délo V. por concedido.—¿Palabra de honor?—Sobre mi palabra. ¿Qué es?

10. Que perdone V. á Alejandro.—¡Vaya! sea así, puesto que dí mi palabra; ¿pero dónde está? Se escondió y no se atreve á presentarse de miedo, pero ahora lo veo asomado á una ventana en el segundo piso de su casa de V.

11. Yo creo que ha perdido el juicio ese muchacho; venga V. aca, señor mio, y cuéntenos qué ha hecho en todo este tiempo que ha estado fuera de casa.—Papá, perdóneme V., que no lo volveré á hacer otra vez.

12. Bien, bien, dejémoslo así por esta vez.

13. ¿Don José, como está su hermana de V.? Está mejor y esperamos que ya está fuera de peligro.

14. ¿Mató el torero al toro á la primera estocada? Sí, señor, á la primera estocada lo atravesó de parte á parte.

15. ¿No se trata V. con su vecino? No, señor, es un hombre lleno de soberbia, á quien no puedo aguantar.

16. ¿Se dió el navío á la vela para la Habana? Sí, señor, el navío está á la vela.

17. ¿Pusieron al culpable en custodia? No, señor, le dejaron bajo juramento de que se presentaria en el tribunal.

18. ¿Conoce V. á la Señorita Sánchez? Hace poco tiempo que hice su conocimiento, su hermosura me sorprendió y es una señorita dotada de grandes virtudes.

19. ¿Viajó V. el verano pasado por mar ó por tierra? Por supuesto por mar, puesto que fuí á Europa.

20. ¿Pasaron Vds. por Francia? Sí, señor, pasámos por Francia, y el doce de Mayo entrámos en Paris.

21. ¿Está V. de mal humor? Sí, señor, malísimo, porque tengo un terrible dolor de muelas.

22. Le aconsejo á V. que se arme de paciencia.—Mil gracias, por su buen consejo, pero creo que será mejor armarse de un buen gatillo.

EXERCISE.

1. How does that man spend his time? He seems to do nothing but run about the streets.

2. Is your uncle's sight not good? No, sir; and that is the reason why he wears spectacles.

3. Is that the way you spell (escribir) that word? Oh, no, of course not; I must take out one of the e's.

4. Does your watch keep good time (andar bien)? Yes, when it goes, which occurs very rarely*; it gets out of order about twice a month.

5. Did you see the Spanish man-of-war (ship of war) that came into port (puerto) last month? Yes, I saw it the day it set sail (darse á la vela) to return to Spain.

6. Did you go to see a bull-fight during your stay at Madrid? I did; and although I do not like it myself, yet I could not help (no poder ménos de) admiring the amazing dexterity of the men (bull-fighters) who dared to expose their lives attacking the furious animal.

7. How many stories are there in the house you live in? Three; I generally sleep on the third floor.

8. Can you not induce him to stay at home? No, he wants to go; it is a whim of his, and he will not bear with any opposition.

9. Were you in court at the time of the trial? No, I could not go down town that day.

10. How far had he gone before you overtook him? I caught up with him at the corner of the street.

11. How is your cousin getting on? Pretty well; but his arm is still swollen, and to all appearance it pains him very much.

12. I wonder how he can bear up under so much suffering. He lives in the hope of getting better one day or other.

13. Did that man swear he had not been there? He made (prestar) affidavit that he had never set (put) his foot in the house.

14. What a beautiful young lady that is! That is true; but her learning by far exceeds her beauty.

EXPLANATION.

267. There are several conjunctions in English that are frequently used as substitutes for other words; these conjunctions are generally rendered in Spanish by the words which they stand in the place of; as,

Los vímos cuando entrabamos.
Diga V. si quiere venir ó no.

We saw them as we were going in.
Say whether you will come or not.

268. The Spanish conjunctions are also often used as substitutes for other words of very different meanings. Let si and que serve as examples :

Si, as an adverb, is, as we have already observed, affirmative, except when employed ironically.

Si, as a conjunction, may be employed in a variety of significations. The following are some of its principal uses :

1st. To denote the condition on which depends the accomplishment of an action ; as,

Si quieres acompañarme, voy á salir.	If you will accompany me, I am going out.
---	---

2d. To express indispensable conditions ; as,

Tendrás el caballo si lo pagas.	You will have the horse if you pay for it.
--	--

3d. In the sense of although, or even though ; as,

No lo haría si me importara la vida (i. e., aunque or por mas que , me importara la vida).	I would not do it, even though my life were at stake.
--	---

4th. In familiar conversation this conjunction is often employed in meanings very different from those we have just explained. For instance, it is often used instead of es que, it is because ; cuando, when ; porque, because ; and not unfrequently instead of ya, already, as we read in one of Moratin's comedies :

Si (es que) acabo de entrar.	I have but just come in.
Si (cuando) él al cabo ha de venir.	For, after all, he must come.
Si (es que) no es eso.	But that is not it.
Si (ya) lo dije.	But I said so (or did say so).
Si (porque) no hay cosa que yo haga.	For I do nothing at all.

5th. It is often used redundantly ; as,

Apénas si se oía el confuso rumor de los pasos.	The confused tramping of feet could scarcely be heard.
--	--

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿ Iria V. á ver á su hermano si tuviera tiempo ? Yo iria si no creyera que fuese inútil.

2. Diga V. si vendrá ó no.—Amigo mio temo salir, porque hace mal tiempo, y es menester que me cuide porque si no enfermaré.

3. ¿ Estuvo V. ayer á ver el recibimiento del Presidente ? No, señor, mis ocupaciones no me lo permitieron.

4. ¿Cuáles son los colores en que se descompone el espectro solar? Violado, añil, azul, verde, amarillo, anaranjado y rojo.

5. ¿De qué color tiñe V. sus guantes? Los tiño de amarillo.

6. ¿Qué tal le gusta á V. este ejercicio? No me gusta de ningún modo, y si continúa tan interesante como hasta aquí, creo que me hará dormir.

7. ¿Qué costumbres le gustan á V. mas, las de España ó las de los Estados Unidos? Naturalmente, como español, me gustan mas las de España.

8. Pero ¿cuáles son las mejores? No sabré decírselo á V., cada nacion tiene las suyas y cada individuo se apega desde su infancia á las de su propio país.

9. ¿Cuál es la diversion favorita del pueblo español? Las corridas de toros; esto se entiende hablando del pueblo en general y aun de muchos caballeros de la primera clase de la sociedad; pero no de todos, porque hay muchos, principalmente, señoras, que jamás han visto una corrida de Toros.

10. Debe ser una diversion muy cruel y muy peligrosa.—No deja de ser peligrosa, pues los toros de España son mas feroces y ligeros que los de ninguna parte del mundo, criados con este objeto montaraces, de modo que cuando de improviso se encuentran en la plaza muestran una ferocidad y una valentía en nada inferior á la de un leon de los desiertos del Africa, que se encontrase de repente en estos circos llenos de séres humanos.

11. ¿Quiere V. hacerme el favor de relatarme una corrida de toros? Lo haria con mucho gusto; pero sé que no podria hacerlo como merece esta antigua diversion, en algo semejante á los circos de los Griegos y Romanos.

12. ¡Vámos! pruebe V.—Pero si es imposible, y aunque llegara á pintarle á V. el local, los vistosos trajes, tanto del pueblo como de los toreos, los curiosos ceremoniales de la fiesta, las autoridades que la presiden, las tropas que la guardan; la música, el bullicio, los dichos picantes, las sonrisas, las guiñadas, los lloros y carcajadas, todo esto no serviria de nada para hacerle á V. concebir una pequeña idea del gozo y entusiasmo que anima al pueblo español en una corrida de toros.

13. ¡Es posible! ¡Con que todo eso hay! pues yo creia que se reducía á una carnicería de vacas y caballos.—Pues si V. estuviera en Madrid le sucederia como á todos los extrangeros, que á pesar de criticarnos esta diversion, jamás pierden una corrida de toros.

14. Pero ¿en qué puede consistir ese goce que V. me pondera? ¡Goce! hombre, he visto yo tirar á la plaza el baston, el bolsillo y hasta el reloj, entusiasmado de la proeza de algun toreador. Eso era lo que yo le decia á V. que no era fácil de pintar, porque no consiste en la cosa misma por mas interés que tenga sino en la disposicion particular y el entusiasmo de cada uno. Y si no dígame V. en el juego del fragata* americano en que no se ve otra cosa que una pelota que rueda por el suelo, ó se eleva por el aire, despedida por un garrote. . . . ¡¡¡Qué es lo que mueve toda aquella algazara y ruido y confusion y gritos de, Hola!!! Willie!!! Charley!!! Here!!! Here!!! Run!!! James!!! Hurra!!! Hurra!!!

15. Ha, ha, ha; V. me hace reir con su corrida de toros. ¡Vaya! me alegro, algo se ha ganado, porque al principio yo creia que V. se iba á dormir.

EXERCISE.

1. Had you not better leave a line for him in case he should come? I think it would be better; notwithstanding that it seems impossible for him to get here to-night.

2. Do the boys still continue to take lessons? One of them still continues, although the least studious of the three; the other two gave up all of a sudden last month.

3. What shouts are those I hear up-stairs? Charles has some friends with him, and they are getting enthusiastic on the occasion of the President's visit to the city.

4. Do you know how to keep a secret? I want to know that before I tell you this one.—I do.—Well, so do I.

5. I suppose† they gave the General a grand reception when he returned from the war? A magnificent † one, fit for a king; it was Peter's uncle that presided at it.

6. Can you tell me how many prismatic colors there are, and their names? I shall try; let us see: Green, blue, violet, red, orange, yellow, indigo.

7. What is the best time for learning a language with the least trouble? During infancy; in that age the study of languages is reduced to its simplest expression.

8. What would the earth be without the light and heat which we receive from the sun? A perfect desert; man nor no living being could exist, and there would be no vegetation, for all animated nature is sustained by the vivifying (vivificador) effects of the sun.

9. What is the use of the prism? It possesses the power of decomposing the sunbeam (rayo del sol), thus enabling (poder) us to see separately the rays of different colors which unite to form what is called light.

10. Where are you going now? it is not yet time for the theatre. Why, it is half-past seven, and the play begins at eight precisely.

11. If my friend should have come while I was out? Oh, I imagine that if he had come he would have left some word (dejar dicho) for you.

* Base ball.

† Suponer.

‡ Magnífico.

12. What is that confused tramping of feet* that I hear in the street? A crowd of people running to see a fire in the next street.

13. Do you hear how that lady praises† the courage of the man who has just got into the lion's cage (jaula)? I do, and I was just thinking she might find an occupation of more interest; besides, I do not see any proof of courage in such a rash action as to shut one's self up with a ferocious animal like the lion.

14. What sort of a dress did Miss H. wear at the ball? A blue silk ( seda ) dress, with violet and orange trimmings (guarniciones). Can you conceive of any thing more detestable?

¡Qué de injusticias no se cometen!	How much injustice is there not committed!
¡Qué! ¿no vienes?	What! are you not coming?

¡Fulano!—¿Qué?	Such a one! What?
Iré á paseo, que no estaré siempre metido en casa.	I shall go and take a walk, for I will not be always stuck in the house.
Qué quiera que no quiera.	Whether he will or not.
No es hijo mio, que si lo fuera . . .	He is no son of mine, for if he were . . .

EXPLANATION.

269. QUE, as a conjunction, is employed in so many different ways and meanings, tending to perplex the learner, that we deem it essential to mention here some of its principal uses :

It is employed as a copulative ; as,

Tratemos ahora de descansar, que será lo mejor.	Let us go to rest now; that will be best.
--	---

It sometimes serves to introduce an incidental proposition dependent on the principal one ; as,

Si no hay virtudes, que son el cimiento de la libertad, no se afianzará esta en los pueblos.	If there are no virtues, which are the foundation of liberty, the latter will have no firm foothold among nations.
---	--

It is employed instead of sino, but after either of the adjectives otro or mas ; as,

En muchas obras no se encuentra otro (or mas) mérito que el estilo.	Many works are void of all merit except the style.
--	--

It is employed instead of pero, but in the phrase es que, with which we convey the reason why something is or is not done ; as,

Es que estoy ocupado.	But I am busy.
Es que se encuentra sin ningun auxilio.	But he is entirely forsaken.

The conjunction que, placed between two words of the same meaning, besides uniting them as a conjunction, gives more energy to the expression ; as,

Con la pérdida de su madre está todo el dia llora que llora.	She is the whole day over lamenting the loss of her mother.
---	---

At other times it serves to confirm more and more the expression ; as,

¡ Qué hermosa que estás ! (instead of, ¡ Qué hermosa estás !)	How beautiful you are !
¡ Ese sí que es un modo de portarse con honor ! (instead of ¡ Ese sí es un modo de portarse con honor !)	That, now, is an honorable mode of acting !

The conjunction que, at the beginning of a sentence, implies a proposition going before it; as,

Que llaman.	Some one is calling.
Que me deje en paz.	Let him let me alone.
¡ Qué me matan !	Murder !

In all these examples a proposition is understood before the que; as, mirad, in the first; deseo or quiero, in the second; and reparad or sabed, in the third.

When the sentence is interrogative or exclamatory, que denotes desire and expostulation; as,

¡ Qué no lo hubiera yo sabido !	Ah! could I but have known it!
¡ Qué siempre has de ser un holgazan !	Are you always to be a sluggard!

In an exclamatory sentence, and when it precedes a noun adjective, it is equivalent to cuán; as,

¡ Qué hermoso cielo !	What a beautiful sky!
¡ Qué horrenda noche !	What an horrific night!

But if in these sentences the substantive comes first, the particle tan must be put between, because we cannot say: ¡ Qué cielo hermoso ! but, ¡ Qué cielo tan hermoso !

In some sentences a determining verb is understood; as,

A que sí.	I will bet you it is.
A que no.	I will bet you it is not.
A que lo digo.	I will bet you I can say it.
A que lo hago.	I will bet you I can do it, in which is understood the present indicative apuesto, I bet.

In other sentences it is equivalent to a collective noun or a plural adjective, and requires to be followed by the preposition de; as,

¡ Qué de crímenes se vieron !	How much crime there was!
¡ Qué de injusticias no se cometen !	How much injustice is there not committed!

instead of saying: ¡ Cuántos crímenes ! ¡ Cuántas injusticias ! or, ¡ Qué multitud de crímenes é injusticias !

It also denotes surprise, and is used as an interrogative, and for answering; as,

¡ Qué ! ¿ no vienes ?	What! are you not coming?
------------------------------	---------------------------

and is equivalent to an entire proposition answering; as,

¡Fulano! ¿Qué? (i. e. ¿Qué quieres?)	Such a one! What? (i. e. What do you want?)
--------------------------------------	---

At other times it is employed instead of the adversative sino, and the copulative y, in periods where the second member denotes opposition to what is expressed in the first; as,

No lo conseguirá; que se quedará con el deseo (instead of sino que se quedará, etc.).	He will not get it, but will remain with the desire.
Iré á paseo, que no estaré siempre metido en casa (instead of y no estaré, etc.).	I shall go out to walk, for I will not be always stuck in the house.

It is not unfrequently used in the place of a disjunctive conjunction; as,

Que quiera que no quiera (i. e., quiera ó no quiera).	Whether he will or not.
--	-------------------------

It is sometimes substituted for one or other of the causals, pues, porque, pues que; as,

No es hijo mio, que si lo fuera . . . (i. e., porque or pues, si lo fuera).	He is not son of mine, for if he were . . .
--	---

In this meaning it is more used in poetry than in prose; as, “*Que quien se opone al cielo,

Cuanto mas alto sube, viene al suelo.*”

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Se habla el castellano en todas las provincias de España? En los tribunales, universidades, y oficinas públicas, sí señor; pero el pueblo habla diferentes dialectos.

2. ¿Qué dialectos son estos? El catalan, que se habla en Cataluña; el valenciano, en Valencia; el gallego, en Galicia; y el vasconco que se habla en las provincias vascongadas, que son Alava, Guipúzcoa y Vizcaya; se cree que este último es lengua madre y una de las mas antiguas de Europa.

3. ¿En dónde se habla el castellano? En las demás provincias, Castilla, Aragon y Andalucía.

4. ¿Porqué no se habla el español en toda España? Porque España estuvo anteriormente dividida en varios reinos; de estos algunos fueron conquistados por los Arabes, otros pertenecieron á Francia, y otros finalmente permanecieron independientes por muchos siglos, hasta que Fernando é Isabel, echando á los Arabes de España, reunieron las coronas de Aragon y Castilla.

5. ¿Son diferentes las costumbres de las provincias de España? Mucho; no solamente no se habla la misma lengua en todas, sino que hasta poco tiempo hace cada provincia tenia leyes diferentes, y aun hoy dia tienen pesas, medidas, traje y hasta caractéres muy distintos.

6. Pues eso debe ser muy incómodo; en los Estados Unidos tenemos la ventaja de hablar una misma lengua y tenemos las mismas pesas, medidas y monedas.—Verdad es, pero tambien es cierto que Vds. han hecho todo esto con la experiencia adquirida en el antiguo mundo.

7. ¿Y porqué no lo hacen Vds. así en España? Porque nosotros tenemos ya establecidas estas cosas de tiempo innemorial, y no es fácil cambiar costumbres arraigadas por tantos siglos.

8. Cuando Vds. fundan una ciudad en este nuevo mundo, eligen el terreno necesario, tiran Vds. líneas rectas y trazan calles y plazas; para esto no siguen el modelo de una antigua ciudad de Europa, pero las antiguas ciudades de Europa con sus imperfecciones é irregularidades les han mostrado á Vds. el modo de construir ciudades, cuyo solo defecto consiste en su extremada regularidad.

9. ¿Y no cree V. que de esta igualdad resultan grandes ventajas? Sin duda alguna, y seria de desear que en todo el mundo se hablase la misma lengua, hubiese la misma moneda, pesas y medidas, y, tanto como el clima, las costumbres y otras circunstancias lo permitiesen, las mismas leyes.

10. Tambien me han dicho que hay en España varias clases de sociedad; ¿no es así? Sí, señor; pero eso sucede en todas las naciones del mundo.

11. No en los Estados Unidos. V. vé que aquí no se dan títulos de nobleza, no hay diferencia en el traje, y decimos Mr. Johnson, hablando del presidente, and Mr. Johnson, hablando de un carnicero, y el mismo Presidente Johnson era ántes sastre, de modo que la igualdad existe en las personas como en las cosas.

12. No olvide V., sin embargo, que Dios no ha hecho dos cosas iguales en el mundo, y que los hombres son quizá mas desiguales entre sí que las mismas cosas.—Concedido, y no hay cosa que mas ridícula me parezca que las lavanderas vestidas de señoras, y los rowdies del Bowery afectando ser caballeros.

EXERCISE.

1. Did you meet them as you were going in, or as you were coming out? As we were going in.

2. What is the name of that province in Spain in which they speak the Catalonian language or dialect? Catalonia.

3. In which province do they speak the Basque? In the three Basque provinces.

4. And do these dialects differ very materially* from the Castilian language? Yes, very materially; in general they are more like the French than the Spanish.

5. Have you ever heard the Spanish name for the natives of Galicia? Yes, sir, for I am well acquainted with several Galicians living in New York.

6. Can you tell me the weights and measures principally used in the Peninsula (Península)? The principal weight, entirely different from all those of the United States, is the arroba.

7. How many Isabellas have there been on the throne of Spain? Two; the first was Isabella the Catholic, and the present queen is Isabella II.

8. By what event is the reign of Isabella the Catholic distinguished from all other reigns? By the discovery of America by Christopher Columbus (Cristóbal Colon), in the year 1492.

9. Was there not some other very important event that occurred about the same time? Ah! yes; at the commencement of that queen's reign; you mean, I suppose, the conquest of the Arabs, and union of the crown of Castile and Aragon.

10. Are railroads very common in the Peninsula? Not so common as in other European countries; but of late years the spirit of enterprise seems to be revived in Spain, and to the few which now exist we shall soon see a large number of others added.

11. Let us sit down and rest for half an hour, for I am very tired, and you must be so too.

12. How beautiful the sky looks (is) to night! That is true; but how it rained all day!

13. How long has that newspaper been published? Ten years, for it was established (founded) in 1856.

In the body of the letter, su ap<sup>b</sup>le (su apreciable), or su est<sup>da</sup> (su estimada), or su favor<sup>da</sup> (su favorecida)—carta, letter, being understood—are equivalent to your favor or your esteemed letter.

Such expressions as these are translated thus :

Las de V. del 2 del cor <sup>to</sup> (corriente); 4 del pp <sup>do</sup> (próximo pasado); 8 de Mayo, etc.	Yours of the 2d inst. ; 4th ult. ; 8th of May, &c.
---	---

The following forms are employed at the end of letters :

Se repite á las órdenes de V., S. S. S. (Su seguro servidor). Q. S. M. B. (Que su mano besa). Manden Vms. cuanto gusten á S. S. S., Q. S. M. B.	} I am, Dear Sir, Yours respectfully.  Command at pleasure your faithful servant.
--	---

To a lady, the form is the same, only changing the letter M. into P., thus :

S. S. S., Q. S. P. B. (Que sus piés besa).
--	--

In a more familiar style :

Muy Sr. mio y amigo. Mi querido amigo. Mande V. con toda franqueza á su invariable amigo y S. S.	My Dear Sir and Friend. My Dear Friend. Command with freedom your true friend and faithful servant.
---	--

Esquelas, notes, are also written in Spanish, as in English, in the third person ; as,

El Sr. A. De L. presenta (or ofrece) sus respetos al Sr. Dn. I. De H., y le hace saber que, etc.	Mr. A. De L. presents his respects to Mr. I. De H., and begs to acquaint him that, &c.
--	--

The most usual manner of addressing letters is :

Sr. Dn. José Martínez, del Comercio de Madrid.
Sres. Dn. Fran<sup>co</sup> Sánchez, Hermanos y Ca., Cádiz.
Sra. Dña. Teodora Jiménez y Arteta, Calle Mayor N<sup>o</sup>. 10.
Al Ex<sup>mo</sup> Sr. D. Juan Valero y Arteta, Madrid.

In the city :

B. L. M.,
 Al Sr. D. P.,
 S. S. S.,
 A. T.

TO A LADY.

B. L. P.,
 A la Sra. Da. F. V.,
 S. S. S.,
 A. T.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Le gusta á V. escribir cartas? Me gusta escribir á mis amigos íntimos ; pero me gusta mas recibir cartas que escribirlas.

2. Yo no sé bien el ceremonial ó formulario de cartas, ¿quiere V. hacerme el favor de decirme cómo se principia una carta? Con mucho gusto, pregúnteme V. aquello que no sepa.

3. ¿Cómo se principia una carta dirigida á una persona cualquiera con quien no tenemos intimidad? Si es un caballero, principiamos con la fórmula de Muy Sr. mio, y si es una señora con la de Muy Señora mia.

4. ¿Y para acabar? Escribiendo á un caballero solemos decir entre otras muchas expresiones, “Queda de V.,
 S. S. S.,
 Q. S. M. B.,
 Fulano de tal.”

5. ¿Y si es una señora á quien escribimos? Lo mismo, solo cambiamos la inicial de mano, M., en la inicial de piés, P., así, “Queda de V.,

 S. S. S.,
 Q. S. P. B.,
 Fulano de tal.”

6. ¿Y cuándo es á un íntimo amigo? Entónces es mas parecido al inglés y principiamos diciendo : “Querido amigo,” y para acabar, cualquiera de las muchas expresiones que se usan, como :

“Tu amigo que te ama de corazon,
 Fulano de tal.”

7. ¿Cómo se escriben las esquelas de invitacion, etc., á las personas que viven en la ciudad? Se escriben, como en inglés, en la tercera persona.

8. ¿Quiere V. escribirme una esquela invitándome á comer? Sí, señor, vea V. así : “Los Sres. De V. presentan sus respetos á los Sres. De T., y les suplican que les hagan el honor de venir á comer con ellos el mártes á las cinco. Lunes, Abril 8 de 1866.”

9. Veamos si V. puede responderme en español.—Vea V., “Los Sres. De T. se apresurarán á acudir al amable convite de los Sres. De V., y les presentan sus mas finas atenciones.”

10. Muy bien, muy bien, ahora solo falta poner la direccion (el sobre). —Estando las personas á quien me dirijo en la ciudad, creo que el sobrescrito debe ponerse así :

B. L. M.

Al Sr. De V.

S. S. S.,

A. De T.

11. ¿ Cree V. que podré ahora traducir una carta mercantil en inglés ? Sí, señor, y escribirla tambien, puesto que V. sabe ya la estructura de la lengua, además de poseer un gran número de sus giros, idiotismos y palabras mas necesarias ; pero todavía tendrá V. necesidad de acudir al diccionario, porque no es posible introducir en una gramática todas las palabras y frases que requiere una correspondencia mercantil.

EXERCISE.

1. Do you ever do any of the correspondence in your office (escritorio)? Not often, for I do not know how to write letters in Spanish, and the greater part of our correspondence is carried on (llevar) in that language.

2. You ought, in that case, to make that branch the object of particular study for a time. That is what I desire to do; and I would be obliged to you to give me some instructions (instruir) in the forms most observed in Spanish houses.

3. I shall have much pleasure in showing you all I know myself; but as I have never been in business, there are many points of which I am ignorant (ignorar).

4. What is the first thing to write in a letter? In Spanish, as in English, the date is generally the first thing; it is written thus :

CADIZ, October 1st, 1866.

5. What comes next? The name and residence of the person we are writing to, thus :

Messrs. LAFUENTE, SONS & Co., Malaga :

6. So far there is little difference between the two languages. Very little; we next go on to say (luego se pone) :

Gentlemen (or Sir, or My Dear Sir, or Dear Sirs, or, if we write to a lady, Madam) :

7. Ah! there I observe a decided difference: is that the form always followed for commencing letters? For business letters, yes; but for familiar correspondence, we have many others; indeed,* they are mostly always suited to the taste of the writer.

8. Be good enough to show me one or two. With the greatest * El hecho es.

pleasure: My Dear Friend: My Very Dear Alexander: Esteemed Friend: My Ever Dear Mother, &c., &c., &c.

9. How do you acknowledge (acusar) the receipt of a favor? In this manner: I have duly received your esteemed favor (or letter) of the 17th instant.

10. As for the body of the letter, the form depends entirely on the nature of the business; and, in general, all that is required is to say just what is necessary and nothing more, and to avoid obscurity (oscuridad), in order that our ideas may be completely understood by our correspondent (corresponsal).

11. The usual manners of closing a letter are:

I am, dear sir,
Your most obd't ser't; or,
I am, sir,
Yours very truly.

12. And for familiar letters:

I am, dear Charles,
Your true friend and loving cousin; or,
With kindest expressions to your brother,
Believe me to remain your ever faithful and loving friend.

EXPLANATION.

271. It is a general custom, amongst authors of Spanish grammars and Spanish methods, to copy entire the forty pages devoted by the Spanish Academy in its Grammar to a list of verbs requiring certain prepositions after them. But we, notwithstanding our most profound respect for the body just mentioned, refrain from following in the footsteps of our predecessors, and that not merely on account of the uselessness of the list, but for the more potent reason that we believe it to be calculated to misguide the student at every step. An example:—Any one not thoroughly acquainted with Spanish syntax would, on reading the very first article in the list above referred to, Abalanzarse á los peligros, naturally conclude therefrom that the verb abalanzar governs at all times and under all circumstances the preposition á. Now that would be absurd, for nothing is more usual than to see, and hear the expressions:—Abalanzarse contra (or sobre) su enemigo, abalanzarse con (or sin) juicio, abalanzarse para sacudir, de repente, &c. And so of all the other verbs, each of which may, according to the idea to be conveyed, govern almost any preposition in the language.

It would be vain to attempt to give, in a work of the nature of the present one, a complete set of rules for determining the various significations of every verb as decided or modified by the attendant preposition; but, as much can be done, even here, toward helping the student through the most difficult parts, we could not resist giving in this day's Composition a list composed of those verbs which are at the same time of most frequent occurrence in general every-day conversation, and susceptible of the greatest diversity of meaning, according to the preposition by which they are followed.

Before dismissing this subject we deem it convenient to remark that a large number of English verbs, to determine the meaning of which a preposition is indispensable, are rendered in Spanish by a verb alone. For example :

Bajar.	To go down.
Entrar.	To come in.
Salir.	To go out.
Subir.	To go up.
Sacar.	To draw out.
Partir.	To set out.
Caer.	To fall down.

This may be the reason why many Spanish grammarians have thought that in Spanish the same thing does not exist. We regret that the dimensions of our book do not allow of our giving a more complete list in corroboration of the fact that Spanish verbs too enjoy that transition of signification which is so frequent in English verbs.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿A qué lado caen las ventanas de su cuarto de V.? Tres caen á la plaza de Madison y las otras tres caen á la calle Veinte y cinco.

2. ¿Le cae á V. en gracia ese muchachito? Sí, señor, porque responde con mucha agudeza.

3. ¿Puedo contar con su promesa de V.? V. puede contar con ella, porque yo cumplo siempre lo que prometo.

4. ¿Da V. crédito á todo lo que oye? No, señor, á ménos que conozca las personas.

5. ¿Da V. la mano á aquel pobre? Sí, señor, porque aunque pobre es honrado.

6. ¿Ha dado V. fin á su tarea? Todavía no; pero pronto daré de mano.

7. Si V. deja esos libros en manos de ese muchacho, pronto dará fin de ellos.—Así lo creo; pero es necesario que los niños tengan algo para entretenerse.

8. ¿Cómo ha dispuesto V. de sus alhajas? Las he guardado, porque pude encontrar dinero sin venderlas.

9. ¿Qué se hizo de aquel mal negocio en que se metió su primo de V.? Se le ha echado tierra, y nadie se acuerda mas de él.

10. ¿En qué se ocupa su amigo de V.? Entiende en vinos; pero es cosa que no entiende.

11. ¿Cómo está su esposa de V. ? Ella está de cuidado, y yo con cuidado.
12. ¿Está V. en hacer aquel negocio? Estoy para hacerlo.
13. ¿Queda V. en hacer ese encargo por mí? Quedo en hacerlo y pierda V. cuidado, que no se quedará por hacer.
14. ¿Es V. mayor de edad? No, señor, todavía no; pero soy mayor en edad con respecto á mis hermanos.
15. No ponga V. eso por tierra.—No lo pongo por tierra, sino en tierra.
16. ¿Piensa V. salir con su empresa? No, señor, pero pienso salir pronto de ella.
17. ¿Tiró ese hombre de la espada? Tiró de la espada, porque la sacó; pero el miedo le hizo emprender la fuga y la tiró.
18. Don Juan, ¿le gusta á V. vender al fiado? No, señor, me gusta vender al contado y de contado.
19. ¿Volvió D. Francisco por la razon? No, señor, D. Francisco no ha vuelto á la razon, y por consiguiente no volvió por la razon.
20. ¿Se acuerda ese hombre con su esposa? No, señor, no se acuerdan.
21. ¿Se acuerda V. de lo que le dije á V. ayer? No, señor, lo he olvidado.
22. ¿Conviene V. ahora conmigo en que el español es mas fácil que el inglés? Convengo con V. en ello.
23. ¿Le conviene á V. hacer eso? No, señor, no me conviene.
24. ¿Dió V. por fin con lo que buscaba? No, señor, todavía no lo he encontrado.

EXERCISE.

1. Has the Baron given up his project? He told me he would like to give it up, if he could do so honorably.
2. I understand he is an honorable man? Yes, and he is therefore respected by all who know him.
3. Has your brother come to an agreement with that dealer for the purchase of the horse he was speaking of? It appears not, and that, on the contrary, he desires to get rid of the one he has.
4. Did you inform the merchant of the order you received from the West? Not yet; but I intend to let him know of it this very day.
5. Does that woman understand cooking? She says she does; and she handed me a letter from a lady with whom she lived two years.
6. Did the captain draw his sword as soon as he heard his antagonist's reply? He had already drawn it; but when he heard the reply he threw down his sword, and ran and gave his hand to the man whom, a few moments before, he was resolved to kill.

7. Has your brother sent you the books he promised you? No, and that need not surprise you, for I can never rely (count) on him for any thing.

8. That is to say, he never keeps his promise? That is precisely what I mean to say.

9. Do past participles always agree in gender and number with the subject of the verb? Yes, always, except when governed by the auxiliary to have.

10. Are there not some participles, past and present, that do not retain the regimen of the verbs to which they belong?—There are very many; and, if you like, I will mention some of them.—Be good enough to do so.

11. I hope you have provided yourself with every thing necessary for your journey? Every thing, except one or two articles which I have been unable to find.

12. How do you advise me to arrange (dispose) all these books? I have only one advice to give you in the matter, and that is, to dispose of them as quickly as you can.

13. Would you like to taste this dish? No, thank you, I am not fond of it.

14. Is he not of your opinion? Not at all; he always goes (sides) with his father.

I am very sorry for it (i. e., I feel it much).

I am very sorry to know it (i. e., it grieves me much to know it).

274. CABER, to be capable of containing, &c.—This verb is employed in different manners in Spanish; as, ¿ Cuántas personas caben en esta iglesia ?

How many persons does this church hold (or is it capable of containing) ?

No cabiamos todos en el salon.	The saloon could not hold us all.
¿Puede caber en tu imaginacion tal cosa?	Can such a thing enter your imagination?
Cabe mucho en este baul.	This trunk holds a great deal.
No caber de piés.	To have no room to stand.
A mí me cupo en suerte venir á la América.	It was my lot to come to America.
No caber en sí.	To be well satisfied with one's self.
No caber de gozo.	To be overjoyed.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Buenos dias, señores, ¿conque ya todos estan listos? Pues no habiamos de estar, si son ya las seis y quedámos en que saldriamos á las cinco.

2. Habriamos estado aquí de los primeros, si no hubiera sido que, despues de haber andado dos ó tres manzanas, echó de ver mi esposa que habia olvidado la llave del cuarto, el paraguas, el abanico, y yo no sé cuántas otras cosas mas; pero en fin ya estamos aquí, ¿cuándo partimos? Estamos esperando el carro que va al embarcadero de la calle Treinta y tres.

3. Señoras, esten Vds. prontas, porque veo venir el carro.—Don Martin, ayúdeme V. á llevar este canasto, porque es superior á mis fuerzas.—Llame V. á Don Pepito, que no hace mas que decir piropos á las señoritas, porque yo tengo ya dos paráguas y tres niños de que cuidar.

4. Don Pepe, V. que no tiene niños, ni canastos, etc., sírvase V. pagar al conductor.—(¡ El diantre del hombre! ahora me pesa no haber tomado un canasto.)

5. ¡ El pasaje caballeros! ¿ Cuántos somos? uno, dos, tres, cuatro, caballeros; una, dos, tres, cuatro, siete señoras, esto es: once personas mayores y catorce niños.

6. Papá, ¿ está muy léjos el sitio á donde vamos á pasar el dia? No, Luisita, solamente unas diez millas.

7. ¿ De este lado ó del otro del rio? Del otro, desde aquí lo puedes ver.

8. ¿ No ves allá á lo léjos, en la cima de aquella colina, una casa blanca en donde flota la bandera americana? Sí, señor, es muy bonito sitio y debe tener muy buenas vistas.

9. Cuidado con los niños al saltar en tierra, no se caiga alguno al agua.—¿ Estan todos fuera? ¿ No se ha olvidado nada?—No, señor.—Pues en marcha.

10. Don Pepito, tome V. ese canasto, y cuidado no lo deje caer y rompa las botellas que contiene.—¡ Hombre, por Dios! con el pretexto de que venia con las manos vacías, me ha hecho V. pagar los carros y el va-porcito por veinte y tres personas, y ahora me quiere V. hacer cargar con el canasto del vino.

11. Vamos, Don Pepito, llévelo V. ahora hasta la cima de aquella colina, que á la vuelta á casa yo me encargo de llevarlo.—¡Mire V. qué gracia! á la vuelta! qué es lo que quedará de una docena de botellas, despues de beber veinte y tres personas.

12. Nada; el que no ayude á llevar los canastos no participará de su contenido.—Sres., repartamos la tarea; que los hombres lleven los canastos, las mamás á los niños, los niños los paraguas, y las señoritas á Don Pepito.

13. Da. Delfina ¿qué tal le gusta á V. este sitio? ¡Oh! es delicioso; ¡qué vistas tan bonitas!

14. Pongamos los canastos á la sombra de ese hermoso árbol.—Sí, y pongámonos nosotros tambien á la sombra, que al sol hace calorcito.

15. ¿No le parece á V., Don Enrique, que es tiempo de poner la mesa? Así me parece, porque la subida de la colina con un gran canasto á cuestas me ha abierto el apetito.

16. Sres., la comida está en la mesa.—Señoras, ¿qué es lo que Vds. dicen? ¡en la mesa! ¡Ah! sí, ya vemos, sobre un gran peñaseco á la sombra de aquel árbol ¡magnífica idea!

17. Don Pepito, traiga V. un par de sillas mas, que faltan para dos señoras. Allá voy, ¡cáspita con las sillitas! cada una pesa cien libras; pero, eso sí, son durables, no haya miedo de que se rompan.—Tomen Vds. asiento, señoras.

18. Pase V., Don Martín, primero. No, señor, despues de V.—Señores sin cumplimientos que se enfría la comida.

19. ¿Quién quiere sopa? ¡Hombre, sopa! yo, yo, sírvame V. un plato, Don Enrique.

20. Poco á poco, Don Pepito, en el campo, no tenemos sopa.—Pues yo creí que V. me la ofrecia.—Yo pregunté por saber quién era aficionado á la sopa.

21. Señor Don Pedro ¿quiere V. hacerme el favor de trinchar ese pollo? Con mucho gusto.

22. Da. Margarita ¿voy á mandarle á V. un pedazo de pechuga? No, señor, gracias, mándeme V. el ala ó la pierna, que me gusta mas.

23. Don Pepito, un brindis, vamos un brindis.—Excúsenme Vds., señores, yo no sé hacer, y ménos improvisar brindis.

24. Pero hombre, ¡eso dice V. que es tan galante y elocuente con las damas! ¿No le inspira á V. algo el bello sexo de que se halla V. rodeado? Pues bien, á la salud de las señoras.—Y ¿porqué no?

EXERCISE.

1. Has the baker not come yet? You are in a jesting mood (humor) this morning; he came long before you were up.

2. Never mind; I have got change enough to pay for all.—You are too late, I have already paid; the conductor has no time to wait half an hour collecting the fare of each passenger.

3. Your appetite seems to be a little better to-day than usual; how do you account for that? Really you flatter my appetite beyond what it deserves; I am happy to say that it is at all times in excellent order.

4. Do you not find it good exercise to climb to the top of the hill with that heavy basket on your arm? The fact is I shall have to give it to some one else for a while, for my strength is not equal to the task.

5. I wonder whom you can give it to; you see that we have each of us something to carry. Well, in that case, I must change with some one that has a lighter burden (carga) than my own.

6. Does not John intend to become a soldier? He does, though entirely contrary to the will of his father, who set his face against it in the most determined manner.

7. How many trunks is each passenger (pasajero) allowed to keep with him in his berth (camarote)? Only one, supposed to contain the articles he will require to have at hand during the passage.

8. Did you ever go to a lion-hunt while you were in South Africa? Several times, and I can assure you it is a most interesting and exciting scene.

9. Did you go there entirely for pleasure? No, I managed to combine business and pleasure, otherwise I should probably never have seen that country, for you know that such a voyage as that costs a great deal of money.

10. Did they drink many toasts during the dinner? A good many, and the first one I proposed was to the fair sex.

11. Nothing surprising in that; I know it would scarcely be possible to surpass you in gallantry. You are flattering me now, for the ladies agree on all hands in calling you the most gallant young gentleman in the country.

12. Just try if your eloquence will not succeed in persuading your young friend to come with us to-morrow. With all my heart; but unfortunately he does not speak French, and you know how much my eloquence loses in English.

13. Does the art of pleasing depend on what we do and what we say? It does not, in my opinion, depend so much on what we do and say as on how we do things and how we say them.

14. Is it not surprising that your sister has not yet come? I believe she has gone round to see her young Spanish friend (fem.), although she left me but half an hour ago, under pretext of having to write a letter.

15. Do you generally dine in the Spanish fashion at home? We generally eat in the French fashion, notwithstanding we are all very fond of the Spanish manner of cooking.

EXPLANATION.

275. The verbs caer, to fall ; dar, to give ; decir, to tell, or to say ; echar, to throw ; differ from the English in meaning as conveyed by the sentences which are given in the Composition, and to which we refer without putting them here, in order to avoid repetition.

There they are to be found, with their English translations, which is the only explanation they admit of.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Don Gonzalo, ¿le ha caído á V. la lotería? No, señor; pero mi pagaré ha caído.

2. Luisita, ¿quién ha hecho ese vestido que te cae tan bien? Mi mamá lo cortó y yo lo cosí.

3. ¿No sabe V. porqué me hace ahora tantos cumplimientos Don Enrique? No, señor, no sé qué motivo tenga para ser ahora mas político con V. que lo ha sido hasta aquí.

4. ¿No sabe V. que me ha caído el premio de los cien mil pesos en la lotería de la Habana? Sí, señor; ya me lo ha dicho V. ántes.

5. Pues bien, ¿no cae V. ahora en la cuenta? ¡Ha! ya caigo en ello. Don Enrique quiere pedirle á V. dinero prestado.

6. ¿Han dado las doce? Estan al caer.

7. ¿Dieron garrote á los asesinos? No, señor, al fin los dieron por libres, porque no habia evidencia suficiente para sentenciarlos.

8. ¿Qué ha tenido su hermano de V. que no lo he visto por tanto tiempo? Le dió un dolor de costado y ha tenido que guardar cama por una semana.

9. ¿A que no adivina V. lo que acabo de hacer? Seguramente que no lo adivinaré, porque V. es capaz de hacer muchas cosas buenas y malas.

10. ¿Se da V. por vencido? Me doy.—Pues vengo de echar un trago.

11. ¿Qué comedia echan hoy? Hoy dan la tragedia de "Medea," en donde representa la Señora Ristori; ¿irá V.?

12. Siendo en italiano no iré, porque no comprendo el italiano y me daría ganas de dormir.

13. Sr. D. Alejandro, vengo á darle á V. los buenos dias.—Téngalos V. muy buenos.

14. ¿No me quiere V. dar alguna otra cosa? Sí, señor, le doy á V. la enhorabuena por el aumento que ha tenido V. en su familia.—Viva V. mil años.

15. Todo eso es muy bueno, D. Pepito; pero sea V. generoso y deme V. alguna cosita mas.—Hombre, si V. no se da á comprender yo no sé qué mas darle á V. ¡Ha! sí, ya caigo! que estamos en tiempo de. . . .
Doy á V. felices pascuas.

16. Dale, Dale, si no es eso, yo hablo del dinero que presté á V. hace mas de un año.—¡Ha! Señor D. Alejandro, no crea V. que yo lo haya echado en saco roto.

17. Pues bien; ¿porqué no me lo da V.? ¡Porqué! hombre, ahora ha dado V. en la dificultad, y esta es que yo no tengo dinero, y por consiguiente no puedo darlo.

18. Entónces, ¿qué es lo que V. puede dar? ¡O! en cuanto á eso yo puedo dar muchas cosas.

19. ¡Ha! me alegro mucho, veamos lo que V. puede dar.—En primer lugar puedo dar gemidos.

20. ¡Puf! (pshaw).—Tambien puedo dar gritos.

21. ¡Dale!—Puedo dar, . . . que decir.

22. No lo dudo.—Puedo dar un pésame.

23. ¡Dios me libre!—Puedo dar saltos.

24. Vaya acabe V., hombre, acabé V.—Puedo dar á comprender.

25. Sí, eso sí, demasiado comprendo.—Puedo darme á conocer.

26. Ya, ya, conozco de qué pié cojea V.—Puedo dar una vuelta.

27. Pues vuélvase V., por donde ha venido y nunca dé V. mas vueltas por esta casa.—Y todavía mas, puedo dar una carcajada.

28. ¡Juan! Juan! echa á ese hombre de casa, y despues echa la llave y el cerrojo á la puerta. ¡Haya pícaro! lo he de echar á un presidio!

29. ¿Has echado á ese hombre á la calle? Sí, señor, ya lo puse de patitas en la calle.

30. Y ¿qué dijo? Primero se echo á reir, yo le amenacé que lo echaria á rodar y entónces echo á correr.

31. El diantre del hombre siempre está pidiendo dinero prestado y sobre no pagarlo se viene á reir de uno en sus barbas.—Señor, ¿manda V. alguna otra cosa? No, te puedes ir, yo voy á echarme á dormir, ese bribon me ha dado un gran dolor de cabeza.

EXERCISE.

1. Is there any thing in the papers this morning relative to the trial of the murderer of Smith? I understand his trial is not to take place before a month from this time.

2. Why did you not bring your friend with you? He is not able to walk very far to-day, owing to a pain in his side, which has troubled him for the last three days.

3. Did you tell the servant to draw the bolt of the door? No, but I told him to lock the door.

4. Who is that I hear groaning? You hear no one groaning; it is some one shouting in the distance.

5. How did your cousin lose his situation? He owes that misfortune entirely to his own carelessness.

6. Charles, are you not going to say good morning to that gentleman? I need not say good morning to him now, for I have already wished him a happy Easter.

7. Did that merchant pay his correspondent at Malaga after all? He did not pay him; but he gave him a note at three months.

8. What do you understand by parlor plays (household comedies) in Spain? They are plays represented by private individuals* sometimes in private houses, from which circumstance they take their name.

9. Do you know that round-faced little man who is sitting next to your uncle? That is one of the principal actors (actor) in the parlor plays given at Mr. Gutiérrez'.

10. What became of the offender? The evidence not being sufficient to prove the crime of which he was accused† he was let off; otherwise he would have been sent to State-prison.

11. Did they refuse to give him the things he wanted on credit? Of course they did, because no one can rely on him nor give credit to any thing he says.

12. Will that young man probably obtain the employment he has applied for? Most probably he will, because he has had the good fortune to get into the president's favor.

13. How! do you not attend your classes this week? No, I am not very well; and so a friend of mine was good enough to offer to act in my place.

14. Was the error corrected before the letter was dispatched? No, it was not discovered in time to be corrected.

EXPLANATION.

276. In the Composition of this lesson we give the principal idioms with the verbs entrar, to go (or come) in; hacer, to do, to make; ir, to go; llevar, to take, to charge; mandar, hacer, in the sense of to order, to cause to be done; oler á, to to<sup>o</sup> smell of; and saber á, to taste of; salir, servir, tardar and volver.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Cuándo entra la primavera? Debo confesar francamente que no sé el día preciso en que entra y sale cada estación.

2. Entonces V. no entra en el número de los sabios, puesto que no sabe cuándo estamos en invierno y cuando en verano.—Poco á poco, señor Don Pedro, eso sería hacerme entrar en el número de los idiotas.

3. ¿Pues no acaba V. de decirlo? Yo acabo de decir que no sé el día preciso en que entra cada estación; pero cuando veo crecer la yerba y las hojas de los árboles, y abrirse las flores, sospecho que estamos en la primavera.

4. ¡Ha! V. sospecha! Vamos, ya es algo.—Sí, señor, y del mismo modo, cuando veo el termómetro en la sombra, que marca 98°, creo adivinar que estoy, una de dos, ó en un horno ó en Nueva York en la estación del verano.

5. Vamos, yo le hacia á V. mas ignorante de lo que en efecto es; ¿y cómo adivina V., ó sospecha, que se encuentra V. en el otoño? Cuando los melocotones se acaban y las hojas caen.

6. ¡Bien! bien! ¿y el invierno? Cuando por la mañana no puedo lavarme por hallar que se ha helado el agua en la palangana.

7. Ya veo que es V. un sabio perfecto. Veamos en historia ¿á qué edad entró á reinar el Rey Pepino?—¡Cáspita! Señor Don Pedro! es mas fácil criticar que ejecutar, y mas fácil hacer preguntas que responderlas, y sino respóndame V. que la echa de sabio.

8. ¿Cuántos litros hace ese tonel? ¡Hombre! yo ¿qué he de entender de medir toneles?

9. Pues cambiaré de materia, ¿quién hace de gobernador en Manila? ¡Y á mí qué me importa!

10. ¡Vaya! ese es un buen modo de salir del atolladero.—No, señor, sírvase V. recibir mis disculpas, tengo que irme ahora, pero volveré á ver á V., y volverémos á tratar de esa materia. Adios, señores.

11. ¿Qué le parece á V., Don Enrique, de ese caballero? Me parece que este jóven saldrá buen matemático, porque ha salido en todo á su padre.

12. ¿Sabe V. si salió bien ó mal de su empresa? Es un negocio que le ha salido muy bien.

13. ¿Se lleva bien Luisa con sus hermanos? Sí, señor, y aunque no les lleva mas de tres ó cuatro años, les sirve de madre.

14. ¿Cuánto le cuesta á V. esa capa? Me sale en unos cincuenta pesos.

15. ¿Cuánto tardará la fragata en hacerse á la vela? No sé, creo que el capitán es hombre que tarda en decidirse.

16. ¿De qué color hace V. teñir su vestido? Lo mandé teñir de amarillo.

17. Don Manuel, mande V. que nos suban el almuerzo.—Haré que nos lo traigan.

EXERCISE.

1. When does Spring commence? It commences in March and ends in May.

2. Has your young friend passed his examination yet? The examinations have not taken place; but when they do, he will prove to be the best Spanish scholar in the country.

3. In what month does the cold weather generally commence in the North of Spain? Winter usually sets in about the middle of November.

4. How much does this cask hold? It holds from 100 to 120 litres.

5. How soon do you set out for Europe? As soon as the fine weather sets in.

6. Are you going on business, or for pleasure? For pleasure only.

7. How are they going to the ball? They are going in masks.

8. How much did your tailor charge you for that coat? It cost me forty-five dollars.

9. What age do you take my cousin to be? I would take him to be about the same age as his friend.

10. You had better guess again. I give it up.

11. How old is he, then? He is two years and four months older than his friend.

12. Do you know whether the pianist's brother succeeded in obtaining the position he applied for? He did not; but an excellent situation turned up for him a short time after.

13. How long will you take to dye this dress for me? About a week.

14. What color do you wish it to be dyed? I wish to have it dyed blue.

15. Do you think this boy will turn out to be as good a musician as his father? I have not the least doubt about it, for he resembles him in every respect (en todo).

16. Be good enough to accept my apology for not having come yesterday as I had promised. Certainly, sir; I know very well that you have a great deal of business to attend to.

17. Who is Mr. Terrero in mourning for? For his uncle, who died about a year ago in Manila.

 To give the mitten.
 He cares nothing about it.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Le salen á V. las cosas á medida de sus deseos? Chanzas aparte, Don Juan, V. sabe bien que de tejas abajo eso nunca sucede.

2. Sí, pero como V. baila al son que se toca y sabe asir la ocasion por los cabellos, siempre está á sus anchuras y tiene siempre algun bocado sin hueso.—Amigo, caiga V. de su asno y confiese de buena fé que si anda de capa caída, es porque va siempre de Zeca en Meca, y porque bebe mas que una cuba.

3. Adios, Don Pedro, me voy, porque no quiero buscar cinco piés al gato.—Vaya V. con Dios, Don Juan.

4. Don Pedro, me parece que V. ha dado con la puerta en la cara á Don Juan.—No, señor, Don Enrique, á otro se le caería la cara de vergüenza, pero á él no se le da nada, y pronto lo volverá V. á ver por acá.

5. Entónces él no entiende á media palabra.—A mas tardar lo verá V. aquí otra vez dentro de media hora.

6. El pobre hombre anda á ciegas, y si no abre el ojo, irá á parar á un hospital.—Con su pan se lo coma, y allá se las haya; yo lo siento solamente por su niña, que es una señorita perfecta.

7. Me han dicho que V. queria casarse con ella, ¿es verdad, Don Enrique?—Sí, señor, y lo hubiera hecho con mil amores, porque además de ser muy amable é instruida, es muy bonita, tiene ojos negros muy hermosos y es tan blanca como el ampo de la nieve.

8. Pues ¿porqué no se casó V. con ella? Por una pequeña dificultad.

9. Quizá V. se andaria por las ramas y no sabria asir la ocasion por los cabellos.—No, señor, nada de eso, ántes al contrario yo lo daba todo por supuesto, porque V. sabe que soy rico, y creí que la niña me daría el sí sin hacerse de rogar.

10. ¿Pues qué, no se lo dió? No, señor, no me dió el sí, pero me dió calabazas.

11. ¡Miren la rapazuela! ¿y V. qué hizo? Yo que bebia los vientos por ella, y creía que sus calabazas eran cosa que no estaban en la cartilla, recurrí á su padre, creyendo que él no me negaría la mano de su hija.

12. ¿Y bien y qué? Que me llevé un solemne chasco, el padre me rehusó la mano de su hija ni mas ni ménos que ella lo habia hecho.

13. ¿Pero qué razon le dió á V. para ello? Me dijo que su hija, aunque pobre, era hija de un caballero y que ni ella querria ni él la obligaría jamás á casarse con un especiero comun é ignorante; que el dinero era una gran cosa, pero que no lo compraba todo.

14. ¿Y V. qué dijo? Yo, por no andar en dares y tomares y dimes y dirétes, me callé el pico y salí de su casa á todo correr.

EXERCISE.

1. Would you not be more likely to obtain what you wish, if you came to the point at once? Perhaps I would; but the matter is an important one, and I considered it necessary to enter into some explanation relative to it.

2. Do you think he would understand me? Of course he would, at the slightest hint.

3. How did your cousin Charles succeed in that affair? Every thing turned out according to his wishes.

4. How soon do you suppose this book will be published? I hope it will be published in a very short time; I know they are working at it with all possible speed.

5. Have you ever seen a more active man than that merchant? Never; and I have never seen a less active man than his brother, he always goes with the stream, and troubles himself about nothing.

6. Ought you not to have shown that letter to your brother? I would have done so, of course, but I took for granted that he had already heard the news.

7. You had better tell your friend to be upon the alert, and not get into a quarrel with that man. That is his own business, let him look to it himself.

8. Is it possible that he could be capable of such an action? Yes, but the worst of all is, that he is not ashamed to acknowledge it to every one he meets.

9. When is Peter to be married? I cannot say certainly; but I suppose in about a month at latest.

10. I don't know any one who has a better position than your uncle: plenty of money and scarcely any thing to do. That is a fact, his situation is a real sinecure.

11. What has occurred to that gentleman? he looks quite crest-fallen. Do not be astonished at that; he has been unfortunate in business, and has lost almost all he possessed in the world.

12. Are you trying to pick a quarrel with me? No, I assure you, jesting aside, that the matter stands exactly as I say.

13. How was he received by the lady's father? He was not received at all, they shut the door in his face.

14. If you desire so anxiously to see him, why do you not go to his house? I cannot make up my mind (decidirme) to do that; you know he is bursting with pride, and he would very probably refuse to receive me.

15. Well, I hope we may soon meet again; present my respects to your family. With the greatest pleasure.—Please not to forget the letter.

16. That I care nothing about; all I desire to know is whether he will be here in time or not. I think you may rely on his being punctual.

17. I have been told that your brother was about to be married to Miss Ramírez; is it true? I really cannot say how the matter will turn out; so far every thing seems to go on according to the desire of both parties.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. Señores, dejen Vds. el campo libre, que aquí viene Don Pepito echando bravatas y rayos y centellas.—Bien venido, Don Pepito, ¿qué trae V. de nuevo, que parece estar fuera de sí?

2. No, señor, yo estoy en mis cinco sentidos, pero hay gentes de mala fé que hablan por hablar y se ocupan de criticar al prójimo.—¿Y eso á qué viene?

3. Yo no lo digo por V., Don Enrique, pero V. sabe que hay muchos desocupados que se vienen á su botica de V. y critican á todo el mundo.—¡Vamos, vamos! Don Pepito, que á V. tambien le gusta un poquito la murmuracion.

4. Ciertamente, porque sino ¿qué seria de la conversacion sin un poquito de crítica que la sazone y le dé interés? Muy bien, pero entónces no eche V. la culpa á nadie de hacer lo mismo que V. hace.

5. Sí, pero yo hablo sin malicia, de buena fé y digo lo que me ocurre por decirlo, nada mas.—Así pueden decir los demás.

6. Sí, pero yo no soy como Don Cárlos, que viene aquí de dia en dia, y de la mañana á la tarde hablando mas que un sacamuélas y sin dejar á nadie hueso sano.—Sí, pues aplíquese V. el cuento.

7. No, señor, yo no soy ni tan hablador ni tan murmurador como ninguno de los que se reunen aquí, y si no, observe V. un poquito á cada uno de ellos, D. Gonzalo, por ejemplo, ¿ha venido hoy? No, señor, no ha venido, ni vendrá, porque es el día de su cumpleaños y lo celebra con su familia en el campo, por consiguiente puede V. cebarse en él á su sabor.

8. D. Gonzalo es hombre de buenos sentimientos y hombre honrado, no haya miedo que yo diga nada en menoscabo suyo, pero tiene un maldito genio que le hace echar á perder toda conversacion.

9. Pues yo no habia observado eso.—¡Cómo hombre! pues si viene aquí un día sí y otro no, á criticar á los que se reunen en la botica de la esquina, y los días que no viene aquí va á la botica de la esquina á criticarnos á nosotros.

10. ¿Y qué es lo que le hace echar á perder las conversaciones como decia V. pocos minutos há? Que en un abrir y cerrar de ojos se enciende en cólera.

11. Bien, por D. Gonzalo, ¿y nuestro vecino, D. Alberto, ese sí que es intachable, no le parece á V.? ¡Ho! en efecto es un excelente hombre, lástima que errase el tiro.

12. ¿Qué quiere V. decir con eso de errar el tiro? Hablo con respecto á sus negocios.

13. Y bien, ¿qué le sucedió? Que escogió malos socios, y le han dejado en la calle.

14. Pero eso no puede ser, Don Alberto goza de muy buena reputacion, V. habla de oidas.—No, señor, que lo sé de buena tinta, y hoy día está á pique de perderse.

15. Pues él parece dormir á pierna suelta.—Está obligado á hacerlo así por guardar las apariencias.

16. ¿No se ha dejado V. algo en el tintero? Sin duda que me he dejado, pero es tarde y voy á dormir la siesta.

EXERCISE.

1. Is the custom of taking an afternoon nap as common in Spain now-a-days as in former times? It is quite as common now-a-days as it ever was, not only in Spain, but in almost every country of Europe.

2. Are you perfectly certain that he acted with sincerity in that matter? I am quite sure, as I know it on good authority.

3. Who told you that young man had acted deceitfully toward your cousin? I do not care to say much in the matter, especially as all I know respecting it I only know by hearsay.

4. Can you tell me how that merchant's enterprise turned out? Very badly; for shortly after he had engaged in it, he heard of his brother's misfortune, which frustrated all his hopes.

5. Did Alexander manage to pay his debts after all? No, he did not; and although his intentions were strictly honorable, his creditors (acreedores) would wait no longer, and they stripped him of all he possessed in the world.

6. What date do you wish me to put here? Just leave a blank, and Charles will put in the date before he sends the letter off.

7. When do you think they will be able to give me some of the papers? Probably by this day week.

8. What did he say when he saw how the tailor had spoiled his coat? Fortunately for the latter he was in a merry mood, and did not fly into a passion as he usually does when any thing occurs to displease him.

9. Are you in your senses, my dear friend? are you not aware that such a thing is impossible?

10. Did he shut the door on purpose? Yes, but he sent his servant to take us into another room, for he was in dishabille, and did not wish to be seen until he had dressed.

11. How often do you go to dine at your uncle's? I generally go every other day.

12. Have your friends returned yet from the country? No, they have been putting it off* from day to day for some time, and I shall not be in the least astonished if they do not return before November.

13. Why did you not bring your sister with you? I did all I possibly could to persuade her to come, but she insisted upon staying at home.

14. How did they decide on who should go first? They cast lots for it.

 In spite of him.
 To set about a work.
 To make a noise, a bustle.
 To assume the gentleman.
 To affect learning and knowledge.
 To pick a quarrel with any one.
 To interfere in other people's business.
 To meddle in every thing.
 To dive into other people's affairs.
 To look steadfastly at.
 To take to one's heels.
 To be born to good luck.
 I care nothing about it.
 Not to allow one to slip in a word.
 Nothing more can be desired.
 To be out of temper.
 He has no mean opinion of himself.
 I do not care a straw.
 To have no hand in any thing.
 Not to fear, to make one's self easy.
 Some way or other.
 Right or wrong.
 There is nothing to be feared.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. D. Pepito ha faltado á su palabra, ó ¿ cree V. qué vendrá todavía? ¡Qué ha de venir! Si él habla siempre á tontas y á locas.

2. Pues yo creí que prometió formalmente venir hoy.—Don Pepito no habla nunca formalmente.

3. ¿De qué manera habla entónces? De muchas, él habla al aire, á bulto, al oido, entre dientes, por boca de ganso; pero nunca habla al alma.

4. Esto hará perder á cualquiera los estribos.—A esto le llama él, haciendo alarde, hacer de las suyas.

5. Sí; pero él se las habrá conmigo, porque ha hecho la cuenta sin la huéspedea.—D. Luis, no haga V. caso, es un mequetrefe, si Vds. quieren yo iré á su casa y le haré venir mal de su grado, ó mejor dicho, mal que le pese.

6. No, señor, no vaya V., es un hombre que se mete en todo.—Y en eso tiene V. razon, porque él se mete con todo el mundo.

7. Y hasta se mete á sabio y á caballero. — Lo peor es que mete mucha bulla.

8. ¿Vamos, señores, en qué mas se mete el pobre D. Pepito? Se mete en camisa de once varas, en vidas ajenas, etc., etc.

9. Pero, señores, no olviden Vds. que si por ce ó por be, lo llegase á saber, D. Pepito, y por fas ó por nefas hubiese un desaffo, no lo olviden Vds., vuelvo á repetir que Don Pepito es un gran espadachin. ¡Vaya! pierda V. cuidado, que no llegará la sangre al rio.

10. ¡Don Pepito espadachin! Cáscaras! — Van cien pesos á que si le miro de hito en hito, muestra las suelas de los zapatos.

11. V. no debe llevarlo á mal, aunque Don Pepito sea tan su amigo; pero es muy hablador y no deja á nadie meter baza. — Yo no tengo arte ni parte en ello y no se me da un bledo.

12. ¿Se acordó V. de decir aquello á su vecino el Sr. Foster? No, señor, se me fué de la memoria.

13. ¿Es un jóven muy afortunado? Sí, señor, ha nacido de piés; pero sé que no le pesa de haber nacido.

14. V. no debe criticarlo, porque ahora no está para fiestas. — A mí no se me da un bledo de que esté ó no de mal humor.

15. Hable V. bajo ó hábleme V. al oido, porque veo al Señor Foster allí en frente y V. debe guardarse de que le oiga hablar de ese modo, porque lo llevaria á mal. — Pierda V. cuidado que no llegará la sangre al rio.

EXERCISE.

1. Does that man always keep his word? I have never known him to break his word on a single occasion.

2. Peter is very sorry that Alexander went away without him, and I do not know what he would have done if John had left him.

3. John took good care not to start at the same time as his elder brother, for he well knew that he would have been obliged to show him every thing worth seeing in the city.

4. He very often talks for hours together without rhyme or reason. to the very great annoyance of those who have to listen to him.

5. Believe me, it is no proof of talent to talk away at random for an hour at a time, without saying any thing that could be called either new or agreeable.

6. I cannot support a man who is so ignorant as to come and whisper something in my ear while I am engaged in conversation with another.

7. Not one of those ideas is his own, he only echoes what he has heard said by others.

8. I would advise you to pay no attention to any thing he tells you.

9. Judging by his manner of speaking, one would say he had lost his reason.

10. I will wager fifty dollars that not one word of all you have read and heard on that score (sobre esa materia) is true.

11. I suppose you have already heard of my good fortune? I have; and I need not tell you how glad I was to know you had succeeded.

12. Did you hear all the president said? Every thing; he spoke very loud, so that all those that were present might not lose a word.

13. Although he affects great learning and knowledge, I have had occasion to find out (discover) that he is a very ignorant man.

14. I know very well that he has no mean opinion of himself; but, after all, his greatest fault is to dive a little too much into other people's affairs.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Qué quiere decir quedarse en blanco? Quiere decir lo mismo que quedarse á la luna de Valencia, esto es, quedarse sin nada.

2. ¿Y quedarse hecho una pieza ó helado, qué quiere decir? Son modismos que indican admiracion ó sorpresa.

3. ¿Quiere V. explicarme algunos modismos españoles? No tengo inconveniente, pregúnteme V. el significado de los que no comprenda V. —Muy bien.

4. Sacar fuerzas de flaqueza, ¿qué quiere decir? Yo creo que es hacer esfuerzos; pero tambien significa, hacer de la necesidad virtud.

5. Sacar provecho, creo que no necesita explicacion y si la ocasion se presenta, creo que sabré sacarlo.—¿Y qué me dice V. acerca de sacudir el yugo? Que aquellos que tengan algun mal yugo que sacudir deben hacerlo sobre la marcha.

6. Santo y bueno, pero V., ¿no tiene ningun yugo que sacudir? No, señor, es verdad que estoy bajo el yugo del matrimonio; pero no deseo zafarme de él, porque para mí aunque es yugo, es un yugo santo que me ha hecho muy feliz y bajo el cual deseo vivir todavía muchos años.

7. ¿No le parece á V. que aquel hombre vive de gorra? Sí, señor, aquí se venia todos los dias con sus manos lavadas y se nos comia un codo.

8. ¿Y porqué no lo echó V. de su casa? ¡Así lo hice ayer, y si V. lo hubiera visto! parecia querer tomar el cielo con las manos!

9. ¡Vaya un atrevimiento! Al fin me ví obligado á amenazarle con una silla, y entónces tomó las de Villadiego.

10. Creo que ántes era rico, pero ahora ha venido á ménos.—No, lo que es tener, todavía tiene.

11. No hombre, si no tiene sobre qué caerse muerto.—Perdone V., si V. quiere que, para practicar en los modismos del verbo tener, le diga á V. lo que ese buen señor tiene, se lo diré á V.

12. Santo y bueno.—Pues entónces allá va sin qué ni para qué.

13. Pero hombre, ¿para qué sacar á la colada los trapos de ese buen hombre? Si eso es tan claro como el sol que nos alumbrá.

14. Vamos claros, ¿quiere V. ó no que le diga lo que ese señor, que se viste con veinte y cinco alfileres, tiene? Pero si no viene al caso.

15. Entónces se acabará el ejercicio sin poder introducir en la práctica la mitad de los modismos que tenemos en la leccion.—¡Ah! sí, sí, tiene V. mil razones, escucho, ¿qué es lo que ese buen señor tiene?

16. En primer lugar tiene buen apetito y buen diente.—¡Caspita! qué si lo tiene! ¿y á quien se lo cuenta V.?

17. Tiene siempre algo en la punta de la lengua y nunca tiene nada en el bolsillo.

18. Y segun el descaro con que obra, parece tener bula para todo; tambien tiene los cascos á la gineta y con tanto tener creo que es mas lo que le falta que lo que tiene.

19. Yo no sé cómo tenerlo á raya, ¿no me hará V. el favor de aconsejarle que no venga mas por aquí? Amigo mio, dígaselo V. mismo, porque yo tengo á ménos hablar á una persona de su especie.

20. Y sin embargo, vea V., él tiene el pié en dos zapatos, ¿y qué mas tiene?

21. Déjeme V. pensar, ¡ah! sí, el pobre señor tiene todavía otra cosa mas.—Bien, pues, dígala V., que se acaba el ejercicio.

22. Tiene su alma en su cuerpo. Hombre, calle V., que aquí viene él en persona.—Sí, en nombrando al ruin de Roma, luego asoma.

23. Buenos dias, D. Juan.—Téngalos V. muy buenos, D. Periquito, ¿qué se ofrece? Vengo á pedirle á V. diez pesos prestados, que me vendrian de perilla, ¡porque me veo negro!

24. Hombre pídaselos V. al Sr. De V. que está en fondos, en cuanto á mí me encuentro sin blanca.

EXERCISE.

1. I understand your brother was left entirely in the lurch? Not at all; on the contrary, he came off (turned out) much better than I did.

2. How did he feel when he learned that I had heard of the whole matter? He was thunderstruck, and could not give me any reply.

3. How are you going to manage in such a case as that? I have only to make a virtue of necessity.

4. I think there is little danger of his not succeeding; what do you think (what appears to you)? Not the least; he is very prudent, and knows how to turn every thing to account.

5. Do you remember when that article was published? I do not remember exactly; but it appears to me it must have been some time in last November.

6. You see that is what I told you the other day would take place. Yes, that is true; but you seem to have forgotten the condition I mentioned to your friend as he was going out.

7. Is Mr. Martínez not going to be here, as he promised? I am expecting him.—We shall wait until seven o'clock; if he comes before that time, well and good; if not, we shall go on with the business of the evening without him.

8. Well, let us understand each other before going any farther. It seems to me we understand each other perfectly; the thing is as clear as daylight.

9. Oh, Charles! I am so glad to see you! you have just come at the nick of time; we shall have the pleasure of your company at dinner. You are very kind; but really you must excuse me; I have a friend waiting for me.

10. You lost your coat? how did you come home in the cold without it? Alexander lent me one of his that fitted me exactly.

11. No sooner said than done; he took his hat and went out in search of him, notwithstanding it rained in torrents.

12. You may be at ease in your mind on that score; I shall manage to get rid of him very soon.

13. I wish you would come to the point, for up to the present I have been unable to find out what you mean.

14. One would have said, from the manner in which he was (viéndolo) decked out, that he was going to the theatre or to a ball instead of to the office.

Vemos la paja en el ojo ageno y no la viga en el nuestro.	We see the mote in our neighbor's eye, and not the beam in our own.
Tu enemigo es de tu oficio.	Two of a trade never agree.

CONVERSATION AND VERSION.

1. ¿Hay muchos proverbios en español? Hay muchísimos; en todas las lenguas los hay, pero en la española creo que hay tantos que si se reuniesen todos formarían varios volúmenes.

2. ¿Le gustan á V. los proverbios? Sí, señor, son muy expresivos, pero debemos usarlos, como decia D. Quijote, con moderacion y no á borbotones como Sancho Panza.

3. En eso tiene V. razon, porque quien mucho habla mucho yerra.—V. acaba de aplicar ese muy bien; pero es imposible que practiquemos con todos los que trae esta leccion, en este ejercicio.

4. Sin embargo, al que madruga Dios le ayuda.—V. dice bien, y quien no se aventura no pasa la mar.

5. Espero que quien nos oiga conversar introduciendo tanto refran, no diga de ellos lo que se dice de los males.—¿Qué dicen de los males? Bien vengas mal si vienes solo.

6. ¡Oh! no, señor, en primer lugar los proverbios no son males, y en segundo lugar á nosotros nos gustan, y queremos practicar con ellos, para aprenderlos.—V. está en lo justo, y además, cada uno hace de su capa un sayo.

7. ¡Ola, amiguito! V. me parece práctico en la materia, pero no piense V. que yo soy rana, porque debajo de una mala capa se encuentra un buen bebedor.—Caramba ¡que no me deja V. meter baza! no se dirá de V. aquello de, en boca cerrada no entran moscas.

8. Vamos amigo, ese refran vino por los cabellos.—Pues si vino por los cabellos, á pelo vino, además, que V. me parece ser de aquellos que ven la paja en el ojo ageno y no la viga en el suyo.

9. No se enfade V., amigo, que quien bien lo quiere le hará llorar.—No, señor, no me enfado, pero ya veo que no es oro todo lo que reluce.

10. ¡Bravo! bravo! ya va V. aprendiendo á enzarzar refranes, lo hace V. cual otro Sancho Panza, y yo, con toda mi práctica, he ido por lana y he vuelto trasquilado.—Su ejemplo de V. me irá enseñando; poquito á poco hilaba la vieja el copo, y dime con quién andas y te diré quién eres.

11. ¡Qué hombre! si V. va á ganar á su maestro! pero no hay mal que por bien no venga; V. me hace reir con sus refranes.—Bien, del mal el ménos, pero D. Manuel, ¿es posible que le haya de ganar su discípulo?

12. No sé, no puedo decir de esta agua no beberé, y lo que no se puede remediar se ha de aguantar, y al fin se canta la gloria.—¡Zape, como los enhebra! pero yo no me doy por vencido, señor maestro, porque yo ya sé aquello de cobra buena fama y échate á dormir.

13. La tenacidad es divisa del necio, y al buen entendedor con media palabra basta.—Sí, pero esas ya son palabras mayores, y á quien se hace de miel las moscas se lo comen, y miéntas en mi casa estoy, rey soy.

14. Espero, D. Cárlos, que no me quiera V. poner fuera de su casa.—No hombre, pero estos refranes son tan expresivos que le hacen decir á uno mas de lo que quiere; pero á lo hecho pecho y ya que V. me desafió, siga la danza.

15. Bueno, si V. lo quiere, ya que la casa se quema calentémonos; pero bien haria V. ántes que se case en mirar lo que hace, porque cada uno sabe donde le aprieta el zapato.—Amigo mio, V. no sabe de la misa la media; yo nunca doy mi brazo á torcer, y ántes quiero ser cabeza de raton que cola de leon.

16. Sí, señor, pero aunque la mona se vista de seda, mona se queda, no sea V. como el perro del hortelano, que ni come ni deja comer, y acuértese V. que cuenta y razon sustentan amistad y lo mejor de los dados es no jugarlos.—Basta, basta, hombre me doy por vencido.

17. No la hagas no la temas; tu enemigo es de tu oficio.—Pero, D. Cárlos, le repito. . . .

18. La caridad bien ordenada entra por sí misma.—Pero si repito que. . . .

19. Donde quiera que fueres haz como vieres.—Señor, me rindo.—Mas vale tarde que nunca.

EXERCISE.

1. Well, Charles, so you have come at last. Yes, better late than never, you know; but if it had continued raining I would not have come at all.

2. Are you going out? I thought we were going together to the theatre this evening.—I must go out now; but should I get back as soon as I expect, we shall still have time to go to the theatre.

3. If you undertake that journey, I should like to be your companion. It is rather doubtful at present whether I shall; but if I do, I would be delighted to have your company.

4. If the directors establish that as a general rule, very many persons will suffer great loss.

5. The conditions were, that if he did not discover the error, or if, after having discovered it, he could not rectify it, he should lose his place.

6. He said he would have no rest until he should hear some news of that poor young man.

7. He promised that I should have the place, if it were in his power to procure it for me.

8. In case his efforts should not be attended with success, you may rely upon me to do all in my power to advance (promover) your interests.

9. Their embarrassments will not cease so long as they do not introduce some system of reasonable economy.

10. Peter tells his stories so well, and with such an appearance of truth, that one is actually tempted to believe them.

11. They made so many conditions, that it was clear they had no wish to help us.

12. Why did you not take that book? I would not take it because some leaves were wanting.

13. If there is any thing within (in) my reach with which I can serve you, just* let me know.

14. Whatever he may have been in his youth, he is now a respectable man, and beloved (loved) by everybody that knows him.

* English words in italics, not to be translated.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS

ON SOME

GRAMMATICAL AND IDIOMATICAL PECULIARITIES OF THE SPANISH LANGUAGE, NOT HITHERTO TREATED OF IN THE GRAMMAR.

IN order to acquire a thorough knowledge of a language, it is necessary to compare carefully the different uses of the several parts of speech in the native language and in the one proposed to be learned.

The sense of a whole passage is very often changed by the undue suppression or omission of an article, a preposition, or a conjunction; by using one tense of a verb for another; placing an adjective before its noun when, in order to convey the idea intended, it should go after it; and not unfrequently by translating a certain part of speech by a word which, although its appearance would lead us to take it for the equivalent of the word to be interpreted, bears in reality no relation to the sense designed to be expressed.

We have deemed it convenient, therefore, to devote a few pages of our COMBINED METHOD to such general remarks as are necessary to guide the learner, and which, if attentively observed, will, after the study of the Spanish exercises contained in the preceding lessons, enable him to compose purely and idiomatically in the Castilian language.

The Definite Article.

1. It has already been observed in previous lessons, which are the most usual cases where the definite article is expressed in the Spanish language; but there are many others in which it would be altogether incorrect to express or omit it in Spanish, as in English, as may be seen from the following examples, which may serve as a general rule for all those of the same kind :

¿ Está el rey en palacio ?	Is the king in the palace ?
Es costumbre en España.	It is the custom in Spain.
Su tío firmó por él, en ausencia de su padre.	His uncle signed for him, in the absence of his father.
Decía verdad.	He told the truth.
A tres de junio.	On the 3d of June.
Tuvo valor para responder.	He had the courage to answer.
A mediados de agosto.	In the middle of August.

2. In Spanish the article is at times accompanied by a preposition not required in English ; as,

Hace del caballero.	He plays the gentleman.
----------------------------	--------------------------------

Indefinite Article.

3. The so-called indefinite article (more properly adjective) is, as has been observed in one of the early lessons, frequently employed in English ; and when translating from the latter language into Spanish, we either suppress it entirely or render it by some other part of speech ; as,

Tiene derecho sobre este caudal.	He has a right to (or a claim upon) this capital.
A distancia de . . .	At a distance of . . .
Cádiz es puerto de mar.	Cadiz is a seaport (town).
Es otro Alejandro.	He is another Alexander.
En medio siglo ( or dentro de medio siglo).	In half a century.
Volverémos dentro de media hora.	We shall return in half an hour.
Las obras de otro ( or obras ajenas).	The works of another (or another's works).
Hubo tiempo en que . . .	There was a time in which . . .

Personal and Possessive Pronouns.

4. The use and repetition of the personal and possessive pronouns are more frequent in English than in Spanish ; and that seeming redundance is essential to the clearness and precision of the English language ; but Spanish syntax does not submit to such encumbrances, and they are, therefore, generally suppressed, as will be seen from the following examples :

Es verdad.	It is true.
Llueve.	It is raining (or it rains).
Hace frío.	It is cold.
¿ Porqué es menester ?	Why is it necessary ?
El mismo príncipe.	The prince himself.
Su misma madre.	His mother herself.
Él mismo lo vió.	He saw it himself.

5. Before leaving the pronouns, it is proper to remark that one and ones, so often used in English composition, to avoid the unpleasant repetition of nouns, have no equivalent whatever in Spanish, and are hence to be left out in translating from the former language to the latter ; as,

¿ Tiene V. caballos ?	Have you horses (or any horses) ?
Tengo dos buenos.	I have two good ones .

6. Personal pronouns, when used redundantly in English, as in the following example, are never expressed in Spanish :

Ambos perecieron.	Both of them perished (or were lost).
-------------------	--

7. Even whole members of sentences are, not unfrequently, suppressed in translating from English into Spanish ; as,

Todo no podia entrar en un elogio, mas sí en una sátira.	All could not find place in a eulogy, but all could find place in a satire.
---	---

Observe that the repetition of the words italicized in the English sentence is avoided by means of the adverb sí in Spanish, which serves to correct the negation expressed in the first member of the phrase, thus rendering the latter at once shorter and more elegant.

Ellipsis.

8. There are certain short modes of expression, certain grammatical laconicisms, peculiar to the English language, which are not admissible in Spanish ; the ellipses must in such cases often be filled up ; as,

Jamás hubo orador que hablase mejor.	Never did orator speak better.
De ahí dimanan estos errores.	Hence these errors.

No puede pensar en hacer mal.	He cannot think of evil.
La ciudad reducida á cenizas.	The city in ashes.
No va mal para ser niño.	Not bad for a child.
Su madre bañada en lágrimas.	Her mother in tears.
Aunque todos estuviesen juntos.	They were all together.
Esto es por lo que toca á su persona.	So much for his person (or personal appearance).
En pro y en contra .	For and against.
Con la espada en la mano.	Sword in hand.

N. B.—It is also correct to say, Espada en mano.

Inversion.

Although we have spoken at some length, in Lesson LI., on the subject of inversion, we imagine the learner will not be displeased to meet here a few well-chosen examples which will give him a still clearer idea of the order observed in Spanish for the expression of ideas, and the consequent difference of construction between that language and the English.

9. The substantive often precedes its adjective; as,

Es el hombre mas perfecto del mundo.	He is the most perfect man in the world.
Llave falsa.	False key.
Testigo falso.	False witness.
Su hijo mas joven.	Her youngest son.

10. Instances occur, however, of the inversion taking place in English, while the natural construction is followed in Spanish; especially in the case of past participles acting as verbal adjectives; as,

Una vez destruido este fundamento, todo se viene abajo.	This foundation being once destroyed, the whole (edifice) comes to the ground.
Admitida esta libertad, el hombre puede . . .	This liberty (being) once admitted, man may . . .

11. In all cases similar to that of the following example, the possessives mío, tuyo, suyo are placed after the substantive, and then, of course, they retain their final syllable; as,

El otro hijo suyo .	[ His other son.
----------------------------	------------------

12. The same ideas are in not a few instances presented in Spanish in an order very different from that followed in English; as,

No ha venido para destruir, sino para edificar.	It is not to destroy that he has come, but to build up.
Bien veo que . . .	I see (very) well that . . .
Si tuviese V. que hacer una contrata.	If you had an agreement to make.
(If you had to make an agreement would, of course, also be an allowable construction in English.)
No tenia razon aquel filósofo que decia que . . .	That philosopher who said that . . . was wrong.
Toca remunerar los servicios al que los recibió.	It is for him who received the services to reward them.
Entre los Griegos, los que . . .	Those amongst the Greeks, who . . .
Él que mas hablaba.	He who spoke the most.
Cien veces mas quisiera yo que . . .	I would prefer a thousand times that . . .
Solo Dios es inmutable.	God alone is unchanging.

Nouns.

13. There is a striking difference to be observed in the use of nouns in the two languages; we sometimes meet nouns in the singular in English, while in Spanish they are used in the plural only, and vice-versâ:

Plural.	Singular.
Mirar con malos ojos .	To look with evil eye .
Puso los ojos en mí.	He set his eye on me.
Dar oidos á . . .	To give ear to . . .
Prestar oidos .	To lend an ear .
De piés á cabeza.	From head to foot .
Por todas partes .	In every direction .
Juego de manos .	Sleight of hand .
Se presentó con los ojos en el suelo.	He came forward with downcast eye .
Singular.	Plural.
A pié descalzo.	With bare feet (or in (his) bare feet )
Estar en pié .	To stand on (one's) feet .
A remo y vela .	With oars and sails .
En toda suerte de negocios.	In all sorts (or kinds) of business.
No son dueños de sí .	They are not masters of themselves .

One Part of Speech for Another.

14. It is not uncommon, in comparing English and Spanish composition, to see adjectives translated by substantives, adverbs by substantives, substantives by verbs, and vice-versâ. Sometimes, in translating, difficulties, appearing at first sight almost insurmountable, are overcome by the simple substitution of one part of speech for another.

Adjectives for Substantives.

Pica de guapo (or presumido de guapo).	He piques himself on his bravery .
Es acusado de impío .	He is accused of impiety .
Se pone furioso .	He gets into a fury .

Substantives for Adverbs, and vice-versâ.

Aunque idólatras de origen .	Although originally idolaters.
Come excesivamente .	He eats to excess .
Tuvo la dicha de salvarse.	Happily for him he escaped.
Por desgracia nada oyeron.	Unfortunately they heard nothing.

Substantives for Verbs, and vice-versâ.

Habló lo mejor que pudo .	He spoke to the best of his ability .
Debe probar su dicho .	He must prove what he says .
Como acostumbra .	According to his custom .
Después de almorzar .	After breakfast .
Antes de comer .	Before dinner .

Verbs for Pronouns.

Hay historiadores que aseguran que . . .	Some historians assure us that . . .
---	---

Of Verbs in General.

15. We very often find verbs active with the indefinite se, and sometimes the passive verb with the particle se, used in Spanish to express the same idea conveyed in English by passive, and sometimes also by active verbs; one tense translated by another different tense, one number substituted in the place of another, one person for other persons, and at times even the same person translated by any or all the others, according to the sense desired to be conveyed.

Passive in English.

El concilio se celebraba en Pisa.	The council was held at Pisa.
El libro que se le atribuye .	The book which is attributed to him.
Esto se encierra en la proposicion.	That is contained in the proposition.
Esto debe contarse por nada.	This is to be counted for nothing.
Quando se les ruega que respondan.	When they are requested to answer.

Active in English.

Viene á juntarse con su familia.	He comes to join his family.
Se casó con la duquesa.	He married the duchess.
Se hicieron á la vela.	They set sail.

The Indicative or Subjunctive for the Infinitive.

Le mandó que callase .	He ordered him to hold his tongue (or to be silent).
Es reputado por hombre que nada posee .	He is supposed to possess nothing.
Espero me responda V.	I expect you to answer me.

One Tense for Another.

¿Te habré yo dado un derecho que no tengo?	Have I then given thee a right which I do not possess myself?
¿Porqué solo los hombres habrán de degenerar?	Why must mankind alone degenerate?
Cuanto mas hagan , ménos ganarán.	The more they do , the less they will gain.
Que un muerto resuscite , no es cosa comun.	It is no common thing for a dead (man) to resuscitate .

One Number for Another in Verbs.

Son las seis.	It is six o'clock.
No le quedan mas que tres hijos.	He has only three children left.

One Person for Another.

Nosotros somos los bárbaros.	It is we that are barbarians.
Si hubiesen sido ellos los vituperados.	If it had been they that they had blamed.

Mode of Asking Questions and forming Negations with Verbs.

16. The auxiliary do, used in English in asking questions, whether negatively or positively, is to be lost sight of in translating into Spanish, inasmuch as the simple form of the verb contains all that is required for that purpose, as may be seen in the following examples:

¿ Van Vds. algunas veces á la ópera?	Do you sometimes go to the opera?
¿ Sabia V. que debíamos venir tan temprano?	Did you know that we were to come so early?
No creía que debiesen Vds. venir hasta las tres.	I did not think you were to come until three o'clock.

17. Nor is it to be translated into Spanish when it stands in the English sentence merely for the purpose of giving more emphasis to the expression; as,

Yo creía que no iban nunca al teatro.	I thought they never went to the theatre.
Sí, señor, van á menudo.	Yes, sir, they do go often.

18. It sometimes takes the place of a verb, to avoid the repetition of the latter; in all such cases it is to be rendered into Spanish by a simple particle (positive or negative, as required by the sense), or else the verb expressing the action must itself be repeated; as,

¿Escribe V. todos los meses á su tío?	Do you write to your uncle every month?
Sí, señor ( or le escribo todos los meses ).	Yes, sir, I do .

19. To what has already been remarked relative to conjugations, we have but a few words to add, respecting a limited number of verbs of the third conjugation. Those which have either of the letters ch, ll, or ñ, immediately preceding the termination, make their past participle in endo, instead of iendo; as, ciñendo, mullendo, riñendo, hinchendo, bruñendo, gruñendo, tañendo, instead of ciñiendo, mulliendo, riñiendo, hinchiendo, bruñiendo, gruñiendo, tañiendo.

For the same reason the i is also suppressed in the third persons singular and plural of the preterit definite of the indicative, and in all the persons of the second and third terminations of the imperfect subjunctive, and of the future of the same mood; as, ciñó, mulló, riñeron, hinchera, bruñese, gruñere, instead of ciñió, mullió, riñieron, hinchiera, bruñiese, gruñiere.

There is but one exception allowable to this rule, and that occurs in the verb henchir, which generally retains the i in the third person singular preterit definite of the indicative, making it hinchió, in order to avoid confounding it with hinchó, same person and tense of hinchar, a regular verb of the first conjugation.

The reason of the suppression of the i in the cases pointed out above is obvious, inasmuch as the letters ch, ll, or ñ, when forming a syllable with e, cannot be sounded without the concurrence of the i element to a certain extent. If, therefore, the i were retained in those combinations, a forced and disagreeable sound would be the result,

20. There are in English certain verbs of very frequent occurrence, and whose signification, if not determined by some other part of speech, it would often be difficult to explain. Amongst this class, the verb to get plays a very important, if not the most important part, and English persons are sometimes at as great a loss to know how exactly to translate it into a foreign language, as foreigners are to know how and when to use it idiomatically in English. This verb (to get) has no exact equivalent in Spanish, but there are in that language many verbs of something of a like nature, and by which it may at times be correctly rendered, according to the signification in which it is used. We venture to say that, in the most knotty cases, a little thought, a moment's reflection would go far in removing all difficulty.

Before making some uncouth makeshift of a translation, pause a moment, and look what is the real meaning of to get in the case before you; then see what other verb would serve in its place, or what other form of expression you can substitute for the one proposed to be translated. This you will soon discover, for perhaps in no language can an instance be found of the impossibility to express the same idea in more than one way. For instance, let it be required to translate into Spanish, To GET IN by the window; here is a difficulty just as great as any other case where the verb to get can be used.

Let us now see how else we can express that idea: To GO IN, or to come in by the window; that is to say, we have to convey the idea of motion into. This same idea is to be expressed thus: To ENTER by the window=ENTRAR por la ventana; ENTRAR then is the standard and usual verb expressive of motion into. Let us now change the preposition and reverse the sense, for the preposition in determines the signification of get in the case under consideration.

Required to translate: To GET OUT by the window; the same process as above gives us motion out; hence, SALIR por la ventana, SALIR being the standard and usual Spanish verb expressive of motion out.

This mode of reasoning will in all cases lead to the desired end. Let your object be to find some verb in English which alone will mean the same thing as get and its determining preposition together.

GET, used in connection with adjectives, is no more difficult to be disposed of than when accompanied by prepositions, and it may in general be turned into Spanish by one of the three verbs ponerse, hacerse, or volverse (according to the nature of the case), and an adjective corresponding to the English one determining get; as,

Hacerse rico.		To get rich.
Volverse or ponerse rojo.		To get red.
Ponerse furioso.		To get furious.

These ideas in Spanish may be expressed by single verbs derived from each of the adjectives respectively; as,

Enriquecerse.		To get rich.
Enrojecerse.		To get red ( i. e. , to redden).
Enfurecerse.		To get furious.

21. To GET, as an active verb, is usually translated into Spanish by any of these: conseguir, obtener, procurar, hacerse de, hacerse con, according to the sense; as,

Consiguió lo que deseaba.		He got what he wanted.
Obtendrán el privilegio.		They will get the patent.
¿Puede V. conseguirme or procurar- me un ejemplar de ese libro?		Can you get me a copy of that book?
Se hizo de un caballo para el viaje.		He got ( i. e. , bought) a horse for his journey.

22. As for to get, used redundantly (and incorrectly) with the verb to have, it disappears in the Spanish translation; as,

Tenemos uno.		We have got one.
--------------	--	-------------------------

23. The above remarks are equally applicable to all verbs of the class alluded to, as for instance to become; which latter, as well as to get, is often elegantly translated by llegar á ser; as,

Se hizo ciudadano de los Estados Unidos.		He became a citizen of the United States.
L'egó á ser hombre muy distinguido.		He became a very distinguished man.

SPANISH GRAMMARS.

Ollendorff's Spanish Grammar.

A New Method of Learning to Read, Write, and Speak the Spanish Language, with Practical Rules for Spanish Pronunciation, and Models of Social and Commercial Correspondence. By M. VE. LASQUEZ and T. T. SIMONNÉ. 12mo, 560 pages.

The admirable system introduced by Ollendorff is applied in this volume to the Spanish language. Having received, from the two distinguished editors to whom its supervision was intrusted, corrections, emendations, and additions, which specially adapt it to the youth of this country, it is believed to embrace every possible advantage for imparting a thorough and practical knowledge of Spanish. A course of systematic grammar underlies the whole; but its development is so gradual and inductive as not to weary the learner. Numerous examples of regular and irregular verbs are presented: and nothing that can expedite the pupil's progress, in the way of explanation and illustration, is omitted.

KEY to the Same. Separate volume.

Grammar of the Spanish Language:

With a History of the Language and Practical Exercises. By M. SCHELE DE VERE. 12mo, 273 pages.

In this volume are embodied the results of many years' experience on the part of the author, as Professor of Spanish in the University of Virginia. It aims to impart a critical knowledge of the language by a systematic course of grammar, illustrated with appropriate exercises. The author has availed himself of the labors of recent grammarians and critics; and, by condensing his rules and principles and rejecting a burdensome superfluity of detail, he has brought the whole within comparatively small compass. By pursuing this simple course, the language may be easily and quickly mastered, not only for conversational purposes, but for reading it fluently, and writing it with elegance.

Elementary Spanish Reader :

By M. F. TOLON. 12mo, 156 pages.

This is one of the best Elementary Spanish Readers, not only for the purposes of self-instruction, but also as a class-book for schools, that has ever been published. A full Vocabulary of all the words employed is appended, rendering a large dictionary unnecessary.

Progressive Spanish Reader :

With an Analytical Study of the Spanish Language. By AUGUSTIN JOSÉ MORALES, A. M., Prof. of the Spanish Language and Literature in the College of the City of New York. 12mo, 336 pages.

The prose extracts in this volume are preceded by an historical account of the origin and progress of the Spanish Language, and a condensed, scholarlike treatise on its grammar ; the poetical selections are introduced with an Essay on Spanish versification. Prepared in either case by the preliminary matter thus furnished, bearing directly on his work, the pupil enters intelligently on his task of translating. The extracts are brief, spirited, and entertaining ; drawn mainly from writers of the present day, they are a faithful representation of the language as it is now written and spoken. The arrangement is progressive, specimens of a more difficult character being presented as the student becomes able to cope with them.

New Spanish Reader :

Consisting of Extracts from the Works of the Most Approved Authors in Prose and Verse, arranged in Progressive Order ; with Notes explanatory of the Idioms and Most Difficult Constructions, and a Copious Vocabulary. By M. VELAZQUEZ DE LA CADENA. 12mo, 351 pages.

This book, being particularly intended for the use of beginners, has been prepared with three objects in view : First, to furnish the learner with pleasing and easy lessons, progressively developing the beauties and difficulties of the Spanish language ; secondly, to enrich their minds with valuable knowledge ; and thirdly, to form their character, by instilling correct principles into their hearts. In order, therefore, to obtain the desired effects, the extracts have been carefully selected from those classic Spanish writers, both ancient and modern, whose style is generally admitted to be a pattern of elegance, combined with idiomatic purity and sound morality.

Grammar for Teaching English to Spaniards.

Gramatica Inglesa :

Un Método para Aprender á Leer, Escribir, y Hablar el Inglés, segun el Sistema de Ollendorff. Acompañado de un Apéndice que comprende en Compendio las Reglas contenidas en el Cuerpo Principal de la Obra ; un Tratado sobre la Pronunciacion, Division y Formacion de las Palabras Inglesas ; una Lista de los Verbos Regulares é Irregulares, con sus Conjugaciones y las Distintas Preposiciones que rigen ; Modelos de Correspondencia, etc., todo al Alcance de la Capacidad mas Mediana. Por RAMON PALENZUELA y JUAN DE LA C. CARREÑO. 12mo, 457 pages.

Key to Exercises. Separate volume.

Spaniards desirous of learning English will find in this volume all that is needed for its speedy and thorough acquisition. The system adopted is clear, simple, philosophical, and practical.

Grammar for Teaching French to Spaniards.

Gramatica Francesa :

Un Método para Aprender á Leer, Escribir, y Hablar el Frances, segun el Verdadero Sistema de Ollendorff. Ordenado en Lecciones Progresivas, consistiendo de Ejercicios Orales y Escritos ; enriquecido de la Pronunciacion Figurado como se Estila en la Conversacion ; y de un Apéndice, abrazando las Reglas de la Sintaxis, la Formacion de los Verbos Regulares, y la Conjugacion de los Irregulares. Por TEODORO SIMONNE. 12mo, 341 pages.

Key to Exercises. Separate volume.

M. Simonné has done a good work in bringing the French language within the reach of Spaniards by this application of the Ollendorff system. A few weeks' study of his "Gramática Francesa" will impart a knowledge of the more common conversational idioms, and a thorough mastery of it will insure as perfect an acquaintance with French as can be desired. With the aid of the KEY the study can be pursued without a master ; for the illustrative exercises at once show whether the grammatical rules and principles successively laid down are properly understood.

The Spanish Teacher and Colloquial Phrase-Book.

An Easy and Agreeable Method of Acquiring a Speaking Knowledge of the Spanish Language. By Professor BUTLER. 18mo, 293 pages.

The object of the author is to make the Spanish language a living, speaking tongue to the learner; and the method he adopts is that of nature. He begins with the simplest elements, and progressively advances, applying all former acquisitions as he proceeds, until the learner has mastered one of the most perfect languages of modern times.

From the New York Journal of Commerce.

"This is a good book, and well fitted for the purposes for which it is designed. The Spanish language is one of great simplicity, and more easily acquired than any other modern tongue. For a beginner, we recommend this little book, which is small and designed to be carried in the pocket."

An Easy Introduction to Spanish Conversation.

By MARIANO VELAZQUEZ DE LA CADENA. 18mo, 100 pages.

This little work contains all that is necessary for making rapid progress in Spanish conversation. It is well adapted for schools, and for persons who have little time to study or are their own instructors.

Spanish Grammar.

Being a New, Practical, and Easy Method of Learning the Spanish Language; after the System of A. F. AHN, Doctor of Philosophy, and Professor at the College of Neuss. First American Edition, revised and enlarged. 12mo, 149 pages.

Prof. Ahn's method is one of peculiar excellence, and has met with great success. It has been happily described in his own words: "Learn a foreign language as you learned your mother tongue"—in the same simple manner, and with the same natural gradations. This method of the distinguished German Doctor has been applied in the present instance to the Spanish Language, upon the basis of the excellent Grammars of Lespada and Martinez, and it is hoped that its simplicity and utility will procure for it the favor that its German, French, and Italian prototypes have already found in the Schools and Colleges of Europe.

Seoane, Neuman, and Baretti's Spanish- and-English and English-and-Spanish Pronouncing Dictionary.

By MARIANO VELAZQUEZ DE LA CADENA, Professor of the Spanish Language and Literature in Columbia College, N. Y., and Corresponding Member of the National Institute, Washington. Large 8vo, 1,300 pages. Neat type, fine paper, and strong binding.

The pronunciation of the Castilian language is so clearly set forth in this Dictionary as to render it well-nigh impossible for any person, who can read English readily, to fail of obtaining the true sounds of the Spanish words at sight.

In the revision of the work, more than eight thousand words, idioms, and familiar phrases, have been added.

It gives in both languages the exact equivalents of the words in general use, both in their literal and metaphorical acceptations.

Also, the technical terms most frequently used in the arts, in chemistry, botany, medicine, and natural history, as well as nautical and mercantile terms and phrases—most of which are not found in other Dictionaries.

Also many Spanish words used only in American countries which were formerly dependencies of Spain.

The names of many important articles of commerce, gleaned from the price currents of Spanish and South American cities, are inserted for the benefit of the merchant, who will here find all that he needs for carrying on a business correspondence.

The parts of the irregular verbs in Spanish and English are here, for the first time, given in full, in their alphabetical order.

The work likewise contains a grammatical synopsis of both languages, arranged for ready and convenient reference.

The new and improved orthography sanctioned by the latest edition of the Dictionary of the Academy—now universally adopted by the press—is here given for the first time in a Spanish-English Dictionary.
